

BOSS MURPHY WANTS SULZER CASE PUSHED

Orders Albany Henchmen to End Trial Before Election.

SESSION SECRET ONE

Judges Take Up Demand That Indictment Be Amended.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 15.—While the high court of impeachment was in secret session today, debating whether to amend the indictment against Governor Sulzer, word was flashed out of the capital that Tammany members of the court had been ordered to drop the fight to alter the articles of impeachment. The order was said to have come direct from Charles F. Murphy to proceed with the case. Murphy is said to desire that the impeachment trial be concluded at once instead of having it hanging on when the November election comes off in New York city.

Hurry calls were sent to all the state assembly members to return here at once. Their presence was desired so that if the Sulzer court of impeachment refused to amend article 4 of the accusations against the governor, the board of managers could at once present the matter to the assembly. Every Tammany vote was ordered to be on the ground as soon as possible.

Considers Demand. When court reconvened today it again resumed in secret session the prosecution's demand that the indictment be amended. John B. Stanchfield presented the form of amendment in his speech to the court. It took about as long for the court in secret session to find out that the lawyers would not stand for this proposition as it required for the first circulating round of personal chats that started the session.

Courts cannot amend the substance of a charge, this was the general legal opinion.

This left the court to fight over the question as to whether the article amended could be made the basis for conviction. There was a wide difference of opinion on this point.

Would Get Nothing. There would have been no trouble in getting a majority vote in favor of that convention right off the reel, but even with a majority ruling to that effect the majority would then find itself in a position where enough of the minority to prevent a two-thirds vote would refuse to sign on to the article on the ground that it was insufficient regardless of the evidence so that the majority would get nowhere as a net result.

There was a strong sentiment in the court in favor of going ahead with the charges and getting on to the article before the session ended for the week. The lay members of the court blamed the lawyers for delaying the case and said they would be ready to vote as the charges stood, but that the lawyers wanted the charges in technical form before they passed upon them.

Important Place Given to Stovall. Local Minister Heads Committee on Place and Preacher.

Rev. W. O. Stovall, of this city, is attending the state convention of the Baptist church of Indiana, which is now in session at Logansport, Ind. The Rev. Stovall is chairman of the committee on Place and Preacher, which has charge of the assignment of ministers to the various churches in the state.

More than 500 delegates are attending the meeting which opened last evening with the annual sermon delivered by the Rev. E. G. Shouse, of Greencastle, Ind.

Institute Opens. NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The Columbia Institute, the system of 250 lectures, recitals and concerts under the auspices of Columbia University, was opened with a lecture by Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the university, entitled "The Literature of Knowledge and the Literature of Power."

The membership of the institute, in which no educational qualification is required numbers almost a thousand, chiefly drawn from persons whose regular occupations preclude regular university attendance.

The institute will continue until April. Among the scheduled speakers are Winston Churchill, William Alken White, Samuel Bowles, Alfred Noyes, Seumas McManus and about 100 other men of prominence. Included in the lectures are several on practical subjects such as advertising, cookery, and sanitation. The bulk of the lectures, however, will be on literature, the arts and sciences.

Probe of Injuries. PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 15.—Investigation is under way today into the injuries of three students of Bradley Polytechnic school, who are in the hospital suffering from burns received during a fraternity initiation. William McClintock and Walter Kupper, of Peoria, and Tom Young, of Rockford, Ill., were treated with a solution of silver nitrate.

Palladium Want Ads Pay

SEDATE PROFESSOR SMILES AT ANSWERS OF FRESHMEN

Poor Freshmen!!! It is a shame to tell it on those poor innocent Earlham Freshmen, but there are so many caught in the same boat that no one need feel there is anything personal.

The Freshman entrance test was conducted Monday afternoon by Professor Alden, and the number of absurd, ridiculous, outrageous, "bone-head" mistakes that were made seemed impossible for anyone to pull off with a straight face.

Prof. Alden, naturally, did not expect perfect answers to all the questions in the required examination, but when he had finished reading the papers he felt that he had enough amusement to pay for his year's work.

It's "Do, Does, Don't." For instance, the poor innocents were asked to give the principal parts of the verb "do," and the first answer he read was "do, does, don't."

