

HOUSE NUMBERING TO BE REGULATED

Much Confusion on the West Side and Some Parts of the East End.

The ordinance committee and City Attorney A. M. Gardner, will construct an ordinance regulating the numbering of houses on the West Side. Complaint was made at council meeting last night that the numbering of houses on the West Side is in a confused condition, while some East Side streets, are a source of trouble to mail carriers, doctors and others who have frequent occasion to visit them.

On South Fourth, South Sixth and South Seventeenth streets, Councilman Kauffman reported, there are one or more pairs of similar numbers, which is very confusing. The Mayor told council about a year ago it was the duty of the police department to attend to keeping the numbers of houses accurate. However, last night, Gardner said it was usually done through the city engineer's department.

The city attorney looked up the number situation some time ago and found that an ordinance regulates the numbers on the east side of the river but not on the west side. The usual system was followed on the West Side although not very accurately. At Indianapolis the city puts up all numbers, an appropriation having been made for this purpose.

That Debris Ordinance.

The enforcement of the ordinance prohibiting throwing glass, tacks or nails on the streets or alleys of the city, was asked by a number of councilmen. In the East End several alleys are so littered with glass that before automobile owners run their machines over them the alleys have to be swept. Bad little boys, throwing rocks at bottles is said to be responsible for the glass.

President Hammond, of the board of works, made a report, showing that brick cross walks will be used in the future by the city instead of cement, as have been used in the past few years. Brick has been found more satisfactory. Other matters, suggested by council at its last meeting, Mr. Hammond said had been taken under advisement.

Councilman Williams said he thought the city hall should be improved with some paint and paper. Its condition, Mr. Williams thinks, is disgraceful. A new roof will be put on soon, and following that other repairs will probably be made, as all of the councilmen and city officials seemed to favor the motion.

Six thousand dollars was appropriated to buy stokers for the municipal light plant. In connection with this appropriation, which was ordered at a secret session of council last Friday night, Mr. Williams said he "didn't get to come to the session the other night," and he wanted to know if it would be all right for him to vote for it. He was informed by Mr. Hammond that it had been "framed-up" and it would be safer for him to vote on it.

England's Oldest Port.
Falmouth is probably the oldest port in England. It was used by the Phoenicians at least 2,500 years ago.

PANIC IN A CHURCH

When Anarchist Opens Fire on the Priests.

(American News Service)

Rome, April 4.—An unsuccessful attempt was made to assassinate priests at St. Peter's today during the celebration of midday mass. An Austrian workman, named Pesanti, supposed to be an anarchist, fired four shots at three officiating priests, causing a panic in the congregation. All the shots missed. Pesanti was arrested after a struggle with papal guards. Many persons were injured in the panic, including several Americans, who were slightly hurt.

SHE IS TAKEN TO FRIENDLESS HOME

Mrs. Sarah Hoover, living near Hagerstown who for the past ten years has been of unsound mind, was on Tuesday brought to the Home for the Friendless by Sheriff Steen. She will be admitted to Eastern Indiana hospital. The family has been attempting to provide for her, but recently her manifestations against their assistance and her attempts to run away led them to bring her here. She is about fifty-four years old.

SMALL FLUE FIRE

The fire department was called to the home of Dr. Sarah Morrow, 27 North Seventh street, about 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon to extinguish a small flue fire. No damage was done.

MEXICO SAFE PLACE

Lee Reynolds Says Revolt Is Exaggerated.

So long as Americans attend to their own business, Mexico, in the opinion of Representative Lee Reynolds of Hagerstown who with the Teeters and others possess large realty holdings near Tampico, Mexico, is as safe, if not a safer place, than many cities in the United States to live in. The Wayne county colony has found little evidence of revolutionary disorders in the community in which its holdings are located. Their farm and crops and Mexican employes have not been disturbed.

Much of the time when the disturbance in that country was more serious than it is at present, for peace deliberations are now under way between the warring factions. United States war vessels were anchored within shooting distance of Tampico. At one time one of the boats was within very close range, having anchored on the river. The only manifestation among the Mexicans in Tampico has been the organizations of mobs, but it never yet has taken the police more than twenty minutes to disperse the rioters. A policeman is stationed on every corner and the Hagerstown people have never had cause to fear for their own safety or the loss of their crops.

POOR CHORUS GIRLS SHY ON THE COIN

Four of the chorus girls of the New-ly Weds and Tehir Baby, which company will appear at the Gennett later in the month, were arrested at Peru for failure to pay their board bills. The four who have been on the road long enough to prove the old adage, "a rolling stone gathers no moss, but gets mighty slick," were released when the manager put in an appearance and settled for the sweet stuffs which they had consumed during the twenty-four hours they had been guests at the hotel.
