

CLUB WOMEN DRAFT CONVENTION PROGRAM

State Federation Meeting Opens Thursday, May 21, With Reception to Delegates and Visitors.

PLAN TOUR OF CITY

Reasons Why Indiana Needs New Constitution and Other Public Questions Assigned to Speakers.

A program for the annual convention of the sixth district branch of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, which is to be held in Richmond Thursday, May 21, and Friday, May 22, was roughly outlined at a meeting held in this city Saturday, which was presided over by the district president, Mrs. J. N. Hamilton, of Brooklyn.

Another meeting will be held in this city Wednesday and the program completed and made public.

The principal speaker at the sixth district convention will be the president of the State Federation, Miss Vida Newsome, of Columbus, Ind. Most of the time Thursday will be devoted to the reception of delegates and social affairs, including a tea party to be held on the lawn of the William Dudley Foulke home, with the members of the Cycle club as hostesses. There will also be automobile parties, the machines to be furnished by the Commercial club.

Thursday afternoon there will be a musical entertainment at the high school auditorium by the Garfield orchestra.

Robbins to Make Address.

At the same place Thursday evening Prof. Harlow Lindley, of Earlham college, will lecture on the history of Wayne county and an address of welcome will be made by Mayor Robbins. Miss Sarah Hill, a member of the school board, will also welcome the delegates. A response will be made by Mrs. E. Sowash, of Middletown. Music will be furnished by the high school orchestra and Miss Leona Thomas, a gifted young violinist, who is the protégé of the women's clubs of Rushville.

The several committees will make their reports Friday morning, and the county chairmen will also report at the same time. At this time Mrs. M. F. Johnston of this city, chairman of the art committee of the National Federation, is to extend greetings to the delegates on behalf of the national organization.

One of the interesting features of the convention will be the exhibit of the committee in charge of work among the blind.

Among the speakers at the convention will be: Mrs. Montgomery, Shelbyville, "The Work of the Blind School"; Mrs. Phoebe Bracken, Brookville, "Why Indiana Needs a New Constitution"; Mrs. A. K. Moffett, "The Spread of the Library Spirit."

ENJOINS AGAINST CARNIVAL TO OPEN IN BEALLVIEW

Henry H. Johannning, 1022 South C street, today announced his intention of taking every step toward preventing the holding of a carnival on the South Side improvement association grounds in Beallview unless the improvement will agree to donate the receipts for use in improving the park.

Johanning bases his fight on the fact that the abstract of title last issued in 1907 dedicates the ground between L and M streets from Eighth to Ninth streets as public park property and Johannning claims that if this clause makes it the property of the county and therefore not attachable for use for carnivals, baseball games or exhibitions.

He says he will first have an execution served against the improvement association if the carnival opens as scheduled this afternoon and if the injunction of Judge Fox entered in December 1911 is not obeyed, the association will be prosecuted for contempt of court.

See Private Quarrel.

Officers of the South Side Improvement association are much wrought up over Johannning's announcement that he will enjoin them from holding the carnival and say that Johannning is persecuting the association because of a private quarrel of his with an individual member, Adolph Blickwedel, the president. Johannning himself is a large stockholder in the organization.

The same matter came up in 1911. Johannning owns lot No. 121 on South Eighth street between M and N streets. At that time, through his efforts, Judge Fox issued an injunction and restraining order preventing the improvement association from maintaining a high board fence around the park ground and obstructing the view of the tenement on Lot 121 who is now Fisher Scott.

Threatens Exposures.

The fight now hinges around the company's claim to the property and legal technicalities involved in the 1911 injunction.

Adolph Blickwedel stated that the association has no intention of putting a stop to the carnival and any action on Johannning's part will embroil both the corporation and Johannning in a legal battle. He claims that the ground belongs to the improvement association, which it does, if the order of the court can be maintained.

Court officials believe Johannning can do nothing by making use of the injunction now existing against the association to prevent the fencing in of the streets and alleys and of grounds opposite Johannning's Eighth street property.

"After I get through with this, I am going to make some more startling investigations," Johannning said to a Palladium representative. "They are running the Indianapolis Glove company like a certain hardware store was run and they are operating a booze joint in Beallview park that we will show up later."

He said he will leave no stone unturned to bring about his end unless the money realized from the carnival is placed in a fund for the improvement of the property.

FIRE BURNS HOME NEAR CHESTER, IND.

CHESTER, Ind., May 4.—The residence of Josiah Simms, several miles west of this place, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The fire originated from a defective flue and had gained considerable headway before being noticed. Neighbors who were attracted by the flames succeeded in saving a quantity of furniture. Mr. Simms carried insurance on the house but the furnishings were a total loss.

TALKS TO TEACHERS

President Mills, of Hanover college, gave a talk to the principals of the city schools this afternoon at the high school auditorium. He will speak before the members of the Men's club of the First Presbyterian church to night.