Well, that was a pretty good starter, so Prof. Alden leaned back in his chair, crossed his legs and prepared himself for the amusement to follow, which was amply forthcoming. The next thing he hit upon was the answers to the question, "What is the masculine of the word 'nun'?" And the answers ranged among the words "hermit," "friar" and "priest."

One student, however, being of an original turn of mind, and thinking it must be a catch question, concluded that the word "nun" must be masculine and consequently answered the question "nunness."

Next, "What is the masculine of the word 'witch'?" The Freshmen concluded that there aren't many things that are a witch, so the answers "devil," "sorcerer" and "goblin" were given.

Some Funny Answers. Then Prof. Alden ran on down the list of questions promiscuously, without noting whether it was Johnny, Jim or Mary to give the answer, and he found some of the following answers: "Give the feminine to executor." Answer, "executrine."

What is the possessive of "she"? Answer, "she's." "Give the principal parts of 'sit'." Answers, "set, sat, sitting; sit, sat, sitten; and set, sat, sit."

W. H. ROMEY SPEAKS

Local Man on Program At Lutheran Banquet.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 15.—W. H. Romey, of Richmond, Ind., was a speaker at the banquet of the fourth annual convention of the Olive Branch Federation of the Lutheran Brotherhood, comprised of the state of Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee, now in session here. Two hundred delegates are in attendance.

Following the dinner, J. F. Kramer, of Mansfield, O., a member of the Ohio legislature, spoke on good citizenship, and deplored the lack of interest of the voters in things of vital importance to them.

The Rev. S. J. McDowell, central district field secretary, spoke on "The Brotherhood of Man as a Fellow Servant." He said there is too much pleasure seeking in this age, and declared that the ministry is in sore need of good men to assist them in their fight for righteousness.

ORCHESTRA TO PLAY

High School Musicians to Give Program At Chapel.

Friday morning will be musical morning at the chapel exercises in the auditorium. The school orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Sloane, will furnish the music. The chorus has not held enough rehearsals to appear on the program, but probably will be able to appear at the next musical program, which will be in about three weeks.

Following is the program which will be presented Friday: "The Peacemaker," Alfred March, "El Capitan," Sousa, "Hungarian Dance," Drahme, "Overture," Faust, Gounod, "Melody in F," Rubenstein, "Pavane," Chopin, "Robyn Hood," "The Peacemaker," Alfred March, "The Peacemaker," Alfred March. Patrons of the school and the public in general are invited to the chapel exercises which usually are held on Friday morning of each week from 8:35 until about 9 o'clock.

TAUBE RECOVERS FROM INJURIES

Augustus Taube, the Richmond horseman, who was injured in an automobile accident at Indianapolis Sunday evening has completely recovered from his bruises and has resumed his business.

According to the latest information concerning the accident, Maude Harvey, whose name was connected with the Taube accident was attracted to the scene of the accident by the crowd, and identified the unconscious man.

EPISCOPAL LEADER AT CONVENTION

Rev. Dr. J. H. Melvaine, of Pittsburg, who is credited with being responsible for the defeat of Rev. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity church, New York, in the election for presiding officer of the House of Deputies at the Forty-fourth Triennial Convention of the Episcopal church, now in session at the Cathedral of St. John, the Divine, New York. Dr. Alexander Mann, of Boston, won the office.

YOUTH NEAR DEATH; VICTIM OF TYPHOID

Roy Moneybrake, His Mother and Jesse Hilling, Suffering From Fever.

IN DIRE CIRCUMSTANCE

Aged Man in Hopeless Struggle to Support Sick Family.

With three cases of typhoid fever in the family, upon one of which, a little boy, the hand of Death is already resting, an old man is making a hopeless struggle to earn enough money to care for his sick, while a frail woman keeps the house, and daily, unassisted, washes the clothes of the invalids.

This is by far the worst case in the city which can be traced directly to the Hartman dairy, and it is a tragedy. The family is that of William Biederback, a laborer, residing at North Ninth and F streets. Several weeks ago a daughter who lived with them, Mrs. Hattie Moneybrake, was taken with the fever. Mrs. Biederback has been an invalid for a long time and a daughter, Mrs. Jesse Hilling, with her husband left their home in the country to come to Richmond and cared for her.

