

RICHMOND PEOPLE TO HELP EARLHAM

Local Business Men Appointed to Aid in the Debt-Lifting Campaign.

EARLHAM DEBT FUND.
Previously Acknowledged ... $30,463
New Pledges 1,075
Today's Total $31,538

With the Earlham debt campaign in good working order throughout the Indiana, Illinois and Ohio counties that are included in nineteen of the campaign districts, plans for the canvass of Richmond and Wayne county, which will be started next Monday morning, are now being perfected under the leadership of E. Gurney Hill, who will be chairman of the local campaign.

The campaign committee which has had in its charge the conduct of the entire canvass up to this time, will be actively assisted in Richmond and Wayne county by a number of prominent men identified with business and professional life in Richmond. The Commercial club, through its directors, has not only endorsed the movement to free Earlham from debt, but will get into the actual campaign, a committee for this purpose having been appointed by President S. E. Swayne.

Committee is Named.
This committee consists of C. W. Jordan, secretary of the Commercial club; Howard Dill, president of the Richmond Water Works Co.; John H. Johnson, of B. Johnson & Son; Lee B. Nussbaum, Dr. Charles S. Bond, and the three members of the Commercial club's educational committee: George H. Knollenberg, T. A. Mott, superintendent of the Richmond city schools, and President Kelly, of Earlham.

The Richmond Young Men's Business club is counted on to be at the front in the local campaign and, at the suggestion of its president, F. L. Torrence, the canvass and the club's part in it will be discussed this evening at the home of Stephen Kuth, east of the city, where the members of the club had previously been invited to attend a strawberry banquet. Acting upon the suggestion of Will W. Keller, secretary, President Kelly has addressed to the club a formal statement of Earlham's plans and wishes, and this will be read this evening. It is expected that a committee will be appointed by the club to act with the Commercial club's committee at the regular Earlham Campaign committee, which is composed of Morton C. Pearson, chairman; Elbert Russell, E. Gurney Hill, J. A. Goddard, Harlow Lindsey, Timothy Nicholson, Robert L. Kelly and Lester Haworth. Mr. Hill, as has been stated, will act as chairman of the local campaign. It is the intention to have the members of all three committees get together in a meeting immediately and make final plans for the campaign.

CRUSADE AGAINST VICIOUS SALOONS

Chicago, June 7.—A nation-wide campaign to clean out the vicious saloons has been launched in Chicago. It turns itself a true temperance movement, as distinguished from the prohibition movement, and declares that it aims as much to get freedom from the "blind pigs," "blackleg" dealers and near soft drink parlors of the prohibition states as from the disorderly saloons.

Wholesale liquor dealers, gathering in Chicago from all parts of the United States declared, as their National Executive committee assembled, that they had seen the handwriting on the wall by the prohibition forces and declared themselves ready to stand behind a wholesale house cleaning in the liquor trade.

They called loudly for more stringent legal regulation of saloons, for a more efficient enforcement of the law in states and cities where the license system prevails, and the universal extension of the licensing system, with more emphasis upon the character of the licensee than the amount of the license fee.

One of the "jokes" passed around among the delegates was the recent formal proclamation of the mayor of Bangor, Maine, ordering all saloons in that city closed after the fire there. Bangor is strictly prohibition territory so far as the statute books go.

WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD

Lady Learned About Cardui, The Woman's Tonic and is Now Enthusiastic in Its Praise.

Mount Pleasant, Tenn.—"Cardui is all you claim for it, and more," writes Mrs. M. E. Rail, of this place.

"I was a great sufferer for 2 years and was very weak, but I learned about Cardui, and decided to try it. Now I am in perfect health."

"My daughter, when changing into womanhood, got in very bad health. I gave her Cardui and now she enjoys good health."

"Cardui is worth its weight in gold. I recommend it for young and old."

Being composed exclusively of harmless vegetable ingredients, with a mild and gentle medicinal action, Cardui is the best medicine for weak, sick girls and women.

It has no harsh, powerful, near-poisonous action, like some of the strong minerals and drugs, but helps nature to perform a cure in a natural easy way. Try Cardui.

N. B.—Write to: Ladies' Advisory Dept., Cardui, Inc., 111 N. 3rd St., Philadelphia, Pa. 19106. For information, name in plain wrapper, on request.

TOOK WRONG CHILD

Kidnappers Sought Millionaire's Child.

Pittsburg, June 7.—Kidnappers seeking the little three-year-old grandson of D. M. Clemson, one of Pittsburg's millionaire steel manufacturers, secured the little son of the Clemson family chaffeur by mistake and the police are now seeking the bungling abductors.

