RICHMOND, INDIANA "PANIC PROOF CITY"

Has a population of 23,000 and is growing. It is the county seat of Wayne county and the trading center of a rich agricultural community. It is located due east from Indianapolis 45 miles and 4 miles from the state line.
Richmond is a city of homes and of industry. Primarily a manufacturing city, it is also the jobbing center of Eastern Indiana and enjoys the retail trade of the populous community for miles around.
Richmond is proud of its splendid streets, well kept yards, its cement sidewalks and beautiful shade trees. It has a city hall, banks, 3 trust companies and 4 building associations with combined resources of over $1,000,000.
Number of factories 124; capital invested $7,500,000; annual output of $27,000,000, and a pay roll of $3,700,000. The total pay roll for the city amounts to approximately $4,300,000 annually.

There are five railroad companies radiating in eight different directions from the city.
Daily freight handled daily, 1-750,000 lbs.; outgoing freight handled daily, 100,000 lbs.
Facilities, per day 1,700 cars.
Number of passenger trains daily 10. Number of freight trains daily 77. The annual post office receipts amount to $500,000.
Estimated valuation of the city, $11,000,000.

Richmond has two interurban railways. These railways with a combined circulation of 12,000.
Richmond is the greatest hardware jobbing center in the state and only second in general jobbing interests. It has a piano factory producing a high grade piano every 15 minutes. It is the leader in the manufacture of traction engines and produces more threshing machines, lawn mowers, roller skates, grain drills and burial caskets than any other city in the world.

The city's area is 2,440 acres and is a court house, city hall, 100 public schools and has the second most complete high school in the state. It has a cathedral, 3 parochial schools, Baptist college and the Indiana Business College. It has a splendid fire company, a fine house, a city park, the largest and most beautiful in Indiana, the home of Richmond's annual exposition; seven hotels; municipal electric light plant, under successful operation and a private electric light plant, insuring competition; the oldest public library in the state, except one and the second largest; 10,000 volumes; pure, refreshing water, unimpaired; 40 miles of improved streets; 40 miles of sewerage; 30 miles of cement curb and gutter combined; 40 miles of brick walks, and many miles of brick pavement. Thirty churches, including the Field Memorial, built at a cost of $250,000; Field Memorial Hospital, one of the most modern in the state; Y. M. C. A. building, erected at a cost of $100,000, one of the finest in the state. The amusement center of Eastern Indiana and Western Ohio.
No city of the size of Richmond holds so fine an annual exposition. The Richmond Fall Festival held each year, is the largest of its kind in the state. No other city holds a similar exposition. It is given in the interest of the city and finances of the business men.
Success awaits anyone with enterprise in the "Panic Proof City."

This Is My 48th Birthday

ROBERT J. ALEY.

Dr. Robert J. Aley, the new president of the University of Maine, was born in Coal City, Indiana, May 11, 1863, and was educated at Valparaiso college and Indiana university. After leaving the university he began his career as a teacher in the public schools of his native town. From 1888 to 1891 he was professor of mathematics at Indiana university. He was on the faculty of Leland Stanford Junior university from 1894 to 1895 and then became editor of a prominent educational publication. In 1898 he was elected State Superintendent of Public Instruction of Indiana and continued in that position until chosen head of the University of Maine last September.
Dr. Aley is regarded as one of the foremost American authorities on geometry, algebra and mathematics in general. He has been a voluminous writer on mathematical topics in professional periodicals and has been honored with membership in the American Mathematical society and the kindred organizations of England, Scotland and Germany.

They Know--

"While some declared themselves to be 'born bad,' 'naturally bad,' 'always immoral,' others were victims of conditions and circumstances for which they were less responsible than their families, their employers or the community. In a large proportion of cases home conditions contributed to, if they did not cause the downfall of daughters and wives. Intemperate vicious parents, or brothers and sisters; deserted, separated, and divorced fathers and mothers; home; that forced upon the children, rather than protected them from immorality, marriages that were sales into vice; childhood left to grow wild, without religious training or any instruction to develop the instinct of self-preservation—these are some of the domestic conditions from which the cries of lost lives pierce the heart.
—Graham Taylor of the Chicago Vice Commission, in the Survey.

Mr. Graham Taylor is not a mere crier out about things of which he knows not. His knowledge comes from accurate information extending over months of careful research. He speaks of the city of Chicago.

But what he says applies to every city in the country.
It applies to Richmond.

The doctors of this town could, if they would, tell a story that would make the everyday citizen shudder. The police can tell another part of the story. But enough of the story is apparent on the streets of Richmond.

