

GARDEN OF GODS IS GIVEN TO CITY

Local Traveler Tells of Ceremonies Attending Transfer of the Garden.

One of Richmond's travelers who has seen almost all the scenic wonders of the American continent and is a firm believer in the slogan "See America First," has just returned from Colorado Springs where he saw a number of local persons who are sojourning there.

Persons who have visited the Garden of the Gods in Colorado will be interested to know that the garden has been presented to the city of Colorado Springs and dedicated to the entire world. The Richmond traveler has the following to say about the dedicatory rites accompanying the transfer of the garden:

"The dedicatory address was made by Hon. Henry C. Hall, former mayor of Colorado Springs, and addressees were also made by Mayor H. F. Avery and Judge H. G. Lunt, chairman of the park commission. Robert F. Perkins represented the family in his response.

"The inscription on the tablet reads: 'The Garden of the Gods given to the city of Colorado Springs in 1909 by the children of Charles Elliott Perkins in fulfillment of his wish that it be kept forever free to the public.'

Perkins is Donor.

"Mr. Perkins was a prominent figure in the western railroad world and was formerly president of the Burlington railroad. In the earlier days, he was an associate of Gen. William J. Palmer, founder of the city of Colorado Springs and builder of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad. It was upon Gen. Palmer's suggestion that he secured the Garden of the Gods in 1875.

Throughout his life time he maintained this great natural park free of access, although he was several times offered large sums of money for the tract. When he died in 1907, the Garden of the Gods passed, with the remainder of his estate, to his children, and the only indication as to its disposal was this not in his own handwriting, found on the back of an old envelope:

"It is my wish that my children give the Garden of the Gods to the city of Colorado Springs for park purposes."

"To carry out his wishes, the heirs began the necessary legal proceedings and on Christmas day, 1909, the world-famed scenic wonder passed into the possession of the city of Colorado Springs. The tract comprises 480 acres and is valued in excess of $200,000.

A World's Wonder.

"The marvelous and fantastic rock formations of the Garden of the Gods have long been pointed out as one of the world's natural wonders. Before the coming of the white man the Garden of the Gods was the worshipping place of the Indian, and today the Utes return annually for their 'Shan Kive' of rejoicing. Chief of all the groups is the 'gateaway,' formed of two immense slabs of red sandstone, which tower to a height of more than 300 feet. Passing through the rock portals, one enters a region where titanic forces have been at play. 'The Cathedral Spires,' 'The Three Graces,' 'Bear and Seal' 'Tower of Babel' and 'Slamme Twins' are among the most interesting and noted groups.

"With the addition of the Garden of the Gods, Colorado Springs has the most unique park system in America. It comprises also North Cheyenne Canon, Monument Valley Park, with miles of roads and trails leading to places of great beauty. It includes 3,000 acres which is considerably in excess of that owned by many cities 10 or 20 times the size of Colorado Springs with its population of 30,000. For this magnificent park system, Colorado Springs is indebted to Gen. Palmer."

Learning by Experience.

Nell—He always said that no two people on earth think alike. Lill—Well? Nell—He has changed his mind since looking over the presents his wedding called forth.—Woman's Home Companion.

(Advertisement)

Catarrh Coughs, Colds

Pleasant Vapor Treatment that Gives Relief in a Few Minutes.

Here is an offer that means something.

