

OLD ICE COMPANY IS TRUST--KELLY

ce business, and will have an output of thirty tons a day, but will not consider any proposal to sell this output, either in whole or in part, to its competitor," Mr. Kelly remarked. "We will have a daily surplus of about fifteen tons, and this surplus will be sold on the platform of our plant at 2.50 a ton to any one who seeks to purchase it, to use for themselves or to resell over the city. In its retail business the local ice combine has been getting $8 a ton, but artificial ice can be sold for $6 a ton and a liberal profit made.

Books Not Needed. Mr. Kelly also charged that besides maintaining what he called an excessive price for artificial ice, the Johnson-Rettig combination had made it hard for poor people to secure ice, because of its rule requiring the purchase of coupon books by all patrons of the company.

"With the competition we are to furnish locally in the ice business there should be no reason why poor people cannot purchase ice peddlers the commodity in 5, 10 and 15 cent lots, obviating the necessity of interesting two or three dollars for coupon books," the Wayne Ice Company's attorney concluded.

'THE BEST LAXATIVE I KNOW OF.' "I have sold Chamberlain's Tablets for several years. People who have used them will take nothing else. I can recommend them to my customers as the best laxative and cure for constipation that I know of," writes Frank Strouse, Fruitland, Iowa. For sale by all dealers.

ROAD SUPERVISORS DISCUSS CONDITIONS

tenance of Roads." He has been a road man for years. His talk was of importance because of the different manner in which roads will be maintained under the new system. Instead of wasting much road material, all dirt scraped from road surfaces to level them, will be thrown onto the road again instead of being hauled away.

The drainage of the road will be materially affected by especially a well traveled road, depends largely on the drainage. The necessity of the quick drainage of storm water was shown and one of the first duties of the new superintendents, it is said, will be to remove "shoulders" which have been formed on road sides and which retain water in the road.

Work With Machines. "The Care and Handling of Road Machines" was explained by Link Watkins, superintendent of District No. 2, Perry and New Garden townships. Much of the work under the new road regime will be done with road machines. Much of the county's road working material, consisting of tools and machinery, has hitherto been uncared for and often improperly used. "While the 'top soil' methods of maintaining roads will be easy to learn and will require few tools and only two kinds of machines, it was pointed out that the value of the method is lost unless the operator understands how to handle the road machine. The three-way drag and road scraper will do most of the county road work during the next year. Both machines must be carefully handled.

Mr. Jones, highway commissioner, told the men that he expects work to start within a few weeks, and at the proper time will issue an order when all men shall take up their duties.

Fifty Miles Inspected. The road commissioner is engaged in an inspection of the roads of which his men will have charge, and already has gone over fifty miles of road. The district superintendent drives with the highway commissioner in this work, and the two take notes of what work is required in the spring. There are still almost two hundred miles of road to be inspected.

Part of the road records have been sent to the county from the state board of accounts, but several minor records had been neglected. Temporary methods will be adopted until the state department sends out final instructions. The road records on hand were explained by Auditor Bowman, who asked the men to keep daily records of the work and not wait until the end of the week, as the records must be correct in detail.

A cordial welcome to all these services.

East Main Street Friends—Corner Main and Fifth streets, Truman C. Kenworthy, pastor. Bible school at 10; meeting for worship at 11; pastor's message, "Echoes of the Revival Meeting." C. MAY ASK CLOSING OF ALLEY ON MAIN

J. J. Steele, manager of a saloon at 909 Main street, and Lewis E. Iliff, representing the Minck Brewing company, appeared before the board of public works yesterday afternoon to inquire what the attitude of the board might be if a petition were presented for the closing of the alley opening on to Main street from the south, between Ninth and Tenth streets. It was learned that Mr. Steele is negotiating for the property abutting the alley to the east, owned by Charles L. Wolfer, and that the property occupied by the Steele saloon is owned by the brewing company. If the alley could be closed under a satisfactory arrangement and the deal for the Wolfer property goes through, it is planned to erect a large business block on the site of the alley and the two abutting properties.

Board members and Mayor Robbins informed Mr. Iliff and Mr. Steele that no action on this matter could be taken, one way or the other, until the questions involved could be thoroughly investigated. The two business men then informed the city officials that no petition would be presented unless they could be furnished with an approximate total of the damages which would be assessed against them should the alley be ordered closed.

"Such a petition would have to be viewed from several angles," Mr. Baylis stated. "That is it would have to be determined whether it would be more of a public benefit to have the alley closed rather than open whether the closing of the alley would be detrimental to properties adjoining, but not abutting the alley, and what the damages assessed against the abutting properties for benefits to the city would be. The alley is twenty feet wide, and as an offhand guess I would say it had a value of $300 a front foot, which would give the city for benefits $6,000 in the event the alley were closed."

PRELIMINARY PLANS MADE FOR LEAGUE

Plans for the organization of a Baseball Fans Discuss Proposed Shopmen and the Suburb Teams.

Representatives of the Richmond Baking company, McGuires Lawn Mower Works, Richmond Maroons and the Owls said their respective nines would be in the field this spring and would join the new organization. The Reliance, Hoosier, Starrs and Fairview aggregations were not represented, although it is expected that they will enter teams.

The backers will open correspondence with New Madison, Winchester, Fountain City, Eldorado, Cambridge City, Williamsburg and Economy in the endeavor to line up these teams for the Richmond-Suburban league. This league is to be composed of local amateur teams as well as teams of the surrounding towns, the games to be played on Sundays, as certain raisers for the Richmond clubs games.

The next meeting of the new organization will be held next Friday night.
