WHAT WILL CINCY DO, FANS NOW ASK

Spring Training Is Far From Satisfactory to Manager Herzog.

CINCINNATI, O., April 3.—Just what position the Cincinnati Reds will occupy in the National league standing next fall when the last ball has been pitched and the stars of the national game think of their winter occupations, is a question that is puzzling Cincy bugs.

The showing made so far by the team in its spring training games is far from satisfactory. The Reds, under Manager Herzog, have put up a mediocre article of ball so far this spring, accepting beatings most every day. Just yesterday the Louisville Colonels walloped the Red outfit in a farcical exhibition of the game that resulted in a 5 to 2 count in favor of the Blue Grass bunch.

Herzog thinks his men have a jinx on their trail. Injuries, sickness and poor weather have gone far to prevent the Buckeyes from rounding into any semblance of form. Three Reds were added to the hospital list just yesterday. Heine Groh is suffering from an attack of the grip; Marsans has a wrenched ligament in his shoulder that will keep him out of the game for some time, and Doc Miller has a bad leg that hinders him from engaging in regular work.

The Reds' pitching staff is not anything to shout about. True, Yingling should do big things for the Ohio bunch, but so far this season the former Brooklyn star has not hit his pace. The Louisville Colonels pounded him hard yesterday and he had to retire in favor of Lear, who shot them across in a manner that discouraged further activities of the Kentucky swat artists. Benton and Johnson are the other mainstays in the flinging line.

The infield and outfield looks fairly good. Hobitzel is sure of holding down his end of the game at the initial sack, while Groh and Herzog will be seen in the space surrounding the second station. Niehoff looks like the most likely candidate for the third sack. The pastures will most likely be in the custody of Bates, Marsans, Moran and Miller. Other candidates and recruits from the bushes that look promising are Blackburn, Porter, Kellogg and Berghammer.

CADILLAC, Mich., April 3.—If members of the Olivet college baseball club live up to the peculiar document they signed this week, they will be entitled to the title of "The model baseball club."

Coal taken from the bering river field in Alaska and tested in the American navy to determine its fitness was a complete failure. This has proved a great disappointment to the officials of the navy, who realize that the results of these tests have an important bearing upon the question of future coal supply of the navy in the Pacific waters.—Scientific American.

THIRD SACKER FAILS TO SIGN CONTRACT

Curley Re-Affirms Decision Not to Sign With Quaker Outfit This Season.

The only problem that confronts Manager Kenney of the Richmond nine, is the lack of a third sacker. Curley, the fast W. Covington mah, who was counted on to fill this position that he would play with the Maysville, Ky., team this spring. This leaves a big hole in the Quaker infield that will have to be filled before the opening of the season April 26.

With the exception of Curley, the infield is intact. Pokins, the giant first baseman will be seen here in a Quaker uniform and much can be expected of him. Cushing, who was seen last season with the Covington nine, will fill the territory around the keystone sack. Short stop will be in custody of one particular Sheppard, also of the Covington team.

With a good man at third, this lineup should be the best ever presented by a local club. This is the same lineup that faced last year's Quaker team twice, when the locals received two drubbings at the hands of the Covington team. It was impossible for the Richmond team to do anything with these men last year and this crew working with a battery like Sauters and Novack should do big things for Richmond this year.

team lines up against the Palladium exponents of the game at the Garfield gym. The Garfield team and the second Pal outfit will clash in the preliminary.

The game promises to be a battle royal from start to finish, as the two teams seem evenly matched. The Y team will have the advantage of having played together the entire season, while the Pals have worked together but once this year.

Kinder, Porter and Meranda will be pitted against Webb, Klute and Fitzgibbons in the end work tomorrow night and this department of the game seems about even. Lanning, Palladium center, is expected to hold his own with Loehr of the Y crew. Parker and Dunning for the Pals, and Bavis and Johanning for the Y will do the guarding.

Sure Indications of Lung Trouble

Among the indications of threatened Lung Trouble are a continued cough, fever and night sweats. A change of climate often helps, but it seems that something more is needed to stop the cough and sweats and arrest the progress of disease. Eckman's Alternative, after many years of use, is known to be most beneficial in bringing about relief, in many cases complete recoveries. Investigate this case: Schell City, Mo.
"Gentlemen: I had a terrible cough, night sweats in my lungs. A man who heard me coughing advised me to take your Alternative. I paid no attention to him then, but got so bad the doctor said I should go to Wyoming. I did, and when I got there I steadily grew worse. Then I remembered what had been told me about your medicine. I began taking it, with no faith whatever, but before I had taken three bottles, I could eat anything. Fever and night sweats stopped and for over a year I have been well and in better health than I ever was."
