

SHOULD USE SAND IN MAKING ROADS

Theories of County Commissioners Confirmed by Roads Expert.

County Commissioner Anderson is in receipt of a communication from the good roads department of the agriculture of the United States government in answer to a question as to the advisability of placing sand on the first coat of crushed stone.

Paul D. Seagen, head of the good roads department, confirmed the theories of the commissioners and former County Surveyor Horton, that it was essential in the proper construction of roads.

Recent exposure of the methods employed by contractors in failing to build roads in Wayne county according to the plans and specifications prompted the query. The contractors have failed to use sand in the first coat of crushed stone, and stated to the commissioners that it was unnecessary, and in fact, a detriment to the roads. The contractors who are building roads in the county under the three-mile road law will be compelled to live up to the specifications of the contracts which specify that sand shall be used. They have remonstrated against such action on the part of the commissioners and thought as it had not been enforced in the past it should not be enforced at this time.

The contractors were told to build roads according to the specifications until they received information that it was not advisable to use sand. The government report alone is not responsible for the decision of the commissioners in compelling the contractors to use sand in making the roads. Road supervisors who were appointed by the commissioners have not been doing their duty, according to the county officials.

STATES RUBBISH IS THROWN ON ROADWAY

Farmers along the Ernest R. Cox road on the boundary between Randolph and Wayne counties have improved their land along the roadway to the detriment of the road according to one farmer of that community who appeared before the county commissioners yesterday. It is alleged that the farmers along the road have been replacing their railfences with wire fences and instead of hauling away the stones and debris, which had been thrown in the corners formed by the zig zag rail fences, the rubbish had been thrown on the roadway.

Murrette.

Today will be the last opportunity to see that much talked about picture "Resurrection" at the Murrette as the picture is scheduled for a tour through the state of Illinois that will take at least three months to cover. Considering the extreme hot weather fair sized crowds have attended the Murrette during the past three days and nothing but praise of the highest terms have been heard from all sides. It is not often that a genuine production like this is offered patrons of picture houses and it will possibly be a long time before anything of like nature will be offered Richmond's public.

"In the Bishop's Carriage."

The Francis Sayles Players are playing to excellent business at The Murray Theatre this week with "In the Bishop's Carriage" and the play is giving satisfaction. There will be another popular matinee Saturday.

Our New Minister.

The comedy of "Our New Minister" is one of solid qualities. In its story, in its characters and in its situations and dialogue it is easily one of the brightest plays of recent years.

Francis Sayles who has made many friends by his excellent work in the other plays will be seen next week in the part of the quaint town constable. This will be the first time Mr. Sayles has ever attempted to play a character comedy part. However he has seen Mr. Conyers play the part several times and is giving it a great deal of study.

Another new member of the company will be seen in this play, Mr. Cash E. Tomlinson, who joined the company this week. Mr. Tomlinson is well known in Richmond having appeared here several times with other companies. He will play the part of Lem Ramson.

The Squaw Man.

Following "Our New Minister" the first time here at popular prices Francis Sayles Players will present for "The Squaw Man" which was played by Wm. Faversham for two seasons in all the larger cities. Most of the members of Mr. Sayles' company appeared in this play at New Castle, Pa., several weeks ago.

The Theaters

Despite the intense heat of last night, the Murray theater was well filled, when the Francis Sayles players presented "In the Bishop's Carriage."

One of the attractive features of the play was the appearance of a "real automobile" on the stage at the end of the first act. The artist who made the scenery for this week's performance did excellent work as it is all very pretty. The first scene is on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Ramsey. The scene is very attractive and makes a pretty picture when the guests gather on the lawn near the Ramsey home. Miss Olga Worth, leading lady, is unusually good this week. She does her part exceedingly well and in that it is different from any part she has taken since her engagement in this city, shows great interpretative ability.

Miss Worth takes the part of Nance Olden.

Mr. Sayles is very good in the part of William Latimer, a lawyer. Edward Ramsay, who always has a "jag" on is taken by J. J. Flynn. Evelyn Kincaid is up to her usual standard. The play is in four acts and is well worth seeing. Next week "Our New Minister" will be presented.

8,240 GALLONS OF GASOLINE ESCAPED

(Palladium Special)

EATON, O., June 19.—A loss estimated at about $1,300 was suffered by the Eaton Pure Oil company Tuesday, when a valve under a tank car failed to operate and permitted the escape of 8,240 gallons of gasoline. Employees were unable to stop the flow of the explosive and in a few moments' time a veritable stream was running from the car into Seven Mile creek, more than two miles away. Fearing that an explosion might occur, no trains were allowed over the track for an hour, and traffic was thrown off schedule. The car had just been set and preparations were being made to run the gasoline from the tank into the company's plant. O. F. Mikesell is at the head of the company.