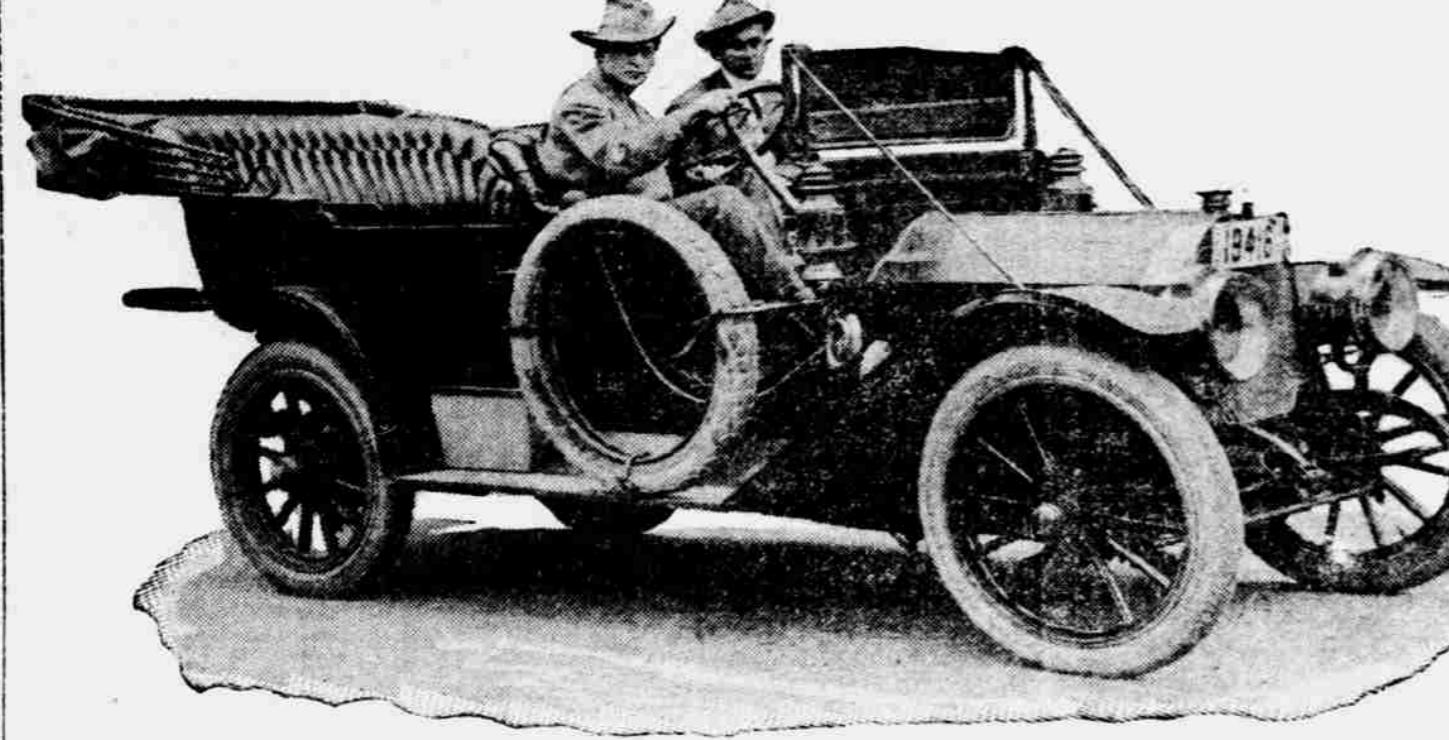

Money returned if Booth's HYOMEI doesn't give satisfaction in treatment of catarrh, coughs, colds and croup.

Thousands of wise people the country over are using the HYOMEI vapor treatment to break up a cold in the head or chest over night. Follow this advice once in the evening and again just before retiring.

Into a small bowl full of boiling water, pour a scant teaspoonful of HYOMEI, cover head and bowl with a towel and breathe deep into the lungs the soothing, healing, germ killing vapor that arises.

HYOMEI is the Australian Eucalyptus, an antiseptic that is used extensively by the foremost nose and throat specialists in the world, combined with other antiseptics.

A bottle of HYOMEI is 50 cents at Leo H. Fines, and druggists everywhere. A complete outfit which also includes a hard rubber pocket inhaler for $1.00.

Mr. Vaughan Glaser, Who Appears at the Gennett, Tuesday Evening, October 15th, in "The Grain of Dust" And Ty Cobb, Famous Baseball Player

T. P. A. Notes

BY W. H. Q.

If you think you're beaten you are, if you think you dare not don't, if you'd like to win, but think you can't.

It's almost a cinch you won't.

If you think you'll lose, you've lost.

For out in the world you find Success begins with a fellow's will It's all in the state of mind.

Full many a race is lost.

Ere ever a step is run.

And many a coward fails.

Ere ever his work's begun;

Think big and your deeds will grow.

Think small and you'll fall behind,

Think that you can and you will,

It's all in the state of mind.

If you think you're outclassed, you are.

You've got to think high to rise.

You've got to be sure of yourself before

You can win a prize;

Life's battles don't always go

To the stronger or faster man,

But soon or late the man who wins

Is the fellow who thinks he can."

—Another Unknown.

What has become of Brother Burlingame, of Evansville? Have received the Evansville Journal-News regularly, but have been unable to locate the T. P. A. column in the last four issues. Had not State Press Chairman Ryan better sent a search warrant after him? —W. H. Wiley in Marion Leader-Tribune.

We "worried" our head nearly bald for the past two or three weeks trying to find some T. P. A. Notes in that big library of a paper we get from Evansville, feeling so much paper ought to produce something in our line. We finally concluded it was failing eyesight and we are very much relieved to be informed that others have been searching in vain also. Get back on the job Burlingame, we are missed.

