

GAS LOBBY SHOWS TEETH IN SENATE

The Interests Affected Have Headquarters in New York City.

(Palladium Special)

Indianapolis, Feb. 16.—The corporation lobby is showing its teeth in the senate. Members of that body who have dared to vote their convictions upon bills which the lobby did not like have been warned their bills will all be killed, unless they reversed their attitude upon certain measures. The screws were turned several notches Wednesday, after the senate had by a bare constitutional majority passed Senator White's bill regulating the franchises of gas and lighting companies. The passage of the bill was the last work done by the senate Tuesday, and early Wednesday the lobby was on the floor of the senate. Carl Wood and Henry Marshall did most of the lobbying. The interests affected have their headquarters in New York City and they own and operate a string of gas and lighting plants in Indiana.

The White bill applies to fifth class cities and provides that where in such cities the gas or lighting companies have a perpetual franchise that is unrestricted as to rates and services the local authorities may amend the franchise by fixing a time for its expiration and also by fixing a maximum rate. The bill protects the companies by giving them the right to go into court and contest the reasonableness of the restrictions imposed upon them. Several members of the senate who voted for the bill were approached and asked to move for its reconsideration. All refused, and some of them were threatened with the defeat of all bills in which they were personally interested unless they changed front. Senator Hauk who fought the bill in its passage, also took an active part in trying to get the bill reconsidered, although he made no threats against the bills of any senator.

The lobby has also taken to heart the passage of the Grube referendum bill and "pet" measures of members who voted for it have been marked for slaughter. The word has gone out among the close corporation crowd that the "evening up" process must begin and some of the independent thinking senators must be disciplined. This feeling was partially accountable for the bitterness that entered into the opposition to Shively's recall bill. Senator Carleton's seventy-five cent gas bill for Evansville is out of the running because of his attitude against the corporation clique, an Senator Gavitt's Hammond court bill has been given the "kibosh" by the inner circle because of his voting for the Grube referendum and because of his support of the White gas bill. Other senators have been given a "hunch" that they need not apply for assistance in getting their bills through.

There may be a sequel to the story however, for some of the senators under the corporation ban are getting "peevish" and they may make some pointed and personal observations on the floor of the senate calculated to give the corporation lobby an uncomfortable feeling and make them less prominent in the legislative halls.

UNITED STATES TO HAVE FIRST PLACE

Says South American Diplomat at the Pan American Trade Conference.

Washington, February 16.—Enthusiasm of the delegates to the Pan-American Commercial Conference was aroused Wednesday by the reading of a letter from Senator Don Francisco Borda, Minister to the United States from Colombia, in which he said the United States by the completion of the Panama Canal would become the "mistress of the strategic of the center of the world and the foremost nation of the globe."

Senator Borda was present while his letter was read, but made no speech. Many practical suggestions were offered by a score of speakers during the day's session of the conference. The merchants were advised to discontinue sending Spanish catalogues to Brazil, where Portuguese is spoken; to send only able salesmen to South American points, and above all to pack their goods well.

Just before adjournment the conference sent a message of congratulation to Senator Root, of New York, on attaining his sixty-sixth birthday, and expressed its gratitude for Mr. Root's work on behalf of Pan-American unity. Free tolls for American ships passing through the Panama Canal, or if necessary a rate low enough to give American vessels a distinct advantage over foreign craft were pointed out in speeches as of great moment to the future of trade between North and South America.

The special relationship of the Panama Canal to the commerce of the world was the chief topic scheduled for discussion at the session of the Pan-American Commercial Conference. Description of the Pan-American field was continued, Brazil, Paraguay and Uruguay, which were not taken up in Tuesday's program, remaining for Wednesday.

Among those who spoke were Charles M. Pepper, trade expert of the Bureau of Trade Relations; Bernard Baker of Baltimore; Wilbur J. Carr, Director of the Consular Service; F. W. Goding, United States Consul at Montevideo, Uruguay, and Francis B. Loomer, formerly Assistant Secretary of State.

"I've Made 43 Millionaires" Andrew Carnegie Remarks

New York, Feb. 16.—The young women employed by the Leslie-Judge company listened to a short talk by Andrew Carnegie. Mr. Carnegie visited the offices to thank John A. Schleicher for the support which he had given to the peace movement.

Concerning any eligible millionaires who might come around with matrimonial intentions, Mr. Carnegie said: "Don't refuse a man simply because he is a millionaire. But I would rather be born poor than a millionaire, and I have had some experience in both directions. I have made forty-two or forty-three millionaires in my time, but I want to say that the only right a man has to wealth lies in his acquiring it by some useful labor."

The great trouble with the wealth of today is that the sons of millionaires do not realize this very great necessity of being useful to the community. Contrasting toil with the advantage of being born rich, Mr. Carnegie said: "The wives of most millionaires are not happy. They have too many luxuries and have no mental resources to fall back upon. Some of my partners have been unjustly criticized for what was not their fault, but the fault of their wives."

Mr. Carnegie then told the young women that he was very glad to see them so happy in their work. "Work that one is not glad to do," he asserted, "never amounts to anything. Smile all the time."

"I like to think of a story that was told me by Mr. Schwab. It was while they were having a little trouble down at Homestead, and the boys had ducked an old German in the river because he wouldn't leave the pumps. His name was Hans. Mr. Schwab met him, wet, bedraggled and looking the picture of distress."

"Mr. Schwab asked what was the matter. 'Oh, I got thrown in the river,' was the response. 'And what did you do?' 'I just laughed,' he replied. 'So when you are in danger of losing your temper just think of that old Dutchman and smile.'"

Recalling the struggles of his early youth, the ironmaster said that he would never forget how proud he was when he received his first wages—$1.25 for a week's work. "Nor will I forget," he added, "how I felt when I was raised to $1.50. To be able to take that sum home to my mother gave me such a feeling of manly independence."

I owe a great deal to my mother. She was a seamstress, cook, washlady, and never until late in life was there a servant in the house. And yet she was a cultivated woman. She read Channing and kept up with the literature of the day. When I was a little tot she used to read good books to me."

"You young women have here every opportunity for literary culture and you ought to avail yourselves of it. You ought to be very proud with money earned so honorably, for money that is not earned honorably will never do you any good."

Stops a Cough in Five Minutes by the Clock.

Does This Harmless Home-Made Cough Syrup.

MAKE A PINT CHEAP

Here is told how to make a home-made pint of cough syrup cheaply, which has been known to stop a cough in five minutes by the clock. It relieves quickly and certainly brings about a cure by its tonic laxative action and therefore is superior to ordinary preparations, which only relieve, and then aggravate by their stimulating effects.

One dose is not laxative, but 8 to 10 doses daily create a mild laxative action and it is said that you can feel the medicine working on the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes, giving a grand feeling of freshness and strength to the entire system.

Anyone can make a full pint very cheaply. Obtain of your druggist or have him order from the wholesale house, a 2½ ounce package of essence mentho-laxene. Empty it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with a home-made syrup composed of one pint of granulated sugar and a half pint of boiling water. When the syrup is cool add it to the mentho-laxene.

The dose is a teaspoonful 8 to 10 times daily or as required. Give children less according to age. It is perfectly harmless.

This is a pleasant tasting and quick acting remedy, liked by all who have tried it.
