

SCARCITY OF MEN CAUSES HIGH BIDS

Contractors Say Laborers and Teams Cannot Be Secured.

Scarcity of labor and teams is the cause given by contractors for high bids submitted today on bridge improvements to the county commissioners. There were thirteen bidders on the twelve bridges to be repaired in Wayne county, most of which were damaged by spring floods. The bids were unusually high and the Veal bridge, Paddy bridge, Horace Miller bridge, E. M. Hoover bridge and the Burris bridge will not be constructed until lower bids have been submitted. Improvements being made on roads and buildings in this community have exhausted the supply of laboring men, the contractors said, when asked as to the reason why the bids were not lower. The following roads are being improved or made: Adair Bartel road, Richmond and Newport turnpike, Chas Minor road, National Road East improvement, as well as many city streets. The price of teams has gone up to $4.50 and $5.00 per day.

The Ernest R. Cox road contract was let to A. T. Coggeshall who submitted the lowest bid. The road is on the border line of Wayne and Randolph county. His bid was $7,830.

FATHER AND MOTHER HAD TWIN RELATIVES

William Farwig Had Twin
Aunts and Wife Twin
Aunt and Uncle.

Up to the time of the birth of the triplets to Mr. and Mrs. William Farwig, 323 South Sixth street, Robert Graham, 48, of this city, and his brother, Samuel, of Cincinnati, had the distinction of being the survivors of the only triplets ever born in this city.

The Farwig triplets were named yesterday afternoon. The first girl who was born at 8 o'clock Wednesday night was named Cora Belle after an aunt, Mrs. Ed King, 420 South Eighth street; the second girl, who was born five minutes after midnight, Thursday morning will be called Bertha Josephine, after another aunt, Mrs. Henry Farwig. The one born at 12:15 Thursday morning was named Colburn Wilson Farwig, the name Colburn being given in honor of Dr. C. P. Colburn, the attending physician, and Wilson, after President Woodrow Wilson.

William Farwig, father of the triplets stated today that he has twin aunts and Mrs. Farwig, the mother, had a twin aunt and uncle.

300 ATTEND LECTURE

W. R. Rathvon Spoke At Hagerstown Last Night.

(Palladium Special)
HAGERSTOWN, June 21.—Approximately three hundred persons attended the lecture given here last night by W. R. Rathvon, under the auspices of the Christian Science Society of Hagerstown. Many out-of-town people attended the lecture, most of whom were from Richmond. Machines were provided by the citizens of Hagerstown to take the visitors to Cambridge after the address, there being no trains running between Hagerstown and Richmond at that time.

Whooping Cough.
"I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy ever since I have been keeping house and I consider it one of the best medicines I have ever used. My children have all used it and it works like a charm for colds and whooping cough. In fact, I consider it good for any kind of a throat or lung trouble and do not think any household complete without it," writes L. C. Haines, of Marbury, Ala. You will look a good while before you find a better preparation than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for colds and whooping cough in children. It contains no narcotic and is pleasant to take. For sale by all dealers.

A DOG IN A GALE.

Able to Keep His Feet Where a Man
Would Be Blown Away.

A gale that blows a man off his feet does not bother a dog at all. He will run about unconcernedly while his master walks with the greatest difficulty. This is for the most reason that a high building is more affected than a low one by a gale. It is also because the dog has four legs to support his body, while a man has only two.

With tonsils set a yacht would capsize in a gale which it would ride out with safety if only its lower sails were set, for the leverage exerted by the wind increases in proportion to the height at which the sails are set. A man by reason of his height receives far more force from the wind than does a dog.

Then, again, a dog's center of gravity is much lower in proportion to his height than is a man's; consequently he is not nearly so tippy. And it is obvious that any object supported on four legs is more stable than if supported on two.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

CLERK FAILED TO NOTIFY OFFICIAL

Harvey Turner Held in County Jail After Being Pardoned.

Harvey Turner, inmate of the county jail who was pardoned June 18 by Governor Ralston, was not given his freedom until today. The papers were sent to the county clerk, and, according to the sheriff he was not notified until today that Turner had been pardoned. The papers have remained in the office of the clerk without the proper authorities being notified, according to Sheriff Bayer. Clerk Matthews stated that the papers should not have been sent to him. He said they should have been sent to the sheriff direct. This is the only reason given by the clerk for not notifying the sheriff. He said the papers had no right in his office than they had in a grocery store. A damage suit may be filed against the clerk alleging negligence and wrongful detention.

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE

BIBLE STUDY ON
WOES, ANCIENT AND MODERN.
Amos 6:1-8—June 22.

"Seek good, and not evil, that ye may live."—Amos 5:15.
It is safe to say that everybody is seeking good, and not evil. Everybody is seeking pleasure, and not misery—happiness, and not woe. The difficulty is that our judgments are more or less perverted. Some have greater wisdom than others; but there is none perfect, "none righteous, no, not one." All come short of the glorious standard which God has set.