Mrs. Moneybrake grew steadily worse, and when her 3-year-old son, Roy, was taken with the dread disease three weeks ago, she was taken to Reid Memorial hospital. A few days later Hilling contracted the disease and was compelled to take to his bed.

Grandfather's Hard Fight. Mrs. Hilling has been caring for her husband and little nephew, washing their clothing each day, as is necessary in the care of those suffering with the disease, besides washing the clothing of her sister in the hospital, and in addition doing the housework for the family.

The old grandfather has made a hard struggle to support those dependent upon him, working every day and then nursing his grandson during the nights, while his daughter gets some sleep to prepare herself for her work the next day.

The family has been reduced to such dire straits that the grandfather, rather than to buy ice off the wagon has taken a wheelbarrow and gone to the plant a mile away after working all day in order to purchase this necessary few cents change.

Makes Gallant Fight. The family has made a gallant fight against the disease, but with one exception the neighbors have paid little attention to them during their trouble. Alone, the grandfather, grandmother and daughter have fought against the stern disease.

When the little boy was taken with the fever the grandfather arose from his sick bed to give her bed to her grandson. The boy is already far gone with the fever and there is only the very slightest chance for his recovery.

Elder Son III. There is an elder son in the family who works when he is able and gives every cent he makes to his father to care for his sister, nephew and brother-in-law, but he too is in poor health and can only work two or at the most three days each week.

Horizontally, but has extended himself to the limit. The Penny club which was notified today for the first time has already sent in some provisions and the Palladium has arranged to supply the family with ice out of its fund for that purpose, but there are a number of other things that the family sorely needs, including clothing, fuel and ready cash.

EARLHAM FRESHIES ELECT OFFICERS

The members of the Freshman class at Earlham held their meeting yesterday afternoon and finished the election of officers. The full list of the officers follows: President, Alton Tindall of Selma, Ohio; vice president, Russell Hise of Vanwert, Ohio; secretary, Miss Edna Reynard of Union City, Indiana; treasurer, Elton Mills of Valies Mills, Ind.; marshal, Glen Lof Clark of Boise, Idaho; Constitution committee, Clyde Little of Liberty, Indiana, Miss Ruby Hendrix of Portland, Ind., and Howard Messick, of Richmond.

PROGRESSIVE NAME CITY CANDIDATES

NEWCASTLE, Ind., Oct. 15.—The Newcastle Progressives have nominated Charles E. Fleher as majority candidate at the coming November election. Other members of the ticket are: Fred L. Hammer, treasurer; O. W. McGeath, Henry L. Heryly and A. R. Syphers, councilmen-at-large. No nomination was made for city clerk, although an attempt was made to endorse L. M. Johnson, the present incumbent, which failed. Johnson is a Republican.

"GOODYEAR" WINS INTERNATIONAL RACE

PARIS, Oct. 14.—The American balloon, "Goodyear," today was officially declared the winner of the international balloon race. The Austrian balloon, Frankfort, landed at Lonzeal, Brittany. Next year's race will be held in the United States.

22 THROWN INTO ROARING RIVER

GREEN BAY, Wis., Oct. 15.—Twenty-two persons were plunged into the Fox river today when the Main street bridge crashed when a heavy steel car was passing over it. The people were carried into the river but were rescued.

There are seven thousand monks on the Mount of Athos, in southern Greece.

SHIP'S PASSENGERS UTTERLY HELPLESS

Duning Says He Understands Why Persons Become Panic-Stricken.

WILL INVESTIGATE SOCIAL CONDITIONS

Intention of Investigators to Go About Work Free From Prejudices.

RISHVILLE, Neb., Oct. 15.—Uncle Sam has at last gone into the history cannikin business. Out here on the plains, to the north of this old frontier town, the government's operatives are engaged in winding up reels of Indian fights and kindred border scenes of the past, to be preserved in the archives at Washington for the instruction and amusement of future generations.

In other words, General Nelson A. Miles is out here with a body of troops on one side and a horde of Indians on the other, putting them through the paces of the Sitting Bull campaign of the early '90s in front of a "movie" camera.

