

ADDED INTEREST IN STATE CONVENTION

Y. M. C. A. Delegates Will Try to Secure An Association in Hammond.

Added interest is given the annual state convention of the Indiana Young Men's Christian Association at Hammond, November 22, 23 and 24 in the announcement that Abraham Bowers, formerly of Indiana, and at present immigration secretary of the Chicago association, is to take part in the demonstrations of the association's industrial work. Mr. Bowers is the leading exponent in the Middle West of Dr. Peter Roberts' English-teaching method for foreigners and has had charge of this work in the Chicago field and its manufacturing environs for several years.

Because of the enormous industrial activity and the large number of foreign-born men in the Calumet region, special stress is being laid on the work of the association among workmen and immigrants. Shop meetings to illustrate these features are planned for the first two days of the convention. English-teaching will be one of the important themes of the business men's dinner, where Dr. Roberts himself will demonstrate his original method with a dozen recent immigrants.

Indiana in general and the industrial communities in particular are the direct beneficiaries of Secretary Bowers' work in the practice of the "glad hand to the immigrant." Hundreds of the thousands of immigrants who land in America every year sooner or later reach points in Indiana where they are immediately related to some association or otherwise given needed help.

Chicago has become the distributing center for almost all immigrants destined for this state, the West and Northwest. Under his direction these men are met at railroad stations and either directed to their city destinations or placed on trains for other inland points.

In the event the immigrant is coming to any one of the industrial centers of Indiana, the state executive committee at Indianapolis is notified by the secretary at Ellis Island, New York, or by the immigration department in Chicago, and the local association is on the lookout for him. If he is bound for Gary, South Bend or Evansville, the secretary at that point is notified by the state committee and either meets the man at the train or looks him up immediately after his arrival. Many immigrants have been saved from financial exploitation by this service. The cab driver or expressman who grows fat on extortion can not practice his trade successfully under the eyes of an association secretary.

Twelve secretaries are now stationed at the ports of Naples, Genoa, Liverpool, Antwerp, Rotterdam, Havre, Bremen and Triest, for the purpose of meeting and directing immigrants and giving them cards of introduction to the Young Men's Christian Association in the city where they expect to live. There are more than 300 associations in the United States which render all sorts of service needed by immigrants.

Association secretaries at ports of entry in this country have met aliens from 1,136 ships, distributed 25,000 cards of introduction, helped 25,000 other men in various ways and written more than 5,000 letters for immigrants of 33 different nationalities.

The "glad hand" follows up every man and makes an effort to assimilate him. He is taught English and civics in a night school, he is aided in finding a decent place in which to live and he is furnished with a good job through the association bureau. Without a job it has been found there is slight incentive on the part of the immigrant either to learn English or become an American citizen.

THE FIELD SECRETARY

Will Address the Commercial Club in Near Future.

E. F. Trova, of Washington, field secretary of the United States chamber of commerce, addressed the directors of the Richmond Commercial Club last evening on the general topic of commercial activity.

The purpose of his coming was to solicit the membership of the club in the national chamber of commerce. When he learned that the club is already a member of the organization, he directed his attention to the general work of the commercial organization of the United States.

Mr. Trova will deliver an address before the commercial club in the near future.

A CHANCE TO GET DRAWING EXHIBIT

Government Will Send Exhibit to Any City Willing to Defray Expressage.

It will soon be possible for any city school to have a drawing exhibit of national significance practically without cost. Dr. Henry Turner Bailey and Mr. Royal B. Farnum are preparing for the United States bureau of education an exhibit of the best examples of drawing and art work in the elementary, high and normal schools of the United States, as well as one or two of the art schools. The exhibit is to be sent to any city desiring it upon payment of the cost of transportation from the city last using it. The transportation charges will be paid.

The exhibit is not to be a large one, but it is being selected with unusual care, so as to show the work that will be most suggestive to teachers, children, and school officers. It will be ready for shipment about January, but cities desiring it should make application at once to the commissioner of education, Washington, D. C., in order that it may be dispatched to as many localities as possible with the least expense to each of them.

Dr. Claxton believes that this small but choice exhibit of drawing work, compiled by two acknowledged leaders of art teaching in America, will do much to aid the cause of drawing and art in the public schools.

