A Wedding Ring Superstition.
Although there was a lifelong friendship to back up their business deal, the jeweler was not surprised when his old customer who had married a second time bought the wedding ring at another shop.
"If he should take a third wife he would buy the ring at still another store," the jeweler said. "That is one of the superstitions of the trade. A man may have the marrying habit ever so bad and require several wedding rings in his time, yet he never buys any two of them from the same place. Jewelers do not expect it. They don't want to sell two wedding rings to the same man. Had luck would surely light on all concerned, and there is enough trouble in the world anyhow without deliberately inviting more of it by defying a good old wedding ring superstition."—New York Times.

A Clear Case.
"So you think Mrs. must be inhabited?"
"Yassuh," replied Uncle Raspberry. "Dar ain' no doubt of it. An', what's mo', dem 'habitants is culled folks. All dem canals wouldn't be no good without canalsboats, an' canalsboats wouldn't be no good without mules, an' dar ain' no use o' tryin' to run any o' mule business without de help o' culled folks."—Washington Star.

Department of Public Works.
Office of the Board.
Richmond, Ind., July 3rd, 1911.
To Whom It May Concern:
Notice is hereby given by the Board of Public Works of the City of Richmond, Indiana, that on the 3rd day of July, 1911, they approved an assessment roll showing the prima facie assessments for the following described improvements as authorized by the Improvement Resolutions named.
Improvement Resolution No. 227, 1910. Providing for the improvement of North 5th street, from Main to North "D" street, by constructing cement sidewalk and cement curb and gutter on both sides thereof, between the points named.
Improvement Resolution No. 229, 1910. Providing for the improvement of North 7th street, by constructing cement sidewalks on both sides thereof, from Main street to Fort Wayne avenue.
Improvement Resolution No. 233, 1910. Providing for the improvement of Linden avenue, by constructing cement sidewalk 6 feet wide on the south side of street, from west line of Lot No. 28, Alfred P. Griffith's addition, to the east line of West 5th street.
Persons interested in or affected by said described public improvements or either of them are hereby notified that the Board of Public Works of said city has fixed Thursday, July 20th, 1911, 9 o'clock a. m., as a date upon which remonstrances will be received, or heard, against the amount assessed against each piece of property described in said roll and will determine the question as to whether such lots or tracts of land have been or will be benefited in the amounts named on said roll, or in a greater or less sum than that named on said roll.
Said assessment roll showing said prima facie assessments, with the names of owners and descriptions of property subject to be assessed, is on file and may be seen at the office of the Board of Public Works of said city.

Her Recommendation.
A woman prominent as a social worker was in the city to engage a new girl the other day. She visited an employment agency which makes a specialty of finding places for country housemaids and was much pleased with one from the country.
"Why did you leave your last place?" asked the woman.
"I didn't have no last place," answered the girl, "because I ain't had no last place to leave, and I'm still working at it, being for myself that I've been working, and I'm sure I'm a good servant, and I can recommend myself to you, ma'am."—Exchange.

Melodramatic.
A dramatist was condemning two melodramas that had had an unmerited success among the less cultivated portion of the public.
"The first," said the dramatist in his epigrammatic way, "was all blood and thunder, and the other was all thud and blunder."
Proof Positive.
Mrs. De Pretty—Horror! That woman who just passed is a young man in disguise. Husband—Well, well! How do you know? Mrs. De Pretty—She looked at my face instead of my dress.