"Buffalo Bill" There. Here is the picturesque "Buffalo Bill" dressed in his old scouting buckskins, leading the troops over the old trails. The old fire is in his keen eyes, that magnificent mane of hair, which has sent thrills down feminine spines all over the civilized world, now thin and gray, but the old Indian fighter and buffalo runner is still the centaur and the ladies of the next generation will thrill at his picture as the ladies of the last thrilled as he rode gallantly at the head of his rough riders under the big tent.

There are also Brigadier General Frank D. Baldwin, an old Indian fighter whom all Redskins feared, or at least respected; Mike Russell, old Mike Russell, of Deadwood, the rough new pioneer who taught the gallant Cody a great deal about the gentle art of fighting Indians, and who knows the story of the west from the migration of the Mormons to the death of Sitting Bull. Another officer of the army who is in this moving (joke) picture, is Brigadier General Marlon P. Maus, whose name figures prominently in the border contest with the Red skins in the struggle for possession of the west.

It is a serious undertaking. General Miles will, so far as it is humanly possible, reproduce some of the notable clashes which occurred between Indians and the government troops in Nebraska and South Dakota. Among these are the battles of Wounded Knee, Pine Ridge and Crawford, where the Cheyennes made their final stand. One of the veterans of that fierce battle, Major Carter R. Johnson, is now living again the stirring days of the past.

For Government Archives. One valuable contribution these pictures will make to history is the correct version of the death of Sitting Bull, that great old Sioux medicine man, who was killed while resisting arrest near Fort Yates in North Dakota, and not at the battle of Wounded Knee, as many suppose.

The government has considered at one time the securing of a reproduction of the last fight of General Custer on the Little Big Horn. But this was given up as impractical, since there is no survivor of that bloody fight except a few Indians whose memories could not be relied upon to secure a faithful replica of the battle.

In Maskat, Arabia, a sewing machine agent rented the best stall in the bazaar, placarded the town with his signs, trained women as demonstrators in the harem and made presents of machines to high personages.

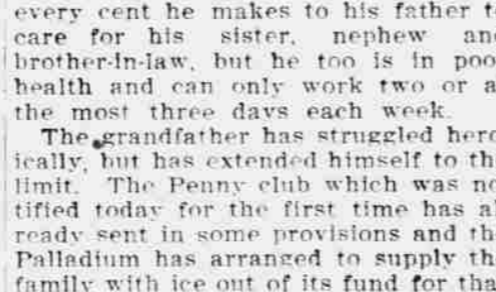

THAW MAY BE FREED FROM PRISON

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 15.—Representatives of Harry K. Thaw today predicted that a secret conference which Thaw had in his rooms last night, would have a marked effect on the extradition proceedings. Three strangers, said to be members of the Duchess county grand jury, were closeted with Thaw for more than five hours. It is said that they told Thaw what actually took place in the grand jury room, where William Travers Jerome claimed an indictment was returned against Thaw. Merrill Shurtless and N. E. Martin, Thaw's counselors, interrogated the visitors. If Governor Folger is convinced that Jerome misrepresented matters regarding the return of the indictment, it is said the governor will set Thaw free.

TENNESSEE SALOONS FACE CLOSING

NASHVILLE, Oct. 15.—Governor Hooper won first blood in law enforcement bills fight today when a majority in the senate agreed to their passage. Politicians declared that nothing can prevent the passage of Hooper's three bills, closing every saloon in Tennessee.

ADMIRAL FLETCHER OF U. S. NAVY

Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, in command of the American battleships now lying in the harbor of Vera Cruz, Mexico.

Day laborers in Bombay, India, average about 20 cents a day.

FINNEY'S

Lunch at Finney's—that new and dainty place. We serve almost anything you want to eat. Our candies are the best, our ice cream is most delicious.

New—Modern—Sanitary

Finney's Luncheonette, 919 Main Street

SHIP'S PASSENGERS UTTERLY HELPLESS

Duning Says He Understands Why Persons Become Panic-Stricken.

WILL INVESTIGATE SOCIAL CONDITIONS

Intention of Investigators to Go About Work Free From Prejudices.

