

THE SOCIAL WHIRL

Edited by Miss Elizabeth R. Thomas

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED.

At a dinner party given yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Webster Parry, 210 North Ninth street, the marriage of Mr. Maurice White and Miss Katherine Gift was announced. The announcement was a complete surprise. The wedding was celebrated one year ago yesterday, March the twelfth, nineteen hundred and ten at 135 Greenup street, Covington, Kentucky. The Rev. Carlyle performed the ceremony. The bride has established a precedent for women, as it has always been understood that women are unable to keep a secret and so the bride should be doubly congratulated.

The dinner table was beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns. The colors, pink and white, with the fernery added to the attractiveness of the table appointments. Dinner in five courses was served. The guests included the members of the Gift and White families with a few intimate friends of the young people. Mr. White is well known in business circles as he is employed in the department of engineers of the Pennsylvania railroad. The bride is well known in business, social and musical circles of the city and is a most charming and accomplished young woman. Their many friends will be glad to extend congratulations.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

What a blessing that St. Patrick's day comes during the Lenten season and thus one can take a day off and arrange for the charming party for this day. The shops are showing so many pretty novelties. In a window at one of the local shops is a miniature table beautifully appointed, appropriate to the day. The name cards and favors are very pretty, as well as the other embellishments. The hostess who selects this day for entertainment will surely have a number of attractive gifts to select from. The Flower Shop can be depended upon to arrange for beautiful table decorations and as the green is good, a number of pretty effects may be secured with the fernery. Floral adornments are always important at a dinner and adds much to the success of an affair of this kind.

Among the novelties for St. Patrick's day favors are shown green paper caps; fans cunningly decorated; mottoes in which are tissue paper caps which can be removed without spoiling the rose; pretty little green paper candy holders; a shamrock card with a verse. In the napery line there are tissue paper table sets decorated with shamrocks.

It is a comparatively easy matter to carry out the menu in St. Patrick's day effects. The caterer will supply new ideas for ices, cakes and confections.

OF INTEREST.

The following from the Washington letter to the Indianapolis Sunday Star is of interest: "Yes," said about the brightest and prettiest little widow who ever comes to Washington—she lives in New York, but she started life in Texas or Kentucky, or somewhere—yes, and she drew her lovely visage down into a look of penitential pensiveness. "I propose to keep Lent very strictly this year. I expect to live in ashes—cigarette ashes"—she demurely amended. That's the kind of Lent that's fashionable—a season smothered in cigarette ashes and poker chips. Bridge is passing, you know. One

You Want the Best? Then Make This at Home.

A splendid quick acting cough syrup and cold cure. It has no equal for prompt action and permanent effects on children or adults. Immediate results are the pleasing feature. Cheapness is another. Not constipating, still another. Those who have used it, swear by it, and recommend to neighbors and friends. Obtain a 2 1/2 oz. package of Eucalypti-Menthol-Laxene, empty it into a pint bottle. Then pour a half pint of boiling water over a pint of granulated sugar. Stir and cool. Then fill up the pint bottle with syrup. Full directions for use accompany each package of the essence.

PLEASANT SURPRISE.

Mrs. Mattie Helm of Indianapolis was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. White and family over Sunday. Despite the fact that a number of persons are observing the Lenten season, the chief diversion seems to be inspecting the new millinery. The streets these sunny days are crowded with women who are eager to see the latest creations. Already several hats have been seen on the streets. The new creations are so beautiful and lovely that femininity finds it a little hard to wait until the openings which will probably be held the latter part of the month. A number of persons will save their new bonnets and appear in them on Easter day. It has been predicted that choosing a hat

MILLINERY DISPLAYS.

What a clean blood means. They used to accuse Dr. A. B. Simpson, one of the famous physicians of Indiana, of having a cure-all because his great reputation was established largely on one prescription, the most effective alternative or blood-purifier known. "No," he would remark, "it will not cure consumption, nor typhoid, nor any one of a hundred common diseases. It simply purifies the blood, but it does that very thoroughly."