The child taken by mistake was found wandering miles from the Clemson home, where it had been abandoned after the kidnappers discovered the mistake.

Richard Clemson the three-and-one-half-year-old son of Ralph E. Clemson and grandson of D. M. Clemson, was the objective victim. The little one taken captive was Ralph Benson, of the same age, who is the son of Ralph Benson, driver of the Clemson autos.

Mrs. D. M. Clemson had taken a fancy to the little son of the chaffeur and had provided it with child's clothing of the finest textures. Consequently the little fellow looked the part of the Clemson heir.

Both children were playing near some shrubbery some distance from the Clemson residence in Woodland road when two strangers came along. They picked up the best dressed and the liveliest of the pair, and when the little fellow lisped, "Benson" as his name is, it is thought the abductors understood him to say Clemson. One seized the Benson child, smothered its cries and carried it off, disappearing through the Woodland road section.

The other little fellow hardly understood but his weeping and the fact that the Benson child could not be found caused searching parties to spend hours throughout the wooded districts surrounding the Clemson home. A policeman picked up the little wanderer.

PETRY WON EASILY

Local Man Elected to Office by U. S. W. V.

Harvey C. Petry, a well-known Spanish-American veteran of this city, was elected junior vice commander of the Indiana department of United Spanish-American War Veterans at the encampment which came to a close at Lafayette yesterday. Mr. Petry had no opposition for the office.

Other officers elected at the encampment were: Commander, William F. Ranke, Ft. Wayne; senior vice commander, H. C. Kelm, of Lafayette; inspector, A. L. Littell, of Jeffersonville; judge advocate, Wilbur Ryman, of Muncie; surgeon, John S. Morrison, of Lafayette; chaplain, Rev. C. H. Lawson, of Indianapolis; marshal, James F. Hill, of Indianapolis.

At the final business session the resolutions committee recommended that a law be passed by the legislature to prevent the desecration of Memorial Day by prohibiting all admission fees for entertainments. George W. Powell of Indianapolis, in an address made a protest against the holding of big automobile races and other athletic exhibitions on Decoration Day. The matter was referred to the legislative committee.

Mr. Powell then placed Terre Haute in nomination for the meeting place in 1912, and that city was given next year's encampment without any opposition.

GIRL TRAVELS FAR IN AFRICAN WILDS

Penetrates Parks of Dark Continent Never Before Visited.

London, June 7.—Miss Olive MacLeod, who left England in August last, to visit the grave of her fiancé, Lieut. Boyd Alexander, who was murdered by natives in Central Africa, has arrived in England.

She was met by her father, Sir Reginald MacLeod, when she landed in the early hours of the morning, and left for Paddington. Thence she proceeded by motor car to her beautiful home, Vintners, near Maidstone.

Altogether the African journey consisted of 3,700 miles, mostly on foot or horseback. P. A. Talbot, district commissioner of Nigeria, and Mrs. Talbot accompanied her during the whole journey, and were responsible for the arrangements.

Among the many trophies that Miss MacLeod brought home were two baby lions, which were presented to her in French Nieria.

Miss MacLeod was very eager to take them home with her, but being now 6 months old, they were thought to be rather dangerous pets for Maidstone, and have been sent to the zoo. Sir Reginald MacLeod gave a short outline of his daughter's journey through Nigeria—a country which for purely private reasons is of great interest to her.

"A full and detailed account of her journey will very likely be published in the near future," he said.

"She is, I am glad to say, in excellent health, and, beyond the rough cooking and the difficulty of beating a way through the dense bush, inseparable from such expeditions, suffered no great hardships."

During the journey Miss MacLeod traversed land across which no white woman has ever been before. At times the party included as many as eighty natives, these being required to carry the stores and food.

Miss MacLeod, with her companions, on arriving at the west coast of Africa, traveled up the Niger as far as she could go in the steamer and canoes.

After going through southern and northern Nigeria the expedition reached French Mbanga in October and the falls on the Mao Kili were located.

According to the testimony of French officers and natives, these falls had never been seen before, and in honor of "the brave English girl" going to visit her sweetheart's grave the French authorities asked for permission to name the falls, Les Chutes MacLeod.

Pushing on into the heart of Africa, Miss MacLeod proceeded through the Tiburi lakes, and eventually reached the Shadi, down which she traveled to Lake Chad.

Here the picturesque rocks of Hadjel-Hamis were inspected, which are held in veneration for miles around.

The highest peak of these rocks was climbed by Miss MacLeod and her companions—a feat which the natives declared to be impossible.

Lake Chad was then crossed in koto canoes. This journey took eight days, five of which were spent out of sight of land.

