

LAWYERS AGREE TO BE HUMILIATED

Agree to Play Baseball with the Newspaper Men on Saturday Afternoon.

Legal talent will be arrayed against newspaper skill in a mighty contest for supremacy at Athletic park Saturday afternoon. Equity and relative rights will be assailed with news and the power of the press, and the world will watch with eager eyes to see whether the Wayne county bar or the newspaper men of Richmond can produce the best aggregation of ball tossers.

After hedging about in their customary fashion in a multitude of legal red tape and pursuing dilatory procedure the lawyers today summoned up their utmost courage and with a voice that quavered announced they would consent to be humiliated at the designated time by the scapling scribes.

Whereupon a broad smile over-spread the faces of the listening scribes and the joy of battle filled their hearts.

All of which means that Richmond baseball fans, enemies of the lawyers and admirers of the newspaper fraternity, will have a chance to enjoy themselves by witnessing a fast exhibition of pastime which no doubt will require an expert mathematician to compute the score of the newspaper team and a microscope to discern the tallies of the attorneys.

Time of Slaughter.

At 4 o'clock the slaughter will commence with J. F. Holday, court reporter, and Demas S. Coe, County auditor and newspaper star in the official capacity of umpires. The former was selected because he said he was of judicial temperament and the latter because he is a "pal" of the scribes.

Before the game is called Judge "Hughie Jennings" Fox will deliver his instructions on "base stealing." High Sheriff Steen with a small arsenal in his pockets will be on hand to see that no larceny is permitted. "Al" says no pilfering of the bags, by durn.

Evidently for the purpose of securing a little notoriety and fame at the expense of those who earned it, the lawyers quite chestily announced their line-up as follows: "Wee Keeler" Hoelacher, rf; "Kid" Harlan, 3b; "Ty Cobb" Reller, lf; "Ping Bodie" Bond, 1b; "Trisa" Shiveley, cf; "Dare Devil" Husson, 2b; "Owale" White, ss; "Johnny Kling" Freeman, c; and "Slate" Ladd, p.

They also announced that Thomas Jefferson Study would officiate as cheer leader, and that a few of the young boys of the bar such as John L. Rupe, Henry U. Johnson, and Jack Thomas. Several other of the newspaper celebrities will act as utility men.

POPULAR SONGS.

A prominent music publisher once said "the best way to judge of a song's popularity is by the number of parodies written on it." In the last twenty-five years there have been put on the market numerous imitations of Hewitt's Easy Task soap—the original white laundry soap. If a soap is worth imitating, it certainly is worth trying.

Hewitt's Easy Task soap has "made good" in countless homes because it really does what others try to do.

TRAVELING MEN PICNIC TONIGHT

Traveling men of the American Seeding Machine company who are holding their annual meeting here this week will attend a picnic dinner at Cedar Springs this evening. ## PIGEON BELONGING TO U. S. IS FOUND

Mystery surrounds the finding of a United States government carrier pigeon by Mrs. Will Dunning in the back yard of her home, 619 South Ninth street, early yesterday morning. On the band wrapped around one of its legs were the letters U. S., and the number 33,525. It was very tame and consented to be fed and petted. It still remains at Mrs. Dunning's home.

BRILLIANT PROGRAM

For Balance of the Coronation Season.

(National News Association)

London, June 22.—The program of the balance of the coronation season is a brilliant one, including military and naval pageants, sporting events, social affairs and functions of state and private nature. The principal ones follow:

June 23.—Royal procession through South London.

June 24.—Naval review off Spithead. King George and Queen Mary will witness it from the royal private yacht Victoria.

June 26.—Royal gala performance at Opera House, Covent Garden. King George, Queen Mary and the whole court will be present in state.

June 29.—The King and Queen will lunch in the Guildhall and take part in a procession through the city.

June 30.—The July meeting at Newmarket, the most fashionable turf event of the year. The King and Queen will probably attend.

In July the following functions will take place:

Investiture of the Prince of Wales. Royal visit to Edinburgh.

Royal levee at Holy Rood Castle, Edinburgh.

King and queen visit Glasgow.

Visit to Dublin.

The American ambassador's reception on the Fourth of July takes on unusual importance this year, due to its falling in the coronation season, when hundreds of prominent Americans who otherwise would not have been in the city are in London for the festivities of the season.

The Henley royal regatta will be held from July 5 to July 8.

Goodwood race week, July 25 to July 29, at the course upon the estate of the Duke of Richmond, is important not only from a racing standpoint but from a fashionable view.

Cowes week is from August 2 to August 5.

AT ELKS LODGE

Following the lodge meeting this evening at the Elks home there will be an exhibition of billiard playing by an expert, who is in this city on business for a few days. Matters of importance will be discussed at the lodge meeting.

ARGUE ON DEMURRER TO MANDAMUS SUIT

Argument was made today on the demurrer of the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction company to the mandamus suit entered in the Wayne circuit court by the county commissioners to compel it to lay its tracks outside the 46 foot improvement of the National road west. Ferdinand Winters, represented the traction company and County Attorney John F. Robbins, Henry U. Johnson, and Thomas J. Study represented the commissioners. The main point contended was whether the commissioners have the power to order the company to lay its tracks. Ferdinand Winters, who argued all morning and for a large part of the afternoon, cited the constitution of the United States and of Indiana and numerous decisions of the supreme court to support his contention that such power was not vested in the commissioners.

FATALLY HURT IN FLIGHT FOR GOLD

(National News Association)

Utrecht, Holland, June 22.—M. Amerigo, an aviator contesting in the tour of Europe contest for prizes aggregating $94,000, was perhaps fatally injured today while attempting to make the flight from Liege to this city.

He is now out of the hospital and has suffered no ill effects from the experience. The car was brought to this city and repaired by the Westcott Motor Car company, being placed in as good condition as when new.