RISHVILLE, Neb., Oct. 15.—Uncle Sam has at last gone into the history cannikin business. Out here on the plains, to the north of this old frontier town, the government's operatives are engaged in winding up reels of Indian fights and kindred border scenes of the past, to be preserved in the archives at Washington for the instruction and amusement of future generations.

In other words, General Nelson A. Miles is out here with a body of troops on one side and a horde of Indians on the other, putting them through the paces of the Sitting Bull campaign of the early '90s in front of a "movie" camera.

"Buffalo Bill" There. Here is the picturesque "Buffalo Bill" dressed in his old scouting buckskins, leading the troops over the old trails. The old fire is in his keen eyes, that magnificent mane of hair, which has sent thrills down feminine spines all over the civilized world, now thin and gray, but the old Indian fighter and buffalo runner is still the centaur and the ladies of the next generation will thrill at his picture as the ladies of the last thrilled as he rode gallantly at the head of his rough riders under the big tent.

There are also Brigadier General Frank D. Baldwin, an old Indian fighter whom all Redskins feared, or at least respected; Mike Russell, old Mike Russell, of Deadwood, the rough new pioneer who taught the gallant Cody a great deal about the gentle art of fighting Indians, and who knows the story of the west from the migration of the Mormons to the death of Sitting Bull. Another officer of the army who is in this moving (joke) picture, is Brigadier General Marlon P. Maus, whose name figures prominently in the border contest with the Red skins in the struggle for possession of the west.

It is a serious undertaking. General Miles will, so far as it is humanly possible, reproduce some of the notable clashes which occurred between Indians and the government troops in Nebraska and South Dakota. Among these are the battles of Wounded Knee, Pine Ridge and Crawford, where the Cheyennes made their final stand. One of the veterans of that fierce battle, Major Carter R. Johnson, is now living again the stirring days of the past.

For Government Archives. One valuable contribution these pictures will make to history is the correct version of the death of Sitting Bull, that great old Sioux medicine man, who was killed while resisting arrest near Fort Yates in North Dakota, and not at the battle of Wounded Knee, as many suppose.

The government has considered at one time the securing of a reproduction of the last fight of General Custer on the Little Big Horn. But this was given up as impractical, since there is no survivor of that bloody fight except a few Indians whose memories could not be relied upon to secure a faithful replica of the battle.

In Maskat, Arabia, a sewing machine agent rented the best stall in the bazaar, placarded the town with his signs, trained women as demonstrators in the harem and made presents of machines to high personages.

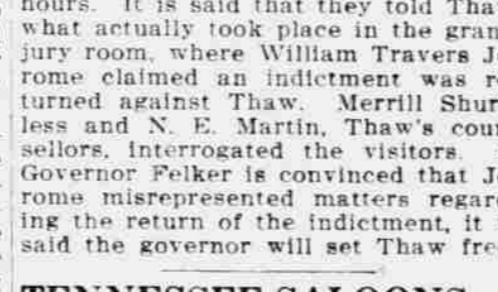

THAW MAY BE FREED FROM PRISON

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 15.—Representatives of Harry K. Thaw today predicted that a secret conference which Thaw had in his rooms last night, would have a marked effect on the extradition proceedings. Three strangers, said to be members of the Duchess county grand jury, were closeted with Thaw for more than five hours. It is said that they told Thaw what actually took place in the grand jury room, where William Travers Jerome claimed an indictment was returned against Thaw. Merrill Shurtless and N. E. Martin, Thaw's counselors, interrogated the visitors. If Governor Folger is convinced that Jerome misrepresented matters regarding the return of the indictment, it is said the governor will set Thaw free.

TENNESSEE SALOONS FACE CLOSING

NASHVILLE, Oct. 15.—Governor Hooper won first blood in law enforcement bills fight today when a majority in the senate agreed to their passage. Politicians declared that nothing can prevent the passage of Hooper's three bills, closing every saloon in Tennessee.

ADMIRAL FLETCHER OF U. S. NAVY

Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, in command of the American battleships now lying in the harbor of Vera Cruz, Mexico.

Day laborers in Bombay, India, average about 20 cents a day.

