

JUDKINS STANDS BY PROGRESSIVE BILLS

Committee Sends Telegram After Hearing Report to Contrary.

FAVORS 8 HOUR LAW

Legislator Says He Will Vote for Every Progressive Measure.

Contrary to the report that J. W. from Wayne county, was opposed to the eight hour law for women, County Chairman Robbins today declared that Judkins in favor of the measure and would vote for it in accordance with his original intention.

Tuesday night a committee meeting of the Progressive leaders of this city was held and the reported opposition of Judkins to this act was discussed. The following telegram was sent to him by Chairman Robbins.

Telegram Sent.
"Your reported opposition to the eight hour law for women wage earners is not favored by the Progressives of this city. At the committee meeting of the Progressives tonight your action was unanimously opposed. We ask you, regardless of your own opinion, to stand by every plank of the Progressive state platform and vote for progressive measures."

The discussion of the action of Judkins as opposed to the law was the result of the report current here that it was a personal matter with Judkins as he would be personally benefited as a manufacturer by the failure of the bill.

Judkins Answers.
Mr. Judkins wrote Mr. Robbins a letter immediately after receiving the telegram, declaring he had no intention of voting against the bill or any other which was endorsed by the Progressive platform. "I would in no way violate the trust of the voters of Wayne county who elected me. I always stood for the law in question though I believe it would work a hardship on women in smaller towns and cities where the women work by the piece work system. They will be compelled to work fewer hours; will not be able to earn as much money. Some persons misconstrued my attitude toward the bill because I was opposed to some of the arguments put forth by a few advocates of it."

MAY OFFER REWARD TO SECURE SNYDER

At the meeting of the county commissioners today the matter of offering a reward for the apprehension of Joseph Snyder, the confessed murderer of William Henry Dayton, was discussed. All the commissioners now believe that it would be right to offer a sum of money for the arrest and capture of the man who is responsible for the crime.
County Attorney Robbins placed the matter before the commissioners. The law provides that the maximum reward shall be $500 and Mr. Robbins believes this sum should be offered.
He does not believe that the money should be turned over to the city, however, providing the police department of the city capture the man. The laws of the state make it unlawful for any city employee to accept the reward. When Revalde, the murderer of Mrs. Chris Allison of Cambridge City, was caught by the police the reward offered by the commissioners went to the city treasury. The commissioners are not in favor of a repetition of this action.

Sacrificed a Title to Wed

MUNICH, Jan. 21.—The final chapter of a most remarkable romance has been written in the legal annulment of the marriage of Archduchess Isabelle Maria of Austria, to Prince George of Bavaria. The Archduchess brought the suit. By marrying the handsome Prince last February she sacrificed all rights of succession to the Austrian throne.

PLAY GIVEN AT THE ST. ANDREW'S SCHOOL WAS OF THE HIGHEST ORDER

BY ESTHER GRIFFIN WHITE.

The opening of St. Andrew's Parish Hall in the new school building recently completed, was an interesting and important event not only in the life of St. Andrew's church, but in that of the city.

The new building is architecturally effective and adds to the attractions of the town, while its erection is significant both educationally, religiously and socially.

The new hall is a commodious one, seating eight hundred persons, and its acoustic properties are excellent. The opening of the building was inaugurated by the presentation of a play by the Hymettus Literary Society, called "The Seal of Confession," the organization being made up of young people who are members of St. Andrew's.

The play is an adaptation of Father Spillman's widely known story, "A Victim of the Seal of Confession," made by F. G. Holweck, and exploits the principles of the Catholic religion whose expositions are rarely seen or heard either on the professional or amateur stage.

The plot concerns the inviolability of the confession. Dramatically it is an old fashioned melodrama and is full of exciting situations and thrilling climaxes.

The cast was a large one and the characterizations well sustained throughout, much amateur theatrical talent being in evidence.

The two leading roles, that of Father Robiac, upon whom a murder was fastened, played by Harry Bowing, and Arthur Loser, the murderer, taken by Augustus Scherer, were extraordinarily well done since the stilted nature of the lines and situations were hard to handle convincingly on either the professional or amateur stage and the fact that Mr. Bowing and Mr. Scherer "carried over" with such effect was indicative of not only natural talents but careful training.