COMMISSION FROM U. S. IN HUNGARY

System of Agricultural Credit There is of Great Value.

(National News Association)

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 19.—In a special train provided by the Hungarian government the American Commission on Agricultural Co-operation was brought here from Flume, the principal Hungarian sea-port.

The agriculture of Hungary lacks the extreme intensiveness which was so marked in Italy, probably because of insufficient labor. Rural Hungary more closely resembles rural America than any other country of Europe.

In years past Hungary, like the United States, resorted to foreign immigration to increase her population. But wars and the too rapid increase of foreign peoples prevented any assimilation and today in Hungary there are Magyars, Germans, Slovaks, Roumanians, Croats, Servians, Savons and what not, all clinging to their languages and fighting against race extinction. In every attempt made to further the agricultural interests of the country these conditions had to be taken into consideration. The big estates owned by the nobility complicated matters. The serfs were given their freedom just at the time when the landed nobility was financially in the worst condition.

But despite these handicaps the Hungarian Government has constructed a system of agricultural credit both for mortgage loans and for short time credit needs of the farmers which has proven of the greatest value. Government aid has played an important part in the work.

The mortgage credit institutions of Hungary are neither purely co-operative nor strictly private. The oldest and most important mortgage bank of Hungary is the Hungarian Land Mortgage Institute, founded in 1863. The government contributed $200,000 of the capital stock of the company and the balance was subscribed by "founders" who, however, were only required to play in 10 per cent of the amount of the stock for which they subscribed. These founders receive a dividend limited to 5 per cent of their subscriptions. Besides the founders, every landowner who placed a mortgage with the bank is a member of the bank. Only mortgagors who have a mortgage indebtedness to the bank of at least $20,000 have any personal voice in the affairs of the bank. The other members may elect representatives to the general meeting. Of course as soon as a farmers' mortgage expires his membership in the bank ends.

Under this form of organization the Hungarians attempted to secure the co-operative principle of representation of the borrowing farmers, while at the same time placing the greater part of the power in the hands of the founders. Only the founders have the power to elect the president and board of control. The management has fallen into the hands of a few men who, however, have so managed its affairs for the public good that it has satisfactorily met the mortgage demands of Hungarian landowners. With the fault, however, that its business is carried on almost exclusively with large landowners. The process of securing money to lend landowners is that of selling bonds equal in amount to the mortgages placed with the bank and secured by the mortgages, and, secondly, by the capital and reserve funds of the bank.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.

There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SUGAR TRUST AGENT'S 'SWIMMING HOLES'

Witness Before Lobby Investigation Today.

(National News Association)

WASHINGTON, June 19.—With Harry Austin, clerk of the Washington bureau of the beet sugar lobby on the stand, the Overman investigating committee further delved into the letter files of the American Beet Sugar company today. Austin frequently was requested to identify letters from Henry T. Oxnard the moving spirit of the Washington sugar lobby, and from C. B. Warren of Michigan, who also is active in the campaign against free sugar.

After two letters had been put in evidence, John W. Yerkes, counsel for Mr. Oxnard, and for Truman G. Paumer, requested that the reading of the letters be discontinued in cases where those letters were written before the present session of congress. Yerkes contended that the resolution distinctly limited the investigation to matters transpiring since the beginning of the extra session on April 7.

Senator Walsh insisted that the investigation should go on. He stated that the reading of the letters tended to show the business in which the authors are at present engaged. Chairman Overman stated that Mr. Yerkes' argument would be considered in executive session.

(National News Association)

BERLIN, June 19.—Andrew Carnegie, the American steel king, who is trying to eradicate war, and who came here to present Emperor William with an address forty-four American peace and pacification societies in connection with the kaiser's quarter centennial jubilee, departed for Switzerland today declaring that he believes that a big step toward world-wide peace has been made.

"Emperor William is a great power to be enlisted in our behalf," said Mr. Carnegie. "Although he is called the 'war lord of Europe,' I can assure the world that the thought of war is as hateful to him as to any other man."

WHY WORKING GIRLS DESERT THE CHURCH

(National News Association)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 19.—Working girls in Missouri do not go to church because they are ashamed to watch the collection plate go by them without being able to drop in a dime, according to a statement of Miss Louise Mittlestadt, organizer of the women's trade union league, at the first session of the Missouri senate committee, investigating Kansas City wage conditions.

"The church expects one to contribute," said Miss Mittlestadt. "The average working girl cannot afford it, so she stays away from church."