WHAT CLEAN BLOOD MEANS.

What are the symptoms of poisoned, impure blood? They range all the way from the dreadful syphilis to a mummy complexion. They include inflammatory rheumatism, catarrh, scrofula, eczema, erysipelas, pimples, boils, running sores, erysipelas, pimples, boils, and a number of similar afflictions. All these yielded readily to Dr. Simpson's treatment. And during the forty years this preparation has been on the market as Dr. A. B. Simpson's Vegetable Compound it has never failed in a single case. The very worst cases of syphilis have been cured as well as all the other blood diseases named above—and the same compound has always given clear, clean complexions to those, otherwise in good health.

It is sold at $1.00 a bottle at all drug stores.

Queer Coronation Gifts.

One of the most extraordinary gifts made on the coronation day of Edward I. was that of 500 horses which had been used by the royal princes and other personages in the procession to Westminster abbey. These horses, all richly caparisoned and harnessed just as they were, were let loose into the very midst of the mob after the banquet in Westminster hall that always succeeded a coronation in those days. The people in the streets were permitted to catch the animals, and to him who caught a horse it and its appointments belonged.—London Chronicle.

FADS AND FASHIONS

Some of the new silks are wonderful and the border designs are exceedingly rich and beautiful. The colors are weirdly unlike the ordinary, familiar reds, blues, browns and greens, but as ribbons and trimmings designed to match them by the kind forethought of the manufacturers, nobody will be put to any trouble. The pinks have a luscious, fruity suggestion, inclining to purple. The purples, on the contrary, incline to blue, the blues to gray. The brown shades are most wonderful of all, and range from palest biscuit and corn to a rich nut brown. Green is a particularly chic color, but it is too strong for a full costume, and its use will be confined chiefly to trimmings and to hats.

Broad toques of dark blue etamine straw, minutely dotted with white, gracefully draped and finished with a full white or dark blue aigrette, are among the up-to-date millinery novelties. Soft, supple straws woven to imitate knitted wool, either plain or more often striped, are extremely popular. Straw nowadays is as supple as silk or mousseline, and a curiously soft canvas straw is folded, plaited or draped as easily and as gracefully as a silk handkerchief. These supple straws, in lizard green, cerise, crimson and dark blue are draped up from the forehead in rajah or indian style, the small point above the brow ornamented and inset with a triangular piece of oriental or vividly colored embroidery picked out with gold and silver threads.

Cherry-colored velvet, cherry-colored stings and cherry-colored feathers, employed with all black or black and white striped hats, are a feature in the novel headgear, inasmuch as the pretty tint conveys an impression of warmth upon a cold day that white feathers and aigrettes certainly do not impart.

Black and white striped straw is one of the novelties for early spring, the stripes being an inch or so wide and of coarse braid. Red is the favorite color for trimming these, and it is used in bands, rolls, knots and choux. All these hats are toque shaped, the straw being wound and draped, always, however, keeping the lines of the stripes.

Fur, used as it has been on the winter hats in wide encircling bands, has been found so becoming that women are loath to part with it and it is quite probable that fur will continue to be used to some extent on hats for early spring wear.

Steel-studded hair ornaments are much affected this winter by both old and young women. They are particularly effective in dark or in gray hair. Florence Fairbanks.

GALVESTON HAS A FIERCE RACE RIOT

Soldier Stabbed by Negro Results in a General Battle on Sunday.

Galveston, Tex., March 13.—A race riot was precipitated Sunday by the stabbing of Winifred Joel, a soldier from the camp at Ft. Crockett, by an unidentified negro in a resort. One Mexican and four negroes were severely beaten and the house in front of which the stabbing occurred was set on fire and burned to the ground. The entire police force of the city was called out to quell the disturbance.