It was only the other day that there passed down the street a crowd of four or five pretty girls on their way home from school. They were dressed with the best that could be bought. In this day of the high cost of living one wondered how the fathers and mothers could make the sacrifice—and what the sacrifice was. The love that was so displayed by their parents might have been more wisely exercised if some of the flam-boyancy had been tempered in the clothes. For the extravagance that was displayed in the clothes may some day have to be paid for with unhappiness.

It is becoming harder for young men to marry. The young girl who does not know anything but clothes is not apt to be the one that can hold his affection and companionship during a lifetime. More than that the girl who has little knowledge of economy; who cares for nothing but dress; who has acquired the gadding habit, is the one who presents an obstacle against marriage and happiness of a lasting sort.

This obstacle is at least one of the things which make it far more attractive for young fellows in a town like Richmond to congregate in front of a hotel and cigar stand and endeavor to pick up girls.

There are two general classifications into which most of these things fall. The simple wildness of the untamed human animal and the viciousness of precocious childhood with half-knowledge gained from the most vulgar sources. If the thing were put up man to man or woman to woman by real men and real women with no attempt at goody-goody or holier-than-thou talk—it would be very different. All of the young girls and boys in Richmond come from good stuff—they are no hell's-spawn of tenements. They are lively and attractive—full of the restlessness of youth. Not many men or women but can find in this situation something in their own past that they have learned could be passed on in a straightforward out-and-out manner tempered with love and gentleness which would help—

What Graham Taylor calls "lack of sex physiology and hygiene" has caused a great deal more unhappiness and actual crime—not to say actual sin in this world than any other one thing.

The civil war denuded the country of some of the best that it had in it and left many and many a wreck. The craving for liquor and patent medicines was doubled many times over. The growing commercialism —the whirlwind change of economic and social conditions—the great fortunes and the extreme poverty—the thirst for amusement and the craving to appear better than the neighbor—all these have played their part.

Already political and economic—business conditions—the fight between what is called labor and capital—or what is really the fight against greed—have brought up the question "Is America going to smash?" Nobody likes to think that it is. But when a people commences to show the symptoms of degeneration such as preceded the decay of the French and all the nations that have gone before, it is about time to divorce this thing of privacy and to take a public accounting.

In introducing this question in Richmond it is not in the sense of slurring manhood and womanhood. We have all of us noticed that things are already improving—just because people have been talking it over among themselves. There is a lot of help that comes by getting a thing talked over and sifted out in the good talk that is ready where people get together.

There are several things which practically every man and woman worthy of the name will agree to. It is not a particularly good thing for girls to run the streets by themselves at the mercy of their own half-knowledge. Neither is it a good thing for boys to get the idea that older people think it the sort of thing that will get a boy a good job if he shows prowess in various forms of "wild oats." Both of these things have healthy and natural outlets and reasons for their being. Why not use them? Any boy can understand what it means to go in training for an athletic event—and the fight for existence is getting pretty strenuous.
The best thing that could happen to this town is for some popular crowd of young fellows to set the pace.

We venture to say that if any one of the groups of young Richmond fellows would call up the head of one of the six largest businesses here—men who have made good and who are known all over the world, men who have seen their America and the whole battle of hard knocks and tell him that they would like to have an appointment to talk brass tacks about not only this thing, but also about making good that they could have more time than the man spends for recreation—if they wanted it.

While we have not heard from all these men directly, that is the sentiment of the men who are setting the pace here for business acumen and success. They have all been through the mill. Likewise if the young fellows went to the six most prominent doctors in this town they would find any one of them ready to advise them—without cost—to talk things over in a way in which they had not thought of it. If they went to an insurance agent and put it up to him—well, insurance agents are pretty wise on matters of living long and comfortably. Bartenders will tell you if they know that you are on the square and not flourishing whole pages of human life that will lead you to believe that common sense and common decency has respect in their eyes. They all know.

Ask your father—he is a mighty good friend of yours.
If you are a girl—ask your mother or some woman who looks young at forty. They know.

Heart to Heart Talks.

THE DRUNKARD.

There he goes—A hideous thing, and in the shape of a man.

His soiled clothes speak of the place where he has fallen and wallowed. A staggering gait, a bruised face, glazed eyes and a slaving mouth—it is not a pretty picture.

Anon he tries to save the shreds of his personal dignity by a preposterous effort to stand erect, and anon he relaxes his face into the smear of a stupid smile.

Poor, reeling sot!
His body reels and his mind reels.
Both have lost their equilibrium.

The boys of the street taunt him and throw things at him, and he reels back at them in his drunken rage.

