

LECTURER PREDICTS REAL MEXICAN WAR

To create loyalty on the part of the colored man and consideration on the part of the white man, Jonah, a Welshman, has been carrying on a campaign of speaking in the United States and northern Mexico for ten years. Tonight he will speak at the First Colored Baptist church.

Tomorrow night Rev. Jonah will speak at the A. M. E. church, and Friday he will end his stay here with a lecture at the meeting of the Citizens' Union. His subject will be, "The Coming Crisis in the South." The meeting will be on open one at the South Sixth street Masonic temple.

Rev. Jonah has just returned from northern Mexico where he has been studying international questions. He believes Wilson is playing a part now which will result in this country facing an organized system of war in Mexico in the next three or four years, something which has never before existed in that country.

He points out that Huerta is "playing" the United States, and that through the A. B. C. conference the animosity of Argentina, Brazil and Chile will be aroused against the United States because the peace mediators will return reports home that the United States does not live up to her agreements.

"Villa and Carranza stand for two opposite factions," Jonah says. "But it is to their mutual interest that their names are linked together. It is with Villa that the United States will ultimately reckon. Huerta is waiting for a break between Villa and Carranza. Villa represents the persons who have been robbed of their lands, and Carranza represents the capitalists."

"Had Wilson remained out of the game the trouble would not have been between the United States as a government and Mexico, but of French, English and American capitalists. When the United States comes to reckon with Villa, it will find he will never stand for control by monetary powers."

"All of Villa's generals are United States colored men, who have taken Spanish names. Many of them are trained men from the Tenth United States cavalry. Villa may be from the United States army, but he is carrying out the policy of never allowing any one to know he is an American."