Joel, who is a member of the One Hundred and Forty-fourth company, Coast Artillery, stationed at Ft. Moultrie, Charleston, S. C., lies at Zealand hospital with a deep knife wound in the chest just above the heart. He probably will recover. The policeman patrolling the beat was stabbed in the back by another soldier during the melee following the wound of Joel. He was not seriously hurt.

An invidious remark made by one of Joel's companions about the color of the occupants of the house where the trouble occurred is supposed to have caused the attack. Joel was about to open the door of the place, it is said, when some one leaped out of an adjacent window and stabbed him. Immediately a great crowd gathered, composed of soldiers and civilians of both races.

The soldiers and white civilians attacked every negro in sight and set fire to the house.

The solitary policeman who appeared and attempted to restore order likewise was set upon and wounded. The officer sent in a riot call and in a short time every available policeman in Galveston was there. The fire department had great difficulty in fighting the flames because of the crowd. In the meantime another house in the vicinity was set on fire but the firemen were able to extinguish the blaze without much difficulty.

Several lines of hose which were being played upon the fire were cut by the mob and the fire fighters had to abandon the house to the flames and content themselves with saving the buildings adjoining.

The soldier suspected of stabbing the policeman was arrested and charged with assault with intent to kill. He is Alfred Burkhalter, a private in the Fifteenth company from Ft. Barrancas, Florida.

Colonel Bailey, who is in command of the provisional regiment to which the soldiers are attached, is investigating the affair and a court martial probably will be ordered.

He Was Dangerous.

A story is told by a member of congress whenever his brother is present. That brother, now a prosperous merchant, was incontinent discharged from a position as bookkeeper in a wholesale grocery store in St. Louis. A curt note dismissing him, containing no reason for the discharge, was all that he received. Determined to have an explanation, he went to the private office of the merchant and asked: "Why did you fire me?"

"Because you were dangerous," said the merchant quietly. "You were loaded all the time."

That cured the young man completely. He hasn't been "loaded" since that day.—Washington Star.

MATHERS

Think of the Taste—not the Price—when you order coffee

Order the Blend—the Flavor that suits your taste. Don't say to your grocer: "Send me a pound of your best 30 cent coffee"—or something like that. That is not the way to get the coffee you like. The only way to buy coffee that tastes delicious to you is to select the Blend that is prepared to suit your particular taste.

After years of experiment, we, who are the oldest house of coffee experts in the world, have proved there are five great coffee tastes and we have put up five different Blends of Coffee to meet each of these five distinct tastes.

Below is a description of these five Blends and their flavors. The flavor you prefer may be our lowest priced Blend and may save you 10 to 20 cents on every pound of coffee you buy from now on—for remember, coffee prices are determined by Blend. The highest priced coffee suits only a certain proportion of tastes. Each of the Golden Sun Blends, from Karez to Mocha & Java, is uniformly Choice Coffee from plantations controlled by us so that next week's coffee will be precisely as good as this week's. The roasting and blending is done by experts of 25 years' experience. Every package of Golden Sun Coffee is air-tight, and hermetically sealed at the right moment after roasting, to keep for your table all the rich, natural oil—the finest of the coffee berry. Coffee kept in open bins or sold by irresponsible peddlers falls in richness, purity and strength and has a flat, stale flavor that falls far short of your coffee standard.

Try this new way—the only sensible, logical way of selecting your coffee and see if it does not prove the right method of giving you the kind of coffee you can call delicious. Find the Taste that suits you—far out the description and the package showing the name of the Blend. Give it to your grocer or telephone him. You will never order coffee in the old haphazard way again.

Here are the Five Great Blends—choose the one for your taste

Karez

Coffee of a keen, tangy, sparkling character.

Navarre

For those who want a piquant, high-flavored coffee.

Briardale

Produces the soft, mellow, velvety cup of coffee.

Vienna

Rich, savory and aromatic in flavor and bouquet.

Mocha & Java

That distinct brew produced only by most expert blending of these famous grades.