Mr. Bowing "looked the part" and acted it without exaggeration having a fine stage presence and an equally fine speaking voice. His handling of the theatrical difficulties was skillful and the presentation, altogether, striking and interesting.

Mr. Augustus Scherer, in the stellar role of the villain did one of the cleverest bits of amateur theatrics ever seen on the local stage. The difficulties of this role would be manifest to the most casual attendant of theatrical productions. Since its most intense moments could so easily have been made farcical, and the fact that Mr.

Scherer kept them within legitimate stage expression and yet maintained their verisimilitude showed him possessed of much theatrical finesse. Mr. Scherer, also, has a voice of splendid calibre and carrying force which he handled with an appreciation of the varying emotions for which the depiction of the character called.

Miss Irene Vogelmann was effective in the trying role of the priest's mother and the balance of the large cast sustained their roles admirably. The most noticeable thing was the excellence of the voices and the distinct enunciation.

The settings were convincing and the costumes in keeping with the time and the country, the locale of the story being France in the last century.

The music by Runge's orchestra was not one of the least of the attractions of the affair, their incidental music for the play, and their programs of popular airs during the entr'actes, being characteristic of the excellence of this well known musical organization.

APPRECIATION.

Love never seems so clear and easy as when the heart is beating faster at the sight of some generous, self-risking deed. We feel, no doubt, then what is the highest prize the soul can win; we almost believe in our own power to attain it.—George Eliot.

Strange, is it not?

That it is necessary to ask such a large per cent of our customers who ought to be wearing bifocal lenses, how they manage to see near and far with the one power.

Their answer will invariably be summed up in the one word that means so much to glass wearers.

ROWE WINS CONTEST FOR EARLHAM TEAM

Star Forward Pulls Quakers Out of Hole.—Game Was Fast.

Earlham started on what college supporters feel to be a string of victories, last night, by beating Butler college in basketball by a score of 26 to 23. The outcome of the game was not certain until a few minutes before the final whistle and at the end of the first half the visitors were one point in the lead. Hard playing was the rule of the whole game. The fine basket shooting of the Indianapolis crowd was the only claim they had to distinction, although a few times Captain Silvers showed some good floor work. Kennington called for time out several times and was finally replaced by Good.

Rowe played the stellar game for the Earlham aggregation. It was his first game for several weeks but he made up for lost time. Every time the ball was in his possession the Butler guards knew what was coming. It depended upon the lengthy forward to pull Earlham out of each hole. He was easily the star of last evening's contest. Beery and Wolf also played good basketball.

In the first half Coach Thistlethwaite tried out two of the ineligible but only one of them made good. Rowe supplied the one biggest need of the Earlham team. He caged six baskets. "Erer" Wolf and "Babe" Stanley were substituted for Beery and Winslow in the second half. In the latter part of the game the ball was seldom far from the Earlham goal and nervousness before the home crowd kept the score from being much larger. Lancaster and Sharpless made good as guards. Lineup and summary:

In a Sensational Divorce

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Mrs. J. Temple Gwathmey, one of the most prominent women in the exclusive club circles of New York and Newport, who has been named in the divorce papers filed by Mrs. James C. Bishop, the equally prominent society woman, declares the charges to be absolutely and wickedly false. "It is charitable to suppose that Mrs. Bishop is laboring under a delusion," said Mrs. Gwathmey, "and that for some reason she is not now capable of rational thought."

CHANGE TACTICS IN THE STANLEY CASE

The case of the Dickinson Trust company as administrator of the estate of Homer Stanley against the T. H. L. & E. Traction company for $10,000 for Stanley's death, was postponed until a later date by Judge Fox upon a petition of the attorney for the plaintiff.

The case was being tried under the common law statute which provides that a company which operates machinery which places an employee in danger shall not be responsible for any accident which might befall the employee, providing the employee knows of the danger to which he is subjected.

The plaintiff wishes to make the complaint read that the corporation employs more than five men, which would place the case under the liability act of 1911. This act reads that a corporation employing five or more workers is liable for its employees if they are injured while operating dangerous mechanism.