Near Lake Chad, the grave of Lieut. Boyd Alexander was visited—the pathetic object of Miss MacLeod's long journey.

Discussing her travels at Plymouth Miss MacLeod said that the greater part of the route chosen was unknown to Britons.

On arriving at Lagos she said she was surprised to hear rumors that "Miss MacLeod had been massacred and eaten by cannibals."

WOMAN WITH PUNCH LICKS THREE COPS

Pittsburg, June 7.—Using a solar plexus with great effect, Mary Young, aged 22 years, who weighs only 80 pounds, licked three big, husky, policemen in the courtroom of the Pennsylvania avenue police station.

Miss Young, a handsome brunette, with a winning smile was arrested following an argument with a policeman, to whom she complained that someone had stolen her pocketbook.

The policeman told Magistrate Noble Matthews that Miss Young had struck him.

"Twenty-five dollars or 30 days to the workhouse," said the magistrate. "What?" shouted Miss Young.

Then she made a swing at the judge. Three policemen tried to grab her.

She swung on them with the punch that made Bob Fitzsimmons famous.

Her swings were coming so rapidly that they were forced to beat a hasty retreat.

Four other policemen grabbed her, pinioned her arms to her side, and she was hustled off to the workhouse.

CANCER SUFFERERS

Experiments with Patient's Blood Satisfactory.

Boston, Mass., June 7.—Hope is promised for the cancer stricken through unique experiments conducted by Dr. Timothy Leary, medical examiner and pathologist of Tufts' Medical school and Dr. Edward H. Risley of the Massachusetts General hospital.

Following the ideas of the late Dr. Haden of New York, they have been injecting a fluid obtained from cancer sufferers into other cancer patients. It was the theory of Dr. Haden that in the blood and body fluids of cancer sufferers there is some property which develops immunity to the cancer, if it can be secured and properly used.

This great surgeon was putting his ideas into practice when death from pneumonia put a sudden stop to his work. Dr. Risley says:

"This work, together with the X-ray has impressed me with the fact that much can be done for the relief of cancer patients. While cures and benefit cannot be expected in every case, and in spite of the fact that no cures have been accomplished, the work has emphasized the fact that much symptomatic relief can be given to suitable cases."

Will Be Made Public
Dr. Leary is using some of the original Haden fluid extracted from a patient who was particularly resistant to the disease. It is asserted that one patient whose case was considered hopeless has been treated at the Tufts Medical college and has remained well for the last two years. Dr. Leary contends that the treatment cannot be spoken of as a cure, but the results of his experiments are to be made public shortly.

DOG GAVE ITS LIFE FOR SAKE OF CHILD

Patchogue, N. Y., June 7.—Three-year-old Jennie Schwartz, daughter of Frederick Schwartz, was playing in the streets in front of her home and Bob, a bird dog owned by Charles Murdock, was lying on the sidewalk apparently watching her. An automobile shot around the corner from Ocean avenue. The child was directly in the machine's path. The dog sprang up, ran into the road, and giving the child a push with its head, shoved her out of harm's way. It was itself killed. The motorist shot away in his car before bystanders could read its number.

PASTOR LEFT HOUR OLD INVALID BRIDE

Lancaster, Pa., June 7.—Miss Mary Klingaman of Jacksonville and the Rev. Border Levi Stanley of Shenandoah Junction were married in the general hospital. Miss Klingaman came to this city to be present at the graduation and ordination of her affianced husband, and while here was taken ill and sent to the hospital. While she was still seriously ill the hospital physician allowed the bride to be up for one hour for the ceremony. When that time had expired Rev. Stanley bade his bride farewell and left for his charge in West Virginia.

JURY GETS EVIDENCE IN LUMBER HEARING

Chicago, June 7.—A wagonload of documentary evidence said to contain letters threatening blackmailing and boycotting which were addressed to retailers by two-score lumber associations throughout the United States, was presented to the special federal grand jury investigating the alleged lumber trust.

Supplementing this evidence will be testimony of 200 lumbermen, paper manufacturers and dealers.

Oliver Pagin, the government's indictment expert, is in Chicago to draw up the bills against the members of the combine. His arrival, coupled with the announcement from Judge Landis that court would take a recess June 23 led to the report that the government's case was well in hand and the proof of conspiracy so convincing that the grand jury would be in session hardly three weeks.

OWES $12,000; HAS $85 IN REAL MONEY

Los Angeles, Cal., June 7.—"The Wizard of Oz" has run out of magic. In fact, he "is stone broke." Frank Baum, his creator, announced that as the Wizard has stopped magic, he, Baum, would have to enter a petition in voluntary bankruptcy and ask the court to please liquidate his $12,000 worth of debts with $85 and two typewriters the author and playwright still owns.