Have you noticed that new covering on the card room floor. Quite an improvement to that part of our headquarters.

We are pleased to receive the following applications this week: C. C. Allen of the Allen Furniture Co., John A. Ratliff of the Richmond Baking Co., H. J. Nieman, city salesman for Richmond Baking Co. This makes our membership over four hundred.

Ed. Dye, Post C's most ardent advocate of rock ribbed Democracy was a visitor at headquarters this week. Ed looks young and sweet with his upper whiskers nearly scraped off.

Ross Bowman "blew" in a few minutes last Saturday night. From the way Ross talks he is surely going to vote for Taft. If the United States has enough Ross Bowmans, as noisy as ours, there will be but one side to the story on election day.

Supposing the chairman of railroads would get active on irregularities of steam train, electric cars, and other transportation service, the legislative chairman get busy; the hotel chairman watch our eating places, hotels, cab service, livery service; the good roads chairman get active on many things that come under his jurisdiction; supposing all the other committees would find out that they have their respective jobs; supposing the President would outline a lot of work for these fellows and see that they did it, wouldn't Post C be a power in the state organization. It won't come to pass for everybody says in answer "That would be fine, but say, let's have a game of Rhum."

As you know half how I think you for the Cardui Home Treatment. I wish that all women who suffer from woman's trouble would treat themselves as I have.

Ladies can easily treat themselves at home with Cardui, the woman's tonic. It is easy to take, and so gentle in its action, that it cannot do anything but good.

Being composed exclusively of vegetable ingredients, Cardui cannot lay you up trouble in your system, as mineral drugs often do. Its ingredients having no harsh, medicinal effects, and being non-poisonous and perfectly harmless, Cardui is absolutely safe for young and old.

Ask your druggist. He will tell you to try Cardui.

N. B.—Write to: Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and for page book. "How to Use Women's" sent in a few weeks on request.

Thousands of wise people the country over are using the HYOMEI vapor treatment to break up a cold in the head or chest over night. Follow this advice once in the evening and again just before retiring.

Into a small bowl full of boiling water, pour a scant teaspoonful of HYOMEI, cover head and bowl with a towel and breathe deep into the lungs the soothing, healing, germ killing vapor that arises.

HYOMEI is the Australian Eucalyptus, an antiseptic that is used extensively by the foremost nose and throat specialists in the world, combined with other antiseptics.

A bottle of HYOMEI is 50 cents at Leo H. Fines, and druggists everywhere. A complete outfit which also includes a hard rubber pocket inhaler for $1.00.

wait, and go home. Along after while comes the chairman and wonders paces with great success. The acrobats who open the bill do some amusing stunts and the masculine member of the singing and talking two "carries over" in great shape.

"The Grain of Dust."

Local interest attaches to the appearance of Vaughan Glaser and his company in "The Grain of Dust," the successful play made from David Graham Phillips' novel by the same name, and which will be at the Gennett on Tuesday evening, October 15th, from the fact that "Nick"—otherwise Harry—Carter, a former newspaper man of this city, is Glaser's manager.

Glaser and Carter are "making the jumps" as Carter puts it, by automobile and have so far this season driven 3,000 miles, "in all sorts of weather and over all manner of roads," as Mr. Carter further says, "our longest ride having been from Toronto to Cleveland during a frightful rain storm."

Mr. Glaser, long associated with James K. Hackett who played "The Grain of Dust" last season, is an accomplished and versatile actor and his first appearance in this city is looked forward to with interest.

Wallingford.

Geo. M. Cohan who is noted for the speed and action developed in all his comedy writings, fairly outdid himself in transferring the "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" magazine here, created by George Randolph Chester to the stage.

In its dramatic form "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" which appears at the Gennett on October 19, though a

(Advertisement)

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars.

F. J. CHENEY, & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

straight comedy, moves along with the swiftness that characterizes a Cohan musical show, with the resultant of a play that fairly bristles and vibrates vitality and fun.

It is clean fun, and while the hero J. Rufus Wallingford, might be criticized by some of his prototypes in real life, Mr. Cohan has made this whirlwind promoter such a lovable character than an audience is in sympathy with him and his visionary schemes five minutes after he commences to unfold them.

In writing this comedy, Mr. Cohan borrowed only two characters from the book—Wallingford, the central figure, and Blackie Daw, his pal. Around these worthies, utilizing a string of Wallingford adventures, Mr. Cohan created twenty speaking characters and a big mob of villagers who put speed into the story of Wallingford's arrival in the town of Battlesburg, and his subsequent promotion of the covered carpet tack, the interurban electric road, real estate and other side lines until he lands in the millionaire's class, and through the faith and love of an honest woman becomes an upright, progressive and desirable citizen.