NUMBER GROWS

An increase of 312 persons of school age in one year is the record shown by the school enumeration figures, just completed. There are now 5,919 persons of school age living in the city as compared with 5,607 in 1913. The city will receive approximately 23,676 from the state in the apportionment of school funds at $4 per enumerated person.

PLAN JOY WEEK IN EAGLES HOME

The new home of the Eagles' lodge under construction, will be completed by the end of June. The new building, which is located on South Seventh street, will be one of the finest and most up-to-date structures in the city. The cost of the building will approximate $25,000.

Although the new home of the order will not be formally opened until the first part of July, a big joy-week is being planned for the week of May 18. The affair will be in the nature of an indoor carnival and the proceeds will go toward the cost of fitting the lodge rooms.

RICHMOND SHIPPERS FAVOR HIGHER RATE

The Commercial club will go on record as favoring a five per cent increase in freight rates at the meeting of the board of directors tonight if the expression of the railroad committee is concurred in. At a meeting held this afternoon by members of the committee together with officials of the Pennsylvania and C. and O. railroads, several matters came up for adjustment but nothing final was consummated.

John Lantz of the F. and N. Lawn Mower company, in behalf of his firm, asked to go on record as favoring the increased rate, and declared the railroads have been persecuted by legislative bodies and the public as a result of agitations started by "yellow journals."

"We do not appreciate enough the service we are receiving from the railroads here," Mr. Lantz said. "We are willing to pay that five per cent. The facilities have been improved, labor has gone up, but the freight rates have not increased although the two cent passenger rate bill was made a law by legislators without even an investigation to show whether or not this would make a losing or a paying investment."

S. W. Hayes of the Hayes Track Appliance company said:

"Believing that a flourishing condition among the railroads will mean a financial uplift of the whole section of the country, we stand in favor of an increase in freight rates."

Among the officials at the meeting were George LeBoutillier, superintendent of the Richmond division, Pennsylvania lines; C. D. Slifer, freight agent on the Pennsylvania; C. L. Sprague, division freight agent, Pennsylvania; Division Freight Agent Shaw, of Muncie, C. and O.; and Freight Agent Greenstreet, of Richmond, C. and O.

The matter of securing an addition to the freight depot of both railroads was brought up. Mr. LeBoutillier stated that since the Pennsylvania freight depot was built ten years ago, the business has increased seventy per cent and admitted that in any abnormal business times, the facilities were taxed beyond capacity.

Both the C. and O. and the Pennsylvania officials said that plans had been made for increasing the roofed depot space, but there is no definite arrangement as to when this can be afforded. Neither railroad is making extensive changes along the lines.

The committee report will be brought before the club tonight.

CLERKS TO ORGANIZE

There will be a meeting at 7:30 this evening at the Commercial club rooms by the clerks of the city, who are to organize a union. Clerks in various lines of work have signified their intention of joining the union and a large crowd is expected. Elmer H. Layman, of this city, an organizer for the American Federation of Labor, will attend the meeting. All clerks are invited to attend. Better working hours will be a demand made by the members of the new union.

AMMONS WINS FIRST CONTEST

BULLETIN.

DENVER, Colo., May 4.—The Colorado legislature met in special session today in response to the call issued last week by Governor Ammons to consider matters connected with the great coal strike in the state. The democratic caucus selected J. H. Slatery as speaker by a vote of 23 to 13. This is regarded as a victory for Governor Ammons. Slatery's election is assured.

The governor favored the payment of the militia, but opponents of the executive threatened that if such legislation was attempted, the governor's impeachment would be immediately sought.

MILK ORDINANCE GOES TO COUNCIL

At a meeting held yesterday by members of the council ordinance committee and City Attorney Bond, several amendments to the milk ordinance were drafted and will be submitted to council at its session this evening.

Council is also expected tonight to consider the plea of West Richmond and Fairview people to have conductors on cars which are operated in those sections of the city. Councilmen are opposed to the plan of the street railway company to have mirrors placed in the cars so the motor men can see what is taking place in the cars, and it is probable council will order the company to furnish conductors for west side cars.

SALOON AS FILTHY AS MANY PIG STIES

"The saloon is the fly in the ointment of clean-up week in Richmond," the Rev. L. E. Murray told the congregation at the First Christian church yesterday morning. He said the saloon was equal to a pig sty in its stench and drew more flies than many of the collections of trash in the city.

The necessity for a clean-up week, he said, demonstrated the truth that no person lives all alone in the world. The character and spiritual welfare of people depend largely on their surroundings, he said, which made it all the more necessary that the environment should be kept as clean and wholesome as possible.

CLEAN-UP WORK GOES ON RAPIDLY

Members of the yard cleaning committee met today at the Commercial club rooms and reported the progress of the work. Sub-committees have done the work assigned them as far as possible up to this time, and the committee's end of the movement is at its height. However, the carrying out of the plans, committee members said, remain with the citizens of Richmond and it is believed that before Thursday night, they will have responded. There has been much cleaning up in Richmond already, and committee members are pleased with the outlook of making Richmond "the cleanest city."
