

SOLONS GRATIFIED AT PROGRESS MADE

Lawmakers Expect to Put Across Important Legislation During Week.

ONE FIGHT IS CERTAIN

Garnishee Bill Is Due to Encounter Rough Weather
—Labor Opposing It.

(National News Association)
INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 10.—Gratified with the progress thus far accomplished, lawmakers, big and little, started in this afternoon on the second half of the present session of the General Assembly determined to put across some of the most important measures on tap.

Although insinuations were heard of undue haste and precipitate action on the Spencer public utilities commission measure, the members joined in hearty expressions of confidence in the wisdom of the framers of that measure, particularly in view of the fact that it carries the approval of Governor Ralston and his inner circle of counselors.

Spencer's measure calls for a commission of five members, to receive $6,000 each annually, to absorb the present state railroad commission and have general supervision over the public utilities of the state, with power to make valuations, and regulate rates for interurban, water, gas electric, steam railroads and other public service institutions.

There is a disposition on the part of advocates of the garnishee bill (Billman) to await the subsidence of the storm of opposition engendered against the measure by what appeared to be too zealous support on the part of merchants and other advocates who crowded the chamber and vigorously applauded the speeches in favor of its passage.

This open demonstration aroused labor organizations and resulted in a special meeting of labor leaders and others who threatened to get revenge later on if their professed friends in the legislature fail to put up a strong fight against it.

It was the intention to bring up the measure later in the week in a quiet way and shove it through without a repetition of demonstrations. It was generally conceded that the clamor of the grocers and other backers of the measure knocked their own game by attempting to bring too strong a pressure by their presence in the hall and blaring of the utterances of Representative Thornton and other opponents of any kind of garnishee bill which they asserted would not make dishonest workmen honest.

The bill would permit only ten per cent of a man's wages to be taken for ordinary debts when contracted for the necessities of life.

The anti-cocaine bill, so-called, introduced by Keegan (Indianapolis) and aimed at the indiscriminate sale of habit-forming drugs, but amended by Sands (South Bend) in a manner which caused Keegan to attempt to entirely withdraw it, has been engrossed, and the sentiment of the supporters of the original bill has grown in favor of its passage in its present shape in the belief that great good will result, although perhaps not all that they desired.

A senate caucus Tuesday will decide the question as to whether Senator Shively's public utility bill shall be pushed, or Representative Spencer's house measure approved. Spencer is quoted as being agreeable to have the Shively bill made to conform to his measure and surrender the honor to Shively of having fashioned so important a reform. The "throw her in the high" faction predicted a record-breaking week's work.

MARIE RITA SUETANS AND C. V. HALL.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The immigration officials have not decided whether they shall deport Marie Rita Suetans, eighteen years old, who was brought to New York about a year ago by Charles Victor Hall, the multi-millionaire oil magnate. The immigration authorities are holding Miss Suetans because of the fact that Mrs. Hall recently secured a divorce in Los Angeles, naming the girl as co-respondent. Hall first met the girl when she was selling flowers in a small shop in Paris.

When Gingerbread Was Up.

In speaking of the cost of living an old army officer tells his experience when the Federal army was camped before Richmond:

"We got our pay one day, and each man started out to discover how he might spend it. An enterprising baker had set up a portable bake oven near the camp, and he was turning out a full line of his gineracks to tempt the soldiers. I found the odor from a big slab of gingerbread irresistible, so I ordered $2 worth. The baker took my greenback, placed it on the corner of the gingerbread slab and with a cleaver he cut off for me the rectangle that the bill covered!"

Successful Expedient.

"I tried to sing my youngest boy to sleep," said Senator Sorghum, "but it wouldn't work. Then I told him a story, and that wouldn't work either."

"How did you get him to sleep?"

"My wife came to the rescue with one of her clever suggestions. I delivered one of my speeches to him."

SUNDAY AMUSEMENT HAS BECOME ISSUE

Lively Fight Over the Zearing Measure Is Promised in the Legislature.

NASTY RUMORS OUT

Bill Legalizing Liquor Sales on Most Holidays Also to Get Hard Fight.

(National News Association)

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 10.—Joy in the hearts of Sunday pleasure seekers of Indiana may be turned into gloom when the Sunday theater and amusement bill sponsored by Senator Zearing of Indianapolis, comes up for final passage this week.

The Zearing measure, which would legalize moving pictures, concert and theatrical performances between the hours of 1 p. m. and 11 p. m. on Sundays has been favorably reported by the Public Morals committee of the Senate, and was generally considered to be on the highway to success when ministers of the gospel and other advocates of strict Sabbath observance started agitation against it.

Nasty rumors concerning the pernicious activity of moving picture show lobbyists are rife. Suggestions of public indignation meetings were numerous, not alone in Indianapolis, but throughout the state, according to reliable reports.

The proposal to amend the state law regarding the sale of liquor on holidays in a manner to make the Fourth of July, Labor Day and certain other holidays "wide open" for the saloonists and their patrons intensified the feeling of the so-called "straight laced" citizens, particularly because it was introduced at nearly the same time as the Sunday theater bill, and by the same author, Zearing.

It is pointed out that the bill passed several years ago legalizing Sunday baseball encountered a strenuous opposition, and as a retaliatory movement now against the new measure a threat has been thrown out that efforts will be made to have the Sunday baseball measure repealed.

It is argued by the antis that a halt must be called sooner or later and the present time offers a golden opportunity to come back at the alleged Sunday desecration element.

The senatorial public morals committee which favorably reported the Sunday theater bill was headed by Senator William Kraus of Elkhart and the other members are Jenkins of Kokomo, Gelets of Muncie, Cleveland of Evansville, Baber of Roann, Treadman of Columbus.

The public sentiment regarding Sunday amusements is believed to be pretty evenly divided with a large passive element that considers the question of little importance one way or the other, but it is conceded that both of Senator Zearing's liberal measure, will encounter a stormy opposition before they become laws.

"The poor people of this city are in better straits than in many cities in the state the size of Richmond and have not increased in number in proportion to the population" said the township trustee. "However, we are having a number of calls for aid."

One case of poverty reported was in the home of an old German resident of the city, where an aged woman was without coal, food or funds to procure necessities of life. Her condition was reported to the trustee who gave assistance. She is the widow of a Civil War veteran and was compelled to pay all pension money for medical aid during her illness.