FINNEY'S

Lunch at Finney's—that new and dainty place. We serve almost anything you want to eat. Our candies are the best, our ice cream is most delicious.

New—Modern—Sanitary

Finney's Luncheonette, 919 Main Street

WILL INVESTIGATE SOCIAL CONDITIONS

Intention of Investigators to Go About Work Free From Prejudices.

PARTY GROWTH CAUSE

Intention of Investigators to Go About Work Free From Prejudices.

RISHVILLE, Neb., Oct. 15.—Uncle Sam has at last gone into the history cannikin business. Out here on the plains, to the north of this old frontier town, the government's operatives are engaged in winding up reels of Indian fights and kindred border scenes of the past, to be preserved in the archives at Washington for the instruction and amusement of future generations.

In other words, General Nelson A. Miles is out here with a body of troops on one side and a horde of Indians on the other, putting them through the paces of the Sitting Bull campaign of the early '90s in front of a "movie" camera.

"Buffalo Bill" There. Here is the picturesque "Buffalo Bill" dressed in his old scouting buckskins, leading the troops over the old trails. The old fire is in his keen eyes, that magnificent mane of hair, which has sent thrills down feminine spines all over the civilized world, now thin and gray, but the old Indian fighter and buffalo runner is still the centaur and the ladies of the next generation will thrill at his picture as the ladies of the last thrilled as he rode gallantly at the head of his rough riders under the big tent.

There are also Brigadier General Frank D. Baldwin, an old Indian fighter whom all Redskins feared, or at least respected; Mike Russell, old Mike Russell, of Deadwood, the rough new pioneer who taught the gallant Cody a great deal about the gentle art of fighting Indians, and who knows the story of the west from the migration of the Mormons to the death of Sitting Bull. Another officer of the army who is in this moving (joke) picture, is Brigadier General Marlon P. Maus, whose name figures prominently in the border contest with the Red skins in the struggle for possession of the west.

It is a serious undertaking. General Miles will, so far as it is humanly possible, reproduce some of the notable clashes which occurred between Indians and the government troops in Nebraska and South Dakota. Among these are the battles of Wounded Knee, Pine Ridge and Crawford, where the Cheyennes made their final stand. One of the veterans of that fierce battle, Major Carter R. Johnson, is now living again the stirring days of the past.

For Government Archives. One valuable contribution these pictures will make to history is the correct version of the death of Sitting Bull, that great old Sioux medicine man, who was killed while resisting arrest near Fort Yates in North Dakota, and not at the battle of Wounded Knee, as many suppose.

The government has considered at one time the securing of a reproduction of the last fight of General Custer on the Little Big Horn. But this was given up as impractical, since there is no survivor of that bloody fight except a few Indians whose memories could not be relied upon to secure a faithful replica of the battle.

In Maskat, Arabia, a sewing machine agent rented the best stall in the bazaar, placarded the town with his signs, trained women as demonstrators in the harem and made presents of machines to high personages.

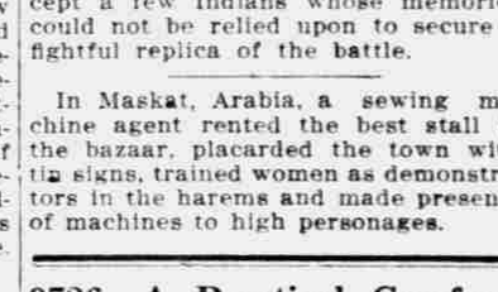

THAW MAY BE FREED FROM PRISON

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 15.—Representatives of Harry K. Thaw today predicted that a secret conference which Thaw had in his rooms last night, would have a marked effect on the extradition proceedings. Three strangers, said to be members of the Duchess county grand jury, were closeted with Thaw for more than five hours. It is said that they told Thaw what actually took place in the grand jury room, where William Travers Jerome claimed an indictment was returned against Thaw. Merrill Shurtless and N. E. Martin, Thaw's counselors, interrogated the visitors. If Governor Folger is convinced that Jerome misrepresented matters regarding the return of the indictment, it is said the governor will set Thaw free.

