

ASSOCIATION IS TO TAKE DRASIC STEP

West Richmond Residents Complain About Auto Speeders.

The West Side Improvement association at its regular meeting tomorrow night will take drastic steps towards stopping automobile speeders who have been constant annoyance and menace to the citizens of West Richmond for the past several years, according to its president, Dr. E. B. Grosvenor.

The members of the association have remonstrated with the police commissioners on account of the lack of police protection on the West Side and yesterday received reply to a letter which they sent to the commissioners January 6. In this reply, the members of the association say that there was nothing which would indicate any relief from the speed nuisance. The public service committee of the association held a meeting this afternoon to devise some plan by which the speeders can be caught and punished.

Dr. Grosvenor stated today that the police commissioners will be charged with inefficiency and that the police force will be denounced as incapable of discharging the duties assigned them by law.

"For years," he said, "we have been trying to stop the speeders who menace our lives all day and almost all night on every day in the year that it is possible to run an automobile. The police will not help us and now we are going to find out who is to blame for this."

Dr. Grosvenor also stated that efforts will be made to catch members who have been speeding as well as persons from other parts of the city. No plan for stopping the speeding has been devised as yet but the public service committee composed of Richard Sedgwick, Charles Moore and John Ellerman will prepare a report to the association Friday night. This will be the final meeting of the year.

VEILED LADIES.

Three Men Who Won Literary Laurels Under Feminine Names.

One of the most famous cases of a man writer winning fame under a woman's name was that of the late William Sharp, who kept his identity with "Flora Macleod" a close secret during his life, and it was only after his death that the public was made aware that "her" remarkable novels were the work of the well known critic and essayist. Their style seemed so characteristically feminine that even the most astute critics believed that they were written by a woman's hand.

Another famous writer, Laurence Housman, known already as a poet and artist, made a third and most successful appearance before the public as a "veiled lady." A remarkable book appeared entitled "An Englishwoman's Love Letters," which all the critics praised and all the clubs and literary circles talked about. Who was this woman who had laid her heart bare? The critics agreed that, whoever she was, she understood her sex to perfection. The secret was kept very close for a time, and then, to everybody's immense amazement, the real author was revealed as a man after all.

Very few people probably will recall the undoubted fact that one of the greatest of Victorian poets, Algernon Charles Swinburne, hid his identity occasionally under the very matter of fact: feminine nom de plume of "Mrs. Horace Manners," while another and much beloved singer on the other side of the Atlantic, the charming Quaker poet, John Greenleaf Whittier, used frequently as a pen name the unromantic one of "Margaret Smith." AN AGRICULTURAL AGENT IS ADVISED

T. A. Coleman Suggests A. D. Cobb to Take Charge of Wayne County Work.

At a meeting of farmers, bankers and members of the board of county education, T. A. Coleman this afternoon recommended the appointment of Alexander D. Cobb of Aurora, Ind., for the position of Agricultural agent in Wayne county. Mr. Coleman is to have charge of all agricultural agents in the various counties in the state and his recommendation of Mr. Cobb will probably be acted upon favorably, according to members of the board of education, which body makes the appointment.

Mr. Coleman gave a short address before recommending Mr. Cobb, reviewing the work of Prof. Christie when he first attempted to scientifically develop the farm of Indiana. Mr. Coleman said he was glad that only seventeen applications for the agricultural agents had been made as the state officials could devote more attention to the work of seventeen agents than to thirty. The farmers were urged not to be discouraged if they could not see immediate results as the agent, if accepted, would have to adapt himself to local conditions and the first year here might not show any great results. The longer he is maintained the more efficient his services will be, and at the end of ten years he will be worth ten times more to Wayne county than the first year according to Mr. Coleman.

Mr. Cobb is an experienced farmer and graduate of the Agricultural department of Purdue University. He completed his course in 1911 and since that time has been engaged in experimental work in various parts of the state. His main work has been at Aurora. His specialties are animal husbandry, or stock raising; soil analysis and crops in general. His qualifications seemed to be satisfactory to the farmers who attended the meeting which was held in the office of the County Supt. Williams in the court house.

Christie Not Present.

Prof. G. I. Christie of the Agricultural Department of Purdue University, was unable to attend the meeting. He endorsed Mr. Cobb for the position here.
