mains and in making the proper connections.

Wants Strict Rule.
The need of an ordinance to govern the distribution of bills and advertising was brought up by J. E. Thatcher. He said the city bill distributor, paying for his license, should be considered barred, believing the work could be done to better advantage and with less trash on the streets. The matter was referred to the ordinance committee.

The removal of loads of dirt dumped in an alley between Richmond avenue and Chestnut street, between second and Third streets, which was brought up by Councilman Waidele, was referred to the board of works. Waidele also presented a remonstrance signed by forty-three residents of West Richmond, against the sheds which are being placed on the west side dumps. This matter was referred to the board of health.

The police department was instructed to investigate why piles of trash and paper had been placed in the alley south of Main street, between Tenth and Eleventh streets, concerning which William H. Bartel, Jr., entered complaint.

Transfer Funds.
Two ordinances recommending the transfer of funds, submitted by Controller McMahon, were passed. The first provides for the transfer of money appropriated for the municipal electric light and power plant from repairs to wiring to the amount of $81.22; $300 from the repairs to miscellaneous expenses; $100.12 from account of interest on sundry equipment. The second provides for the following transfers:

From controller's office expenses to treasurer's office expenses, $50; from registration and expenses city election 1913 to miscellaneous expenses of the parks, $200; from registration and election expenses 1913 to miscellaneous expenses of public buildings, $200; from city election 1912 to miscellaneous expenses of board of public works, $50.

City Controller McMahon's report for September showed the following totals: Cash on hand September 1, $35,785.57; receipts, $1,875.53; total, $37,661.10.
Disbursements, $13,420.84; balance on hand October 1, $24,238.26.
Sinking fund: balance on hand September 1, $12,706.26; receipts, $21.46; total, $12,727.72. Disbursements, $97,272.72.

COBB TO INTEREST FARMERS IN SHOW

Agent Wants Seed Corn
Hung up Not Later Than Oct. 11.

County Agent Cobb will endeavor to interest the farmers in the state corn show which will be held the second week in January, probably at Indianapolis.

The following statement is being given to Wayne county farmers.

Every ear of corn that is intended for seed next year should be hung up in a dry, well ventilated place, not later than October 11th.

This is the time to select large, well-matured seed ears instead of waiting until husking time, when it is impossible to distinguish between the late and early maturing ears. Fall selected seed corn has more vitality than corn selected in the spring. You want to know that every ear is well matured and from a good, healthy stock. Select ears from healthy stocks of medium height bearing two well formed mature ears. Select ears will bend over at a medium height and are on medium length shanks. The best seed ears are the best show ears. Save corn for a corn exhibit. Select about three times as much corn this fall as you will need for seed next spring. Three to five bushels a day will be a good day's work. Store in a well ventilated room. Don't pile two ears on top of each other. Allow them to dry out thoroughly without heating.

KOKOMO CITIZEN STUDIES GAS SYSTEM

Representing the city council of Kokomo, E. S. Hackett of that city, was in Richmond today studying the ordinance passed by the city council authorizing the Logan Natural Gas company to furnish gas for the city. The Logan company is extending its mains into the northern part of the state, and is negotiating with Kokomo relative to supplying that city. Before the Kokomo council acted on the matter the members wished to know something of the contract between Richmond and the company.

EXPECTS COMPANY TO MAKE PROPOSAL

S. S. I. Association Unable to Build Addition to Factory.

Proposals from the Indianapolis Glove company regarding either the purchase of the building or obtaining an option on it, are expected since the board of directors of the South Side Improvement Association refused to build the addition to the glove company factory. The regular meeting will be held tonight.

Members of the board of directors sent a refusal to the plan of the glove company to construct an addition to the present glove factory because there was no way to obtain $5,000, the cost of the addition. They asked that the glove company purchase the building or build the addition and secure an option on the building.

With the exception of the factory proposition, nothing will be done at the meeting tonight. This is the first meeting of the year and some time will be spent in getting settled for the season's work.