He says he is going home.

Home—home to the wife who trembles at his coming; home to his children who flee in fear of him!

Can there be a more horrid spectacle than this one—a man in ruins?

And yet—Grown men and women find in this exhibition of a man, lowered to a plane that is lower than that of a brute, something funny.

They nudge one another and smile at the pathetic trials of the poor drunkard to keep his feet. They laugh as if the liquor crazed creature were a chartered clown posturing for their special amusement.

Surely it is a dull imagination that can find aught in such a display save pity.

If to your child such a scene appears to be amusing disabuse his mind.

Tell him the truth.

Tell him this dipsomaniac is suffering from a terrible disease and needs a physician. Tell him that instead of jeers and laughter the unfortunate inebriate needs care and medical treatment.

Think of it!
Is a sick man, staggering and weak and fevered, a figure to provoke laughter?

Said the Christian commander of the Texas at the battle of Santiago:

"Don't cheer, boys. The poor devils are dying."

So the same fine spirit of chivalry should say to the unthinking:
"Don't laugh at the poor devil. He is going home to make miserable the lives of those who love him."

Happy, Happy, Use TIZ

A Marvel For Sore Feet. Acts Right Off.

Sore Feet? Never After Using TIZ—Good-bye sore feet, aching feet, swollen feet, sweaty feet, smelling feet, tired feet.

Good-bye corns, callouses and bunions and raw spots.

You've never tried anything like TIZ before for your feet. It is different from anything ever before sold.

It acts at once and makes the feet feel remarkably fresh and sore-proof.
TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot "remedies" clog up the pores.
TIZ draws out all poisonous exudations which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does.
TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet—your feet.

You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain, and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and callouses. You'll feel like a new person.

If you don't find all this true after trying a box of TIZ, you can get your money right back.

TIZ is for sale at all druggists at 25 cents per box, or it will be sent you direct if you wish from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Dodge Bldg.,

Funeral Directors Exhibit Hobbles at Session.

Kansas City, Mo., May 11.—Hobble skirted gowns to be buried in are on exhibition at the Coates House this week, at the convention of the Missouri Funeral Directors' association. The fashions in ready-made shrouds keep pace with the fashions on petticoat lane, and now one may be buried in the finest of frocks without depleting a wardrobe, which may go to an appreciative friend.

Frocks of silk and tailored suits of broad-cloth, as well as more simple things in challies, are shown in the latest styles, in long individual boxes in the showrooms of the agents, who come to attend the convention.

The men are not neglected, for in frock coat or in full dress, even if a poor soul never owned but one scrag-gled suit of tweed, he who pays must be buried along with all the rest of the glory of metal casket and carriages for all his friends and friends' friends.

A YELLOW STREAK.

Have you got a yellow streak?
Look at your lace curtains the next time the sun shines. Rosin from poor, cheap, laundry soap made those streaks. To restore their snowy whiteness, wash the curtains thoroughly, using Hewitt's Easy Task soap. It makes a clean, white suds that removes the dirt and leaves no deposits.
Hewitt's Easy Task is the original white laundry soap and contains no austerities. Try a cake—costs a nickel.

TO END WITH DANCE

Piano Endurance Contest by Sherman White.

Should Sherman White succeed in breaking the record for endurance piano playing at the Coliseum Friday and Saturday, and his supporters are confident that he will do so, he will supercede Roy Harding, who played continuously for 36 hours and 36 minutes at the Palace theater several years ago and who became well known among Richmond people, as the record holder. Since performing his feat in this city, Harding has gone himself one better, having played at the Jewel theater in Hamilton some time ago, for 37 hours and 36 minutes.
This is a world's record so far as can be learned and it is this mark that White will try to raise.

A grand piano has been placed on the Coliseum floor and White has been practicing consistently since yesterday morning in preparation for his nerve-racking performance. The fact that he has been playing for dances regularly during the past several years is greatly in his favor and should stand him in good stead when his powers are put to the test. Despite the enormity of the undertaking and the severe nervous and physical strain which it means, White seems very enthusiastic and confident of his ability to make himself the record holder.

ability to make himself the record
holder.

Several drummers of the city have volunteered their services and will accompany White, taking turns about, during his playing in order to relieve the monotony of the piano tones.

White will begin playing Friday morning at 7 o'clock and plans to continue until Saturday evening at 9 o'clock, establishing a record of 38 hours. At the close of his feat a dance will be given for which the full orchestra of Prof. Hicks will play.

All Banks and Trust Companies will close tomorrow (Friday) at 1 p. m. for the remainder of the day on account of Earham May Day.
