

LANE ASSAULTS TODDLING BABY

"It Wouldn't Mind Me," Excuse Given Patrolmen
When Arrested.

"It wouldn't mind me," was the excuse offered by Emmet R. Lane when Officer Westenberg placed him under arrest at his home, 329 North Eighth street, this morning on a charge of having assaulted his eleven months old baby, who is barely able to toddle about the house. Mrs. Lane telephoned in the complaint against her husband and said she would appear before the prosecutor and swear out an affidavit charging him with having brutally treated the infant.

When Lane was taken to police headquarters he told Sergeant McNally that he had struck the baby because it would not come to him when he asked it to this morning. Lane was placed in the city jail waiting action by his wife. He is employed at nights as a waiter at the restaurant in the Pennsylvania station. He was in bed when Officer Westenberg arrived at the home. Mrs. Lane was at the home of a neighbor with the baby and refused to accompany the officer to her home, but Westenberg without the formality of an affidavit entered the Lane home and took the young man into custody.

Officers Demand Organiza- tions Select Representatives to Attend Sessions.

Four of the twelve members of the mayor's advisory board attended the meeting which had been called for last night and adjourned after they had adopted a resolution that the Commercial club, South Side Improvement association and the organization of colored men should be notified that they would be expected to appoint other representatives on the board if the ones previously selected did not care to attend the meetings.

George Guyer, of the West Richmond Improvement association, acting as temporary secretary, was instructed to send this notification to the three organizations.

U. S. MILLIONAIRE BARRED FROM HOTELS

BLAMES RAILROAD IN HOSBROOK CASE

Coroner Charges Failure to Fill Hole Caused Death of Employee.

The death of Charles Hosbrook on Sept. 14 is attributed directly to inefficient work of the Pennsylvania railroad employees in a verdict returned today by Coroner Pierce.

Hosbrook was killed when a freight train ran him down and crushed his body.

Coroner Pierce declares had the hole been filled when new ties were put in at that point, the accident would not have happened.

A report was returned by Deputy Coroner Morris on the death of Daniel Van Buskirk another victim of the railroad. The death of VanBuskirk was entirely accidental, the verdict says. VanBuskirk was riding a speeder down the track near East Germantown on Sept. 8. He was unaware of the approach of the second section of a train. He was struck and badly mangled. His death occurred instantly.

WAR REFUGEES MEET AND MATE

CHICAGO. Sept. 23.—Meeting first in the steerage of an Atlantic liner where both were war refugees, a Chicago girl and a wealthy Australian fell in love and will be married here next Tuesday.

The heroine is Miss Kathryn Stevenson, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Stevenson, and the hero is Lorraine R. Carter, head of an expatriate concern of Sydney, Australia.

They first met out at sea. Miss Stevenson had been sick and her woe-begone face led Carter to ask if he could help in any way. During the remaining days of the voyage they strolled about frequently and Carter proposed in the harbor at Boston.

Webels given resiliency as spring spokes were patented in England as early as 1825, in France in 1829, and in the United States in 1831.

HERZOG TO MANAGE RED NINE FOR 1915 OWNERS GUARANTEE

Pilot Works Recruits in Games to Line Up Material for Pitching Department
Next Year.

BY C. H. ZUBER.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23.—New faces in various positions will be offered by Manager Herzog of the Reds for the final appearance on the local lot of this year's aggregation on Sunday, October 4, and Monday, October 5. During the present eastern tour of the Reds Manager Herzog is drawing as many recruits as possible into the line-up in order to see these youngsters when they are at their best. The greatest concern of the Red leader now is to secure a reliable third baseman and one or two utility additions to the pitching department. Recent performances indicate that the outfit now is being well taken care of by Tommey, Daniels and Killifer, with one or two others to be tried out during the next two weeks.

On the infield Hollwitz, who will be back next season, Groth and Herzog are fixtures, with third base in doubt.

Clarke and Gonzales are what the doctor ordered behind the bat. The pitching department needs bracing up, and judging by the number of recruits that have reported or are on their way, that section will show greatly improved strength in 1915.

Herzog Re-engaged.

If any doubt existed in the minds of the followers of the Reds as to who would manage the team next season that doubt was dispelled some days ago when President Herrmann announced that Herzog would be re-engaged to lead the Cline bunch in 1915. Herzog has succeeded in doing what no Red manager has been able to accomplish during the last ten years, namely, to rid the team of dead wood. The aggregation as it now is constituted is made up of live, hustling youngsters who promise to make a swift start next season and keep up a nifty gait right down to the finish. Herzog himself will be stronger than ever, which means a general uplift in the work of the team as a whole.

Boston Gets Shade.

While the race for the flag in the National league is not yet over, the chances of the New Yorks beating out the Boston are mighty slim. Less than twenty games remain to be played by the two teams, and as the Braves have about 20 per cent lead on McGraw's men at this stage, it is hard to figure how the Giants can land in first place between now and October 7. Manager Stallings still is depending largely upon James, Rudolph and Tyler for his pitching, although Hess, Crutcher and Dives are sent in occasionally. The latter is a youngster whom Stallings has nursed along all season, and he seems to be about ripe for regular work. However, no matter whether the Boston or the New Yorks win the National league pennant, the betting in the world's series will favor the Philadelphia Americans.

Theodore G. Stoltz.

President Robert L. Kelly of Earlham, is one of the speakers who will appear before the sessions of the Indiana State Teachers' association, Oct. 29, 30 and 31. This is the first time the session have been held in October instead of during the holidays.

MAY LOOSEN UP NEWS CENSORSHIP

Reginald McKenna, Great Britain's Home Secretary, who announced in the house of commons that he has taken charge of the official press bureau and that the censorship bureau will be reorganized to facilitate the prompt transmission of war news to the United States and Canada. Mr. McKenna, answering complaints against the needlessly rigid censorship of war news, said that all information consistent with the military necessities of secrecy will be given to the press. He says he hopes the entire reorganization of the censorship will remedy matters so that there will be no further cause for complaint.

KENNEPOHL RESENTS ATTACK ON GERMANS

B. A. Kennepohl, former city official, today volunteered the information that Dr. J. M. Thurston's attack on the Germans of this city was uncalled for. He said he had been taught in youth to respect old age, and consequently would not repay in the same coin the attack made on the Germans by the physician.

Relative to the utterances of the Rev. Mr. Stovall, he said he believed some preachers would do better in other callings than in the ministry.
