

EIGHTY YEARS SOON FOR HETTY GREEN

Birthday Anniversary Did Not Vary Usual Routine of Her Homelife.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Mrs. Hetty Green, mistress of a fortune estimated at close to one hundred million, reached her seventy-seventh birthday anniversary yesterday. The wealthiest woman in the world does not take much stock in birthday celebrations, and the fact that this was the anniversary of her birth caused no variance of her usual routine. The day was remembered, however, with messages and tokens from her son, E. H. R. Green, her daughter Sylvia, and the latter's husband, Matthew A. Wilke.

Mrs. Green has retired from the active management of her vast affairs. Such, at least, was the announcement made more than a year ago, when E. H. R. Green gave up his home in Texas and came to New York for the purpose, as stated, of relieving his mother of the great burden imposed upon her by the care of her colossal fortune. But to all appearances Mrs. Green is still looking after her own affairs. She visits her banking offices daily and it is nothing out of the ordinary for her to attend several directors' meetings between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. In the meantime, "Ned," as she fondly calls her only son, continues to spend much of his time in Texas, where he has large railroad and other interests that require his personal attention.

At the age of seventy-seven Mrs. Green is handling the largest fortune possessed by any woman in the world. If the popular estimates are correct her fortune exceeds by some $20,000 or more that of Mrs. Russell Sage, who is reckoned the second richest woman in the world.

The wealth of Mrs. Green is widely diversified. Her real estate holdings fairly freckle the face of the country. Her property in New York city amounts to millions, while in Boston, where the foundation of her immense fortune was laid years ago by real estate investments, she still possesses entire streets of residences and business property. Her mortgages embrace some of the safest properties in a chain of cities extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Railroads, steamboats, traction roads, mines of gold, silver, copper and iron, telephones and telegraphs, all contribute to her income, and it is her proud boast that not one investment is a losing proposition.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

For the State Teachers' meeting to be held at Indianapolis, December 26-28, Principal Neff, of the high school has been chosen as one of a symposium of six to deliver an address on "The Interscholastic Relation."

Mr. Neff's address will deal mainly with the possibilities of interscholastic contests in the future. These contests include athletic, oratorical and all forms of competition between the various schools of the state.

The board of control of the high school is arranging for a school entertainment to be held during the month of December. The exact nature of the affair has not been decided upon but it will probably be similar to the fall festivals which the school held in former years.

Much spirit is being shown by the athletically inclined members of the night high school and they have announced their intention of forming a basketball team to challenge the varsity squad of the day students to decide the school supremacy in basketball. If they carry out their intentions the day school squad may expect a hard fought battle for there are some seasoned players attending the night school.

SKATING SEASON WILL OPEN SOON

The skating season will be formally opened at the Coliseum on the evening of November 28. This is gratifying to the many skaters in this city, and skating promises to continue to be one of the popular fads for Richmond people this season.

Rumors to the effect that the polo league would be reorganized is hailed with joy here. No sport has ever been so popular as this one in Richmond. Other Indiana cities are also interested in the movement and plans for reorganization may result.