"I tried to do too much," is the way Baum puts it.

Not satisfied with the shekels that were rolling in upon him from his plays and books, Baum thought of a new way of making money. According to the idea he went on a lecture tour. The lecture was all right, but Baum says it rained in every town he visited, and the people would not come to listen. Hence the bankruptcy petition and the present depleted condition of the author's pocketbook.

INTERURBAN CAR MANGLES A NEGRO

Everett Tracy to Avoid Paying Fare, Jumps from City Car Before Traction.

An effort to beat his way into the city from the carnival grounds on a city street car last evening, cost Everett Tracy, a 16-year-old negro, his left leg and put him on the brink between life and death. Jumping from city car No. 322, just after it had passed Fifteenth street in order to avoid paying the conductor his fare, Tracy ran directly in front of the 11 o'clock east bound interurban, enroute to Dayton. The boy was violently hurled to the ground and his body passed under the fender and the front wheels, ran over his left leg between the knee and the ankle. His nose was torn almost entirely off and he was bleeding profusely from numerous wounds, cuts and bruises when he was pulled from beneath the car.

The city ambulance was called and Tracy was removed to the Reid Memorial hospital where his left leg was amputated just below the knee, his nose sewed on and his other wounds attended to. He was reported this morning as having passed through the operation as well as could be expected.

At the hospital this afternoon it was reported that Tracy was very low and little hope was entertained for his recovery.

A BIG SCHOOL MEET

Held at Chicago University on Saturday.

(National News Association)
Chicago, June 7.—Final preparations have been made for the greatest interscholastic meet ever held in the middle west on Marshall Field, Saturday, June 10. Director A. Alonzo Stagg will be in full charge and will be assisted by a large number of students.

Already more than one hundred high schools and academies have sent in their entry blanks and it is expected that there will be close to two thousand athletes on the field.

In addition to the track meet there will be an interscholastic tennis tournament on the campus beginning on Thursday and ending Saturday. About fifty entries have been received for this tournament to date.

Magnificent silver cups will be given the first four men in each track event, a large silver cup to the individual point winner, a banner to the winning school and cups to the winner and runner-up in the tennis tournament.

Rounds of entertainment have been provided for the men from the time they arrive. Automobile rides, university vaudeville, including the hit numbers from this year's Blackfriars' show, and a trip to Chicago's great amusement park, White City, are some of the features. Friday night, after the trip to White City, the men will get a view of the annual interclass promenade in Bartlett gymnasium.

The university will be in the midst of its gala season while the "prep" men are here. The convocation exercises will be taking place and the following week the first annual homecoming, marking the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the university will be held.

ROUGH SAILING IS ASSURED NEW CODE

The Building Ordinance Has Many Enemies in Ranks of City Officials.

President Hammond, of the board of works handed over the building code ordinance, a 48-page document, drawn up by the Commercial club, to City Clerk, B. A. Bescher, this morning. It will be considered at a special meeting of the city council, to which all citizens interested are invited to attend. It will be held next Monday night. A similar ordinance was presented some time ago, but council considered it impractical and returned it to the Commercial club, for revision, which has been done.

The defeat of the code ordinance is almost certain, even before its being read to council. The city officials who have looked over its provisions, say it is not the right kind of an ordinance for Richmond. By it the office of building inspector is created. This official must be a practical builder, or an architect. He must give a bond of $2,000 per year. Officials say that such a man would cost the city at least $1,200 per year.

Richmond cannot afford another official, it is pointed out, at this salary, as Mayor Zimmerman is constantly saying the city cannot make certain necessary street improvements because of lack of funds. Some councilmen say the upkeep of the streets is more important than the employment of a building inspector.

Besides the fact that the city cannot afford a building inspector, it is claimed that under the provisions of the new ordinance, a poor man cannot build a new house. The ordinance specifies how cement shall be mixed, with the proportion of water, sand and cement, and how floors shall be built lined with tile and other materials to be used. It is full of other minute regulations as to the constructions of all sorts of buildings.

The Sunrise of Life.
Infants and children are constantly needing a laxative. It is important to know what to give them. Their stomachs and bowels are not strong enough for salts, purgative waters or cathartic pills, powders or tablets. Give them a mild, pleasant, gentle, laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which sells at the small sum of 50 cents or $1 at drug stores. It is the one great remedy for you to have in the house to give children when they need it.

HUNT HORSE THIEF

The police received information of the operations of a horse thief in Winchester, who stole a horse and buggy from Tull Wilson, a liveryman, of that place. Sheriff N. U. Stratton, of Randolph county, has no clue as to the whereabouts of the alleged thief.