TENNESSEE SALOONS FACE CLOSING

NASHVILLE, Oct. 15.—Governor Hooper won first blood in law enforcement bills fight today when a majority in the senate agreed to their passage. Politicians declared that nothing can prevent the passage of Hooper's three bills, closing every saloon in Tennessee.

ADMIRAL FLETCHER OF U. S. NAVY

Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, in command of the American battleships now lying in the harbor of Vera Cruz, Mexico.

Day laborers in Bombay, India, average about 20 cents a day.

FINNEY'S

Lunch at Finney's—that new and dainty place. We serve almost anything you want to eat. Our candies are the best, our ice cream is most delicious.

New—Modern—Sanitary

Finney's Luncheonette, 919 Main Street

OBTAINS A PATENT ON MACHINE CRANK

Invention of Selby Williams Will Rob Auto Cranking of Its Dangers.

PRINCIPAL CHANGES SEAT ARRANGEMENT OF SCHOOL CHAPEL

Students of the high school will be seated in chapel hereafter regardless of the class to which they belong. Heretofore the Seniors of the school were permitted to sit in the center section of the auditorium directly in front of the stage and the other classes sat in less conspicuous seats, according to the year to which they belonged. Under the new plan the seating will be arranged alphabetically. Seniors and Juniors believe some distinction should be shown them, as has always been the custom of the school; however Principal Pickell thinks that the new arrangement is the better.

CITY STATISTICS

Births. Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Roan, 81 North Eleventh street, boy, second child.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolland, 240 North Twenty-second street, girl, fourth child.

Deaths and Funerals. SURFACE—The funeral of Daniel Surface, who died at the Westcott hotel yesterday afternoon, will be held at the hotel Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in the Earlham cemetery. Friends may call Thursday afternoon and evening. They are requested not to send flowers.

LEE—The body of Mrs. Sarah Lee, 74, who died at her home in Indianapolis, was brought to this city this morning and taken to the home of her niece, Mrs. Clem Heck, 110 North Seventh street. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mary Malloy and Miss Bridgett Lee. The funeral will be held at St. Andrews church Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, with interment at St. Mary's cemetery. The Rev. Cronin will have charge of the services. Friends may call at the home of Mrs. Heck at any time.

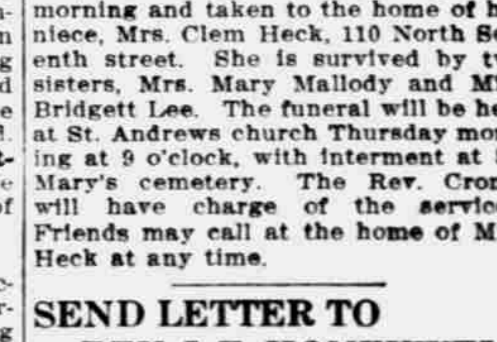

SEND LETTER TO REV. I. E. HONEYWELL

A special committee from the Ministerial association consisting of Rev. R. C. Leonard, Rev. B. Earle Parker and Rev. Truman C. Kenworthy drafted a letter to send to Rev. I. E. Honeywell of Oak Park, Ill., who has been selected to take charge of the union revival meetings which will be held here in January.

Contracts which will be signed by the ministers of all churches were also prepared and will be forwarded to Oak Park for Mr. Honeywell's signature.

No action will be taken towards the construction of the big tabernacle for the meetings. Definite arrangements will be deferred until Mr. Honeywell's contracts have been received.

7926—A Practical Comfortable School Dress.

Girls' dress with long or shorter sleeves. Brown galatea with white lining for trimming is high shown. The closing is at the center front. The waist belt may be omitted. The design is suitable for percale, gingham, linen, cashmere, serge, velvet or corduroy. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. It requires 3 1/2 yards of 14 inch material for a 10 year size. A pattern for this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Name..... Address..... City.....

Improved Flour Bin

A flour hopper, which fits a cup, a sifter crank that doesn't wear out the screen, a sliding glass front to make the bin easy to clean and sanitary. The Hoosier Cabinet Flour bin holds 65 pounds. You can put in a new 50-lb. bag before the hopper is empty. Dust-proof—cannot get out of order. Let us show you why 600,000 women prefer it to all others.