AUTHORITIES LOOKING FOR L. A. WILLS

Residents of the little village of Greensboro, as well as local authorities, it is said, were thrown into excitement today by substantiation of the fact that L. A. Wills, the druggist whose stock was destroyed in the recent Greensboro fire, and who was believed to be the October burglar, now in session, had disappeared. Wills' disappearance is mysterious inasmuch as intimate friends of a man, when talked to today declared they know nothing of his whereabouts.

The disappearance of Wills is the topic of conversation in many homes in Greensboro. No one seems to know where the man has gone.

It is known that Wills has relatives at Lewisville, Ind., a small town about twenty-six miles west of this city, but it could not be learned whether he went to that town or not.

Wills, it is understood, was to have appeared before the grand jury yesterday in order that his testimony concerning the Greensboro fire, in which a loss of $17,000 was entailed, could be received. However, he did not appear at the authorities immediately began investigation to ascertain why he did not obey the subpoena served upon him by Sheriff Steen.

Sheriff Steen said this afternoon that he is hung for Wills, although he said he did not know his whereabouts.

It was expected that the Greensboro druggist could throw light upon the causes of the fire. Wills had his drug store in a room adjacent to the restaurant room, owned by Harry Cory, in which room the fire was reported to have started.

On the morning following the fire Sheriff Steen brought Cory to this city and placed him in county jail. Cory was held for a few days and then released.

Hasty action on part of the authorities is expected bringing developments in the case tomorrow.

Thomas J. Study, acting as deputy prosecutor, assisted in the investigation.

M'MANIGAL TELLS OF MORE OUTRAGES

Implicates President Ryan in Dynamite Explosions in His Testimony.

(National News Association)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 14.—With juror Allen Spaulding fully recovered from his illness the dynamiter McManigal resumed his story of the alleged dynamite campaign of the Iron Workers' Union in federal court today where forty-five defendants are on trial.

To prove that President Ryan did know of the dynamite degradations

McManigal told of having talked with Ryan at the headquarters in this city.

He testified that Ryan had cautioned him about coming to headquarters too often and told him to change his personal appearance frequently enough to avert suspicion.

McManigal told of buying 120 quarts of nitroglycerine from W. A. Morehart, of Albany, Ind., which he secreted in a cinder pile near Muncie, and which he later brought to a vault at headquarters in this city, carrying twenty quarts on each trip on the interurban car.

McManigal's testimony today also involved Ed Smythe, a labor leader of Peoria, Ill., who McManigal declared directed his explosion operation in that city.

STALE BREAD.

It is generally supposed that the staleness of bread arises from its becoming actually drier by the gradual loss of water, but this is not the case, remarks the Bakers' Weekly. Stale bread contains almost exactly the same proportion of water as new bread after it has become completely cold.

The change is merely in the internal arrangement of the molecules of the bread. A proof of this is that we put a stale loaf into a closely covered tin, expose it for half an hour or an hour to a heat not exceeding that of boiling water and then allow it to cool it will be restored in appearance and properties to the state of the new bread.

The strife between Herbert Green, avowed opponent of what he styles the "undertakers' trust" of Richmond, reached a climax today when he tried to whip Henry J. Pohlmeier, the firm of Wilson, Pohlmeier and Downing, undertakers.

to engage in a fistcuff, Pohlmeier, so he says, was walking by the livery barn of Green's this morning.

"Have you circulated reports regarding the unsanitary condition of my carriages?" was the bellicose inquiry of Green, according to the undertaker, that was preliminary to the scrap.

Pohlmeier said he had made such statements, whereupon Green is said to have cursed him.

The undertaker removed his black coat and invited Green to try conclusions. Green accepted, and the side-

$25,000 Package Disappears from Wells Fargo Office in Lake Charles.

LAKE CHARLES, La., Nov. 14.—Mystery surrounds the disappearance early today of a package containing $25,000 from the Wells Fargo express company office here. J. E. Chavin, an express clerk, who reported the robbery, has been arrested.

According to his statement, he left the office in the Southern Pacific depot to meet the eastbound midnight train. He locked the safe and the front door.