The difficulty is that we were all born in sin, and are all misshapen. Not only our bodies are imperfect, but our brains are unbalanced—some one way, some another. Consequently young men and maidens, looking forth from childhood upon the problems of life, have various conceptions of happiness, and make various resolutions and endeavors respecting the filling of their cup with blessings—long life, riches, honor, etc.

The teachers of our schools have a most wonderful opportunity for influencing the course of humanity. We rejoice that they are striving nobly for the fulfillment of gracious, benevolent ideals, and are using their opportunities for blessing their pupils. Yet evidently many of them have but a slight appreciation of their privileges. Some, of course, like the remainder of the world, are selfish, and think of their work from the business standpoint—so much work, so much pay.

The first and chief responsibility for children rests upon their parents, the majority of whom, no doubt, to some extent recognize that responsibility in God's sight and man's. But they labor under the difficulties of their own ignorance. They know not the proper course to take for themselves. Their lives have been a succession of blunders, and they presume that their children must blunder similarly. Not seeing the principles underlying life's experiences, they are unable to guide their children intelligently. But how little any one seems able to accomplish, and how discouraged philanthropists become!

On the whole, however, a broad view of the past fifty years shows progress in many directions. Our cities are cleaner—both physically and morally—at least so far as outward appearances are concerned. No longer does vice flaunt itself in the face of society. The battle against intoxication and the social evil is making progress in that it has made former conditions impossible. In some states the progress has been more than in others.

New Issues Now—New Temptations.
Our lesson tells of a time in the history of Israel when many of the nation's wisest and most brilliant people had settled down to ease and luxury—self-gratification. They considered that they had won in the battle of life, and would now enjoy the fruits of their diligence. The Lord through the Prophet upbraided them, declaring He was not pleased with such a course. He told them that woes would result.

The mission of Amos was to call attention to the fact that aggressive selfishness had accumulated great riches, that the wealthy were living in luxury and that these conditions fostered pride and moral laxity amongst the wealthy, while the poor were being filled with avarice, losing respect for God, religion, truth and mercy. Society was on the edge of a volcano, and God declared that an eruption was at hand.

Present Day Conditions Correspond.
Our lesson is not inappropriate to our times. Notwithstanding the progress made, notwithstanding the philanthropic sentiments of many, inside and outside Christian denominations, nevertheless there is danger. First of all, let us consider the danger of the rich. The wealth of today reaches to a certain extent to the very humblest, and scatters blessings. But the bulk of the world's wealth is in the hands of the few.

The inordinately rich are in great danger of injuring themselves. Some cannot devise means by which to consume even their incomes. Luxuries of every kind are tasted in hope of finding happiness. Not succeeding, they still pursue it. Wealth brings increased opportunity for sin in its various forms, including debauching. The influence upon the poor is notable. The latter, seeking pleasure, imagine erroneously that the rich and indolent are finding it, while they themselves seek in vain. Thus the poor, surrounded by the wonderful blessings of our day, are often miserable, because their minds are discontented. They desire happiness, and believe that they can obtain it only through wealth. The result is that their hearts are filling with anger, malice, and jealousy of the rich.

Both rich and poor need to learn the great lesson that pleasure lies, not in self-indulgence, but in self-sacrifice—in service of others. God's Message to both classes is, "Seek righteousness, seek meekness."—Zephaniah 2:3.

Senator's Wife is a Weather Expert

MRS. HENRY F. ASHURST.

Mrs. Henry F. Ashurst, wife of the Arizona senator, and one of the most popular women in the congressional set in Washington, was once chief observer in the United States weather bureau station at Flagstaff, Ariz. She says that she counts that time when she was the only woman at the bureau and had a staff of young men under her, among the most profitable and interesting years of her life. She was born in Ireland, came to this country on a visit to relatives, secured a position with the government, and was sent down into the southwest as the first woman weather observer. Down there she met and married Senator Ashurst, who was the son of a wealthy ranch owner.

GIRL IS ATTACKED; A NEGRO ARRESTED

Payton Lytle Charged With Striking Elnora
Crittenden.

Payton Lytle, colored, attacked Elnora Crittenden, colored, at Fourth and Main streets last night. Lytle was arrested and charged with assault and battery. He will appear in police court Monday morning. Lytle and the girl had had a quarrel several days ago when the man met her and he struck her several times.

Miss Tillie Young—"Oh, look at my hands! They're all cracking open and they're so sore. I do hate this old washing—steaming the house up and tiring everybody out!"

Anty Drudge—"Well, I don't know what you use to make your hands in that condition, but I know you don't use Fels-Naptha Soap. After this, take my advice, and do all your work with Fels-Naptha."

Ordinary soaps waste time and strength. Fels-Naptha Soap saves both, and keeps you cool in mind and body.

Fels-Naptha washes clothes better and more easily than any other soap or washing powder; it works best in cool or lukewarm water, and does away with hard rubbing or boiling. It does all kinds of work as well and easily as it does the weekly washing.
