

HAVOC PLAYED BY WIND THRU WAYNE COUNTY

stunts were played by the wind which at times amounted to a gale. Much damage from the storm is reported from the north and west.

All toll lines from the Citizens Telephone company have been out of order and a large force of men are repairing the damage caused by falling trees and telephone poles. Almost all communication from surrounding towns has been cut off.

The large smokestack of the Cambridge City Casket company was blown down early this morning, crashing into a small shed below and crushing it. The same accident occurred in a similar manner last year. The smoke stack of the Cambridge City Laundry was also blown down.

Farmers suffered in having straw stacks and small buildings blown over. One farmer reported that four chicken sheds which he recently erected, were blown over and carried several yards by the wind, releasing about fifty fowls, several of which were killed, being crushed under the sheds.

The west fork of the Whitewater River is swollen and a large amount of debris from the storm is being carried down the stream. The storm is believed to have been very severe north of here.

TREES BLOWN DOWN.

(Palladium Special.)

CENTERTOWN, Ind., March 21.—Damage from the wind in the rural districts is reported small although roofs were torn from several buildings. Several large trees were blown down, one near Jackson Park having struck a smaller tree splitting its top to the ground.

TREES BLOCK ROADS.

(Palladium Special.)

GERMANTOWN, Ind., March 21.—Much damage to trees and fences is reported here as a result of the wind storm. Large trees were uprooted here, blocking the roads to the south. Large hay stacks were blown over and the hay and straw scattered. At one point north of here, a fence was torn loose and carried to the center of the road. The devastation to the roofs of sheds is said to be large, several smaller buildings have been turned over by the gale.

FLAG TORN FROM POLE.

(Palladium Special.)

PENNVILLE, Ind., March 21.—Little damage was done here but nearby farms suffered losses through the gale and the heavy rain which accompanied it. Fields are standing under water. A large American flag was found flapping in the top of a large poplar tree south of here, having been torn loose from a pole at a school house. The wind tore the flag loose from the trees this morning and it was recovered.

HACK BLOWN OVER.

(Palladium Special.)

GREENSBORO, Ind., March 21.—Trees were uprooted and telephones blown down by the fierce wind storm which struck this section last night. Throughout the rural districts of Greensboro roofs of barns were blown off. Part of the roof of the Gaylor building was blown off here.

A peculiar incident occurred when the school hackdriver was driving his hack to the country preparing to carry some of the school children to school. An unusually strong wind knocked the hack over. No damage was done to the driver or the horses.

Practical Piety.

The goodly minister saw one of his parishioners running rapidly down the road, trying to keep in sight of a retreating form ahead.

"Ah," called the minister, "whither away, my brother?"

Seeing the race was lost anyway, the chaser stopped and pantingly replied: "That confounded thief stole my coat!"

"Ah, and you were following the Scriptural admonition to give him your cloak also, were you?"

"No," said the parishioner frankly, "but I intended, if I caught him, to give him a belt!"—Judge.

Italy's Marriage Brokers.

In Italy marriage brokers are a regular institution. They have pocketbooks filled with the names of marriageable maidens in various ranks of life and go about trying to arrange matches. When they are successful they receive a commission, and very likely something extra as a voluntary gift from their customer.

A RICH WOMAN HAS A FAD FOR JEWELS

Widow of "Lucky" Baldwin Startles Los Angeles With Display of Gems.

(National News Association)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 21.—Dazzling with brilliancy more radiant than a full-flashed search light, California's diamond queen, Mrs. Clara Stocker, $12,000,000 heiress of the late "Lucky" Baldwin, is the sensation among the beautifully gowned women who are attending the grand opera.

Diamonds—Bery and sparkling as a first fire—glitter from Mrs. Stocker's diamond-studded gold satin pumps, diamond-embroidered imported gold-fish net stockings, diamond ring decked hands, to the $55,000 collar and diamond star drop, wonderful earrings and flashing diamond hair ornament.

Diamonds on Her Stockings. Gowned in a gorgeous décolleté dress of flashing goldfish net over gold satin, slit up one side to reveal diamond-studded stockings and diamond buckled pumps, together with her sparkling diamond-studded crown, Mrs. Stocker a queen who has stepped from a fairy book waving a magic wand which turns everything to diamonds.

Mrs. Stocker has a passion for the brilliant gems, sparing neither time nor money to obtain them.

A wonderful River diamond necklace with a diamond set star pendant two inches in width is the favorite piece in her jewel box. Two diamond rings whose settings are one-half inch square, and whose flashes are as vivid as the northern lights are also popular with her.

Recent Addition.

An exquisite coral necklace of the most delicate shade is a recent addition to the collection and is valued at $18,000. The other rings in which Mrs. Stocker delights are the ruby and diamond, emerald and diamond pair. They were made to order and are the only two which have been made. They are valued at $13,500 each.

Earrings which cast a light as glittering as motorlamps are features of the collection, being valued at over $20,000.

A magnificent ermine coat arrived for her at the Alexandria, where Mrs.

Stocker is staying. The modest bill was $7,000. She also owns a sealskin evening coat worth $5,400.

Diamonds Her Joy.

"Diamonds are my joy," said Mrs. Stocker. "I love them. I haven't an idea what my collection is worth, by several thousand dollars. Why, the jewels I wear to the opera will be valued at $167,000, and I have many more in the safety deposit."

Mrs. Stocker, however, keeps none of her wealth of jewels in her home. When not actually in use they are all consigned to the fastnesses of a safe deposit vault.

New shipment of hats just arrived at Sharkey's, 1213 Main Street.

Disinterested.

"What a splendid woman she is!" "I am glad to think you have got such a wife."

"Such a wife! Why, man, you have no idea of her generosity. When I was poor she refused to marry me because she was afraid of being a burden upon me, but the moment I came into my fortune she consented at once. What do you think of that for kindness?"
