

OVER 2,000 ATTEND EARLHAM EXERCISES

sang a song the chorus of which ran "We've got a new gym." They wound up their stunt with the first yell ever given at Earlham, which is:

"Rah, rah, rah,
Ri, ro, reh,
Ear-h-ham,
Thee Thou Rah."

Wearing of Caps and Gowns.

The group from '96-1900 began by giving the class yell. As the marks of progress which had taken place in that four years different members of the classes, mentioned the giving of the Day Rodgers room in Lindley Hall, the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Friends' boarding School which was celebrated in '97, and the wearing of the Oxford Caps and gowns for the first time by the seniors of '96.

Painting of the Rock.

The younger generation that had inhabited the Halls of Earlham from '01-'05, gave a pantomime on the painting of the rock of '77. A man representing the rock came in and seated himself on a bucket. He was followed by other characters whose parts were announced by placards which they carried. The placards bore the words "Cloud," "Tree," "Moon" and "Noise." When "Noise" was absent and the "Moon" was behind the "Cloud" two masked vandals painted the "rock."

An Illustrated Lecture.

For the alumni from '06-'10 Lawrence Smelser and O. M. Frazer gave an illustrated reading. Frazer read the history of Earlham during that period of four years. The story was written in the style of the first book of the Bible. One verse dealing with the printing of the college annual was, "Let us draw Prexy in his own image and after his own likeness. And let him have dominion over every living and every dead thing between the bindings of this annual. And it was so."

The class of 1911 in addition to calling attention to the fact that it had given $1,000 to the school burlesqued Morton Pearson and Bush Haworth holding up the Earlham Alumna and demanding her money.

For the class of 1912 Miss Pauline White and G. A. Lahaman sang a duet. Reviewed Past Year.

The present students reviewed the entire school year. Nothing was omitted. They touched upon the opening of school and the coming of new students. They repeated the football, and basketball seasons, awarded the "E," and aped the faculty reception.

MARSHAL ISSUES A WARNING ABOUT 4TH

Says Small Chinese Firecracker is Dangerous—Fire Losses.

FOURTH OF JULY HINTS.

[By W. E. Longley, State Fire Marshal.]

Clean up all rubbish in yards and alleys.

Close tightly all stables, out-houses and packing rooms. Cellular windows, also.

Wet down any area of roof, where there is danger of fire.

Observe all local ordinances pertaining to fireworks.

Be careful of the small Chinese firecracker. It destroys more property than any other Fourth of July contrivance.

Hang out your flags, rest and keep cool.

(National News Association)
INDIANAPOLIS, June 24.—The first report on Indiana fires, based on official figures, practically complete, shows a fire loss of $174,322 for the first week in June. There were two hundred fires.

These figures have been compiled by W. E. Longley, state fire marshal, from reports made to him by township trustees, town clerks and fire chiefs all over the state. They represent fires occurring during the seven days mentioned, while estimates previously made were based on fires reported during a certain period. Some of such fires may have occurred slightly prior to the given period.

The machinery of the fire marshal's office is now in working order. Fires are, in most cases, being promptly reported, the law specifying that a report must be filed within ten days.

Record Unusually High.

The record for the first week in June is unusually high, the rate being a little more than twenty-eight fires daily, with a daily loss of nearly $60,000. This is practically double the figures shown by first estimates, and would mean a loss of $9,100,000 in a year.

There were thirty-one contributing causes for these two hundred fires, sparks from chimneys being the most positive factor. Thirty-six fires were caused by sparks.

Lightning came next with thirty-one fires to its credit.

Of the total loss, $95,077 was on buildings and $79,245 on contents. The average loss to reach fire was $871.

JEWELERS MEETING LARGELY ATTENDED

Exchange Views Regarding Business Activity—Interesting Talks.

(National News Association)
INDIANAPOLIS, June 24.—Several hundred members of the Indiana Retail Jewelers' Association opened a two days' convention here today for the purpose of exchanging views regarding subjects peculiar to that line of business activity and discussing various ways and means of promoting their mutual welfare.

This being the sixth annual gathering of members of the association, more than ordinary interest was manifested. Manufacturers and wholesale jewelers gave recognition to the event by arranging a costly exhibit of Silverware, watches and novelty jewelry at the headquarters of the convention at the Hotel Washington.

President C. C. Hanch of the Chamber of Commerce, delivered the welcoming address and F. S. Crebs of Frankfort, second vice president of the association responded after which Walter H. Mellor of Michigan City, the president, made his annual address, and Secretary O. P. M. Squires, Laporte, submitted his annual report. Interesting talks were scheduled by M. O. Cokerum, Oakland City, on "Judicial Advertising," J. P. Mulally, Indianapolis, on "The Jewelry Business of today," James Ogden, Indianapolis, on "The Law—How it will assist you," Mr. L. Tompkins, South Bend, on "Sales efficiency" and Ralph B. Clark, on "Organization."

Indianapolis jobbers will take the delegates to the theatre this evening and entertain them with a Dutch lunch at the German House.

On Wednesday Robert C. Apt, Chicago, Joseph E. Reagon, Indianapolis, and A. W. Anderson, Neenah, Wis., a representative of the American National Retail Jewelers Association will enlighten the assembled delegates with speeches on what they know about exchanging jewelry for real money, and Supt. T. C. Higginbotham of the South Bend Watch company, will conduct a "question box."

Some strictly private trade topics will be discussed behind closed doors and officers also will be elected.

The feminine visitors, incident to the convention, will be chaperoned by a committee headed by Mrs. J. P. Mulally, Indianapolis, who will be assisted by Mrs. O. P. Squires, Laporte, Mrs. Cora M. Foster, Tipton, and Miss Katherine Beck, Michigan City.

Nine experimenters in X-ray work have died from its effects.

MEN USE A STREET CORNER FOR CAFE

Kelley and Edsall to Continue "Party" in County Jail.

Supper on the corner of Sixth and South A streets was served last night at 6 o'clock by Ernest Kelley and Edward Edsall, who had purchased a large amount of canned goods, sandwiches and beer for a "party." Patrolman Rottinghaus appeared on the scene at the end of the first course and asked the men to move to the market yard on South Fifth street. They refused to do this and were placed under arrest for public intoxication. In police court this morning, they were given eleven days to continue the "party" in the county jail.
