Harry Hiatt Found Guilty of Killing His Wife.

(National News Association)
NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Jan. 27.—Harry Hiatt was today found guilty of the murder of his wife and was sentenced to imprisonment for life.

Harry Hiatt, aged 27 years, shot and killed his young wife, from whom he was separated, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Voss, at Cicero. The couple had two children, and it was presumably for the purpose of seeing his children that Hiatt went to his mother-in-law's house. Mrs. Hiatt became frightened when she heard that her husband was approaching the premises and attempted to flee to the barn when Hiatt overtook her and the tragedy took place.

Hiatt formerly was a tinplate worker at Elwood and met with an accident at the mill where he was precipitated into a pot of metal and sustained injuries which subsequently led to a suit for damages, alleged carelessness being the basis for his claim. Later he returned to Cicero where his parents lived and married a Miss Voss, whose parents were well known and much respected in this community.

Insanity was the plea of the defense and much testimony was given on this subject, both Mr. and Mrs. George Hiatt, parents of the defendant, testifying their belief that Harry was of unsound mind.

ARE TO APPEAL TO STATE COMMISSION

The first step in securing better car service for persons living just east of the city limits, was taken at a meeting of the new East End Improvement association at the Fountain Hill school, when following the report on the situation by a special committee, another committee was named to appear before the Indiana Railway commission to present the plea of the east enders. The eastern residents were pleased with the findings of their special committee, and now hope to have a half-hour service within a short time. Dr. N. S. Cox was chosen head of the committee that will try to have the state railway commission take action in the matter. Albert Anderson was selected as second member of the body and another will be chosen to represent the driving park association.

YOUNG COASTER'S LEG FRACTURED

Earl Savage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Savage, 224 North Twenty-second street, had his right leg broken above the knee while coasting in the Glen park this afternoon, about 1:30. He was removed to the hospital in the ambulance and a physician called who set the injured member. The break is a simple fracture.

Savage, with two smaller sisters, was coasting down Roosevelt hill, in the Chautauque grounds, and was guiding the sled when it began to veer around directly toward a tree. Seeing that the sled was going to hit the tree Savage put his foot out to stop the sled, but the rush of the sled and the weight behind it caused the accident.

VIEWERS ARE NAMED GOES TO THE STAR

To Make an Inspection of Easthaven Avenue.

As there was no remonstrance against the petition for the improvement of the Easthaven Avenue, the board of county commissioners at its session this morning appointed viewers to inspect the highway and to report on same. The viewers appointed are Howard H. Horton, county surveyor, Joshua B. Chenoweth, of Fountain City, and W. A. Lewis, of Williamsburg, who will meet Saturday, February 3, at the county auditor's office to qualify. The commissioners believe the road should be improved from the National road north to the Eastern Indiana Hospital for the Insane. If the improvement is made it will be under the three-mile road law. There seems to be no opposition to the improvement.

The petition of John Campbell for appointment as Justice of the Peace in Wayne township was acted upon favorably. The commissioners believe that there should be at least three justices in Wayne township. At present there are but two, Justice Abbott and Justice Morgan. Justice Harrison recently resigned the office. It is understood that this township is entitled to four justices. The commissioners granted a liquor license to John Steele.

George Hawk Will Manage Muncie Publication.

Richmond friends of George J. Hawk, former student at Earlham College, who has been city editor of The Commercial Tribune at Cincinnati since leaving Richmond last June, will be interested to learn that he has resigned his position in the Queen City to become managing editor of The Muncie Star at Muncie. The vacancy at Muncie was created by the recent appointment by President Taft, of Robert L. Williamson, former managing editor, to succeed Robt. Carl White as postmaster at Muncie. The new managing editor was a former reporter and later city editor of the paper of which he now takes complete charge. The change in management is effective Saturday. Mr. Hawk was one of the founders of The Earlham Press, the Earlham College weekly, having been its first managing editor.

CASE AGAINST L. H. & P. THROWN OUT

Upon the grounds that prosecution had not been pushed, John Robbins, attorney for the defendant in the injunction case of the City of Richmond versus the Richmond Light, Heat and Power company, moved that the case be dismissed. After hearing the reasons for the motion, Judge Fox dismissed the case at the costs of the plaintiff.

The injunction suit was filed by the city attorneys at the time the L. H. & P. company started work on connecting its mains with the mains and pipes of the defunct Richmond Natural Gas company.

Prizes Awarded Today To The Winners At The Poultry Show

PRIZE HENS MADE!
Some malcontent, identity unknown, stole a small fortune last night when he broke into the K. of P. Temple and carried away fifteen dozen prize eggs. The embryo prize winners were all piled on a table in the front of the room on the first floor where the poultry show is now going on. The outraged hens, who saw their prize products stolen, are reported to be actively engaged in the organization of a posse which is to run down the thief.

The fourth annual show of the Richmond Poultry and Pet Stock association closes tonight. It was one of the best ever held here. Chickens of all colors and breeds to the number of over 600 have made the echoes ring in the K. of P. temple with their crowing and proud cackling as high priced eggs were deposited for the wondering visitor to behold and covet. Tonight the aristocratic fowls will be boxed up again and returned to their homes. The eggs will be counted, prize ribbons proudly hung over the parlor mantle, and but a pleasant memory will remain of the greater stock ad poultry show.

HUDSON TEAM WINS WITH LARGE SCORE

The Centerville Hudsons romped away with the Dayton Carlises by the score of 62 to 18 at their home gymnasium last evening. With excellent passing and accurate goaltossing the Hudsons never gave their opponents a chance of victory. The Dayton aggregation was the favorite before the game, as they are rated second best in Western Ohio, but the good team play of the Centerville squad prevented their piling up a score.

The Wayne county men were strengthened by Ed Welchman, who appeared last night for the first time in their lineup. Following is the summary of the Centerville score: Field goals—Welchman, 8; Harrington, 7; Wilcoxen, 6; Allison, 3; Scarce, 2; Boyer, 2. Foul goals—Welchman, 2; Allison, 2; Harrington, Scarce.
