

GRAND JURY ASKS MANY IMPROVEMENTS

At the County Infirmary and Prison.—Returns Two True Bills in Report.

The September Wayne county grand jury this morning returned its report to Judge Fox. Two indictments were returned, but against whom the true bills were filed in not known, as this matter will not be made public until arrests are made.

The jury investigated the Saunders murder case, the Lewis assault case, Tracy assault case, and minor cases. The only reference made to this phase of the jury's work, is contained in the report on institutions reads as follows:

"We proceeded to inquire into the cases of all persons imprisoned in the county jail and not indicted, and into all other violations of the criminal laws of this state, of which we had knowledge or which were called to our attention."

It is probable that arrests will follow within a short time, although no information can be procured from the prosecuting attorney's office.

The authorities refused to state whether Jack Lewis, an actor, charged with criminal assault, was indicted. He was given the unprecedented privilege last week of testifying before the grand jury.

In regard to the investigation of conditions at the county jail, Home for Friendless Women and the county infirmary, the report states that the jury found the three institutions well kept, clean, well ventilated and free from vermin.

Ask Changes.

Among the recommendations made were: Repairs to the county jail, removing of the padded cell to another part of the jail, cement floor for the basement, improvement of the heating system; better heating arrangement at the Home for Friendless Women, and a new roof over the corridor; a suitable place for confining inmates as a means of punishment for infraction of rules, at the county infirmary, the placing of coal cars for the infirmary on the siding near the county farm, instead of at Centerville, an investigation as to the cost of electricity for lighting buildings at the infirmary; and a better system of keeping the books at the poor farm. In regard to this matter the report states that there is no record of the entire products of the farm.

The text of the recommendations regarding some phases of the improvements at the county infirmary is appended:

"The infirmary uses about five car loads of coal annually. This coal is put upon a sidetrack at the town of Centerville, two miles from the infirmary, and is hauled in wagons from that point to the institution. There is a long sidetrack through a part of the farm, upon which the coal cars might easily be set for unloading and this long haul of coal is saved. We are informed that it takes at least two days to haul a car load of coal from Centerville to the infirmary, whereas it could be unloaded in less than a day if the car were placed on a siding at the institution."

"We find that the buildings are now all lighted by coal oil lamps, except a part of the administration building, and that the current for the electric lights of this building is furnished by the traction company, and that the insurance companies have objected to this current being taken into the building. We also find that the wiring of the building is defective. The other buildings are all wired for electricity, but not in such a manner that current from the traction line can be used. We are informed that the gasoline engine now used for pumping water is of sufficient power to run a dynamo which would charge a storage battery of sufficient capacity to light all of the buildings. We believe that this is the cheapest and best manner in which these buildings can be lighted, and recommend that the County Commissioners find what the cost of installing an electric light plant will be, and that it can be done at a reasonable cost, it should be done.

New Bookkeeping System.

"We recommended that a better system of keeping the accounts of the institution be introduced. It is our opinion that an account should be kept of the entire amount of all of the products of the farm, and the same should be accounted for. Such part of these products as is consumed upon the farm should be accounted for in that way, and everything sold should be accounted for as it now is. We find that no record is kept nor report made to the auditor of the entire proceeds of the farm, but simply such as is sold. The superintendent should charge himself with all of the crops raised and harvested, and should credit himself with everything used by the institution, and with everything sold, thus making a complete account of everything handled and produced by him. We recommend that some system of this kind, simple but accurate, be introduced."

INTERVENTION IN MEXICO IN FAVOR

Probable Senate Investigating Committee Will Make Recommendation.

(National News Association)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—Intervention in Mexico by the United States to protect Americans and American interests in the southern republic is to be recommended by the subcommittee of the U. S. Senate which has been investigating affairs relating to Mexico for the past two years, according to reports here today. The subcommittee has practically finished its labors and is preparing its report which will be voluminous.

Evidence brought before the investigators is said to have proved conclusively that no American money was used to finance the Orozco rebellion but that Yankee money financed the Madero revolution. The report will mention two large corporations in this connection.

The committee was given until Jan. 14, 1913, to complete its work but it is believed it will report to the senate committee on foreign relations much earlier.

Analyzed, the evidence shows that during the past two years ten million rounds of ammunition went into Mexico from El Paso and 80,000 rounds from Los Angeles. It also shows that from El Paso 40,000 rifles had been sent across the border and 100 from Los Angeles. More than 500 tons of dynamite went into Mexico during the periods of revolutions. The dynamite was used for mining and blowing up of bridges. No dynamite is allowed to be shipped into Mexico at the present time.

Tragedy in a Clock.

Hogan was late at work several times and was advised to buy an alarm clock. It worked duly for a time until one of the kids got to monkeying with it and took it apart. When it was put together again it wouldn't run.

Hogan couldn't understand it, on account of past performances, and did a little dissecting on his own account. When he opened the clock he found the remains of a large insect mixed up with the machinery.

"No wonder it won't run," he said to his wife. "The engineer is dead."

Chicago Post.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—Interesting developments are expected when the sub-committee of the Senate committee on Privileges and Elections reassembles in Washington on Monday to resume its investigation of campaign contributions. Colonel Roosevelt has announced his intention to appear before the committee on Tuesday to tell what he knows of the contributions of big corporations to the Republican campaign fund in 1908. Other important witnesses who have been summoned to testify are J. P. Morgan, George W. Perkins, Henry C. Frick, George B. Cortelyou, William Rockefeller, William R. Hearst, former Senator Charles Dick of Ohio and former Senator Nathan B. Scott of West Virginia.

Looming big among the political events of the week will be the Democratic State convention of New York, which will meet in Saratoga to name candidates for governor and other state officers to be voted for in November.

Governor Woodrow Wilson is scheduled to address the Good Roads Congress in Atlantic City on Monday and the next day he will start on his second campaign tour of the West. He will speak before the National Conservation Congress in Indianapolis and later will be heard in St. Louis and Omaha. Saturday night will find him in Lincoln, Nebraska, where he will remain over Sunday as the guest of William J. Bryan.

Organized labor everywhere will follow with interest the trial of Joseph J. Ettor and Arturo Giovannitti, members of the Industrial Workers of the World, who are to appear in court in Lawrence, Mass., on Monday to answer to a charge of murder. The charge grows out of the killing of a woman in the street riots during the textile strike in Lawrence last spring. Also of interest in labor and industrial circles will be the trial of fifty-four leaders or others affiliated in less degree with organized labor for alleged violation of the law relative to the interstate transportation of dynamite. The trials are scheduled to begin Tuesday in the Federal court at Indianapolis. The cases are an outgrowth of the Ortiz McManigal confession which brought about the arrest and conviction of the McNamara brothers for the Los Angeles Times explosion.

Important conventions of the week will include the first annual American Good Roads Congress at Atlantic City, the triennial meeting of the National Association for the Study of Pellagra, at Columbia, S. C.; the twentieth annual meeting of the National Irrigation Congress at Salt Lake City; the National Conservation Congress at Indianapolis; the annual conference of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. at Chicago, and the meeting of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States at Baltimore.