The moral of Mr. Cohan's play is found at the close of the fourth act when Wallingford delivered the speech "What a fool a clever man is for being a crook."

Men Wanted—Richmond Furniture Mfg. Co.

12-31

THE LAST COURSE.

"Paw, when there's a big banquet, why do they always have spoiled cheese to wind it up with?"

"Because, my son, it makes you forget the earlier courses,"—Chicago Tribune.

LETTER LIST

The following letters remain unclaimed at the local postoffice, and will be sent to the Dead Letter office, if not called for within two weeks.

Ladies' List.

Mrs. F. A. Brutz, Mrs. Maggie Floyd, Mrs. R. W. Green, Miss Laura Hammons, Mrs. Chas. Hetsell, Mrs. Ruth Staley, Mrs. Mary Stephens, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. M. J. Weaver.

Gentlemen's List.

Ira Byrd, H. E. Davis, Floyd Deeter, S. V. Harding, Jr., Harry Homer, William Kase, Edward Overholts, Fessley Simms, Jack Stricker, Henry H. Wilson.

Miscellaneous.

Superintendent McIntyre Auto Co., Sweet Celery Co.

E. M. HAAS, P. M.

Oyster Soup free at the Berghoff, 8 p. m. 119 Fort Wayne Ave. Casey Horn, Prop.

FRATERNAL TROUBLE AIRED IN COURT

An argument between Joe and Louis Cohn ended with the latter receiving a badly bruised nose yesterday, and the former drawing a fine of $1 and costs in police court today. The contestants are brothers and the argument started when Louis backed his wagon into a position which did not suit his brother.

In writing this comedy, Mr. Cohan borrowed only two characters from the book—Wallingford, the central figure, and Blackie Daw, his pal. Around these worthies, utilizing a string of Wallingford adventures, Mr. Cohan created twenty speaking characters and a big mob of villagers who put speed into the story of Wallingford's arrival in the town of Battlesburg, and his subsequent promotion of the covered carpet tack, the interurban electric road, real estate and other side lines until he lands in the millionaire's class, and through the faith and love of an honest woman becomes an upright, progressive and desirable citizen.

It is clean fun, and while the hero J. Rufus Wallingford, might be criticized by some of his prototypes in real life, Mr. Cohan has made this whirlwind promoter such a lovable character than an audience is in sympathy with him and his visionary schemes five minutes after he commences to unfold them.

In writing this comedy, Mr. Cohan borrowed only two characters from the book—Wallingford, the central figure, and Blackie Daw, his pal. Around these worthies, utilizing a string of Wallingford adventures, Mr. Cohan created twenty speaking characters and a big mob of villagers who put speed into the story of Wallingford's arrival in the town of Battlesburg, and his subsequent promotion of the covered carpet tack, the interurban electric road, real estate and other side lines until he lands in the millionaire's class, and through the faith and love of an honest woman becomes an upright, progressive and desirable citizen.

It is clean fun, and while the hero J. Rufus Wallingford, might be criticized by some of his prototypes in real life, Mr. Cohan has made this whirlwind promoter such a lovable character than an audience is in sympathy with him and his visionary schemes five minutes after he commences to unfold them.

In writing this comedy, Mr. Cohan borrowed only two characters from the book—Wallingford, the central figure, and Blackie Daw, his pal. Around these worthies, utilizing a string of Wallingford adventures, Mr. Cohan created twenty speaking characters and a big mob of villagers who put speed into the story of Wallingford's arrival in the town of Battlesburg, and his subsequent promotion of the covered carpet tack, the interurban electric road, real estate and other side lines until he lands in the millionaire's class, and through the faith and love of an honest woman becomes an upright, progressive and desirable citizen.

It is clean fun, and while the hero J. Rufus Wallingford, might be criticized by some of his prototypes in real life, Mr. Cohan has made this whirlwind promoter such a lovable character than an audience is in sympathy with him and his visionary schemes five minutes after he commences to unfold them.

In writing this comedy, Mr. Cohan borrowed only two characters from the book—Wallingford, the central figure, and Blackie Daw, his pal. Around these worthies, utilizing a string of Wallingford adventures, Mr. Cohan created twenty speaking characters and a big mob of villagers who put speed into the story of Wallingford's arrival in the town of Battlesburg, and his subsequent promotion of the covered carpet tack, the interurban electric road, real estate and other side lines until he lands in the millionaire's class, and through the faith and love of an honest woman becomes an upright, progressive and desirable citizen.

It is