BAD HEADWORK GIVES BUTLER 7 TO 6 GAME

Failure to Use Effective Formation in End Runs to Break Up Defense Defeats Quakers.

Bonham's Good Generalship Mixes Indianapolis Boys' Line Smashing and Passes—Plays Star Game.

When victory was within easy grasp Earham was nosed out by Butler on Reid field Saturday afternoon, losing the game, 7 to 6. Several times during the game, Earham had chances to score but was unable to push the ball over the line. The game was lost in the first quarter when Bowen failed to kick goal after Thornton's touchdown.

Although the Quakers fought hard, poor generalship caused defeat. Twice almost certain victory was snatched away by the referee's whistle. In the last quarter Earham had several opportunities to drop kick, but this was not tried until the ball was over the 40-yard line, when Thornton made a futile attempt to kick goal from the 50-yard line.

Break Quaker Line.
The line work of the Quakers was much better than against Wabash. Butler's backs, however, were able to find holes in the line for substantial gains repeatedly in the last half. Earham found the Butler line about as elastic as a stone wall, especially in the last half, when the visitors tightened up. Most of Earham's consistent gains were in end runs.

Ferre, the big fullback of the visitors, was good for consistent gains. Bonham, the midget quarterback, also played a good game, varying his attack and showing good generalship. Thornton was the star of the back field for Earham, despite the fact that he lost a touchdown by allowing Paul to down him on Butler's 5-yard line. Logan played a good individual game. Logan's great mistake was in throwing his men against Butler's cement line instead of beating down the defense with repeated attacks on the ends, which always netted substantial gains. On these plays the man with the ball was given superb offense.

The open style of play of the visitors kept the Quakers guessing. The forward pass was used many times with success. Short passes over the line were but few, although the long passes to the ends netted gains. Most of these passes were made to Good at left end or to Bonham.

First Quarter.
Ferre, Butler fullback, received the kick-off, returning the ball fifteen yards. Earham penalized for offside. After two line plunges, Butler made first down. Butler attempted a pass which failed. Logan returned the punt 25 yards to Butler's 40-yard line. Thornton gained 5 yards for Earham through right tackle. Two line plunges netted gains for the Quakers, and Bond made first down. Butler penalized for offside, and Thornton made first down. Logan made 15 yard run around Butler's right end, placing the ball on Butler's 5-yard line. Butler held and then punted 30 yards. Bond received the kick and wriggled through the entire Butler eleven, placing the ball behind the goal posts, but was called back for stepping out. From the 3-yard line Thornton went over for the first touchdown. Bowen failed to kick goal. Score: Earham, 6; Butler, 0.

Morrisch kicked off for Earham. Perkins, Butler's right half, fumbled the ball, which was recovered by Earham. Earham penalized for offside play. Morrisch, at center for the Quakers, overpassed Thornton, who was downed in his tracks with a loss of 15 yards. Butler gained the ball on Earham's 20-yard line. Butler makes first down on line plunges. Earham then held, regaining the ball on their own 12-yard line. Bowen punted. Butler gained 5 yards on forward pass to Wise. Earham held for two downs when while blew, ending the quarter with the ball in Butler's possession on Earham's 25-yard line.

Second Quarter.
Butler failed to gain through Earham's line and punted. Logan returned the ball to the line of scrimmage. Earham's forward pass failed. Thornton gained 10 yards through right tackle. Earham penalized, punted. Butler attempted a forward pass but failed. A second attempt gained 5 yards. Quakers held. Thornton broke through Huff, Butler's right tackle, for a 20-yard gain. Running in a clean field he was downed by Paul from behind. Earham penalized 15 yards. Thornton failed in drop kick from 35-yard line. Paul made 12-yard gain around end. Earham held. Bonham makes 5 yards. Bonham made first down on center line plunge. A forward pass netted 8 yards. Earham forced visitors to punt. Logan fumbled but recovered. Half ended with ball on Butler's 40-yard line.

Third Quarter.
Thornton returned kick-off 30 yards. Logan and Thornton failed to gain through the visitors' line. Bowen punted. Butler failed to gain when Calvert broke through, hurrying Bonham back for a 51-yard loss. Butler punted. Logan returning 15 yards. Thornton gained 6 yards. Schlatter relieved Thornton half. Earham held for two downs. Logan intercepted Butler's forward pass. Earham punted and Logan downed Bonham in his tracks. Bonham added 5 yards through right guard. By line plunges Butler went through for first two downs. Ball in Butler's possession on Earham's 16-yard line. Hutton went

ROWE LEADS TEAM FOR HOOVER-BOND

The Hoover-Bond basketball team will hold practice tonight at the Earham gym in preparation for its first game with the Dayton Delcos. The date of the game has not been definitely decided upon by the local management, but it will in all probability be the preliminary to the first Earham game.

Abe Rowe, demon goal tosser, formerly captain of the Earham quintet, who will play center and forward for the Hoover-Bond team, will lead the team this season.

Fourth Quarter.
Thornton returned at beginning of quarter. Butler made downs on two line plunges. Penalized for off-side. Forward pass failed. Earham's ball on Butler's 40-yard line. Bond made 15 yards gain on end run. Earham failed to gain on next two downs. Thornton gained 20 yards an end run, and Bond made another 8-yard gain around left end. Thornton added 2 yards through right tackle, but failed to make necessary gain by a few inches. Ball in Butler's possession on Earham's 10-yard line. Earham held for two downs, but Paul gained 10 yards on end run. Earham forced Butler to punt. Thornton gained 3 yards on line plunge, but Quakers were compelled to kick. Ferre gained 5 yards for Butler through center. Earham holds for two downs but Bonham made necessary gains through left tackle. Forward pass failed. Game ended with ball in Butler's possession in middle of field. Score: Earham, 6; Butler, 7.

FOUR POLO TEAMS FORM CITY LEAGUE

A. S. M. Organizes First Squad-Coliseum Managers Back Plan Financially.

Here it is, you polo fans. After an absence of about four years, polo will be played this winter at the Coliseum. The plan is to organize a league of four teams, each team to play two games every week. The nights have not been determined, but it has been definitely settled that after 9 o'clock on the nights of skating the goals will be brought out and the good old game played.

Directors of the Coliseum want to see polo brought back and have instructed Mace Byers to go ahead and get the four teams organized and they will allow free use of the Coliseum, furnish the referee, ball, goals and meet other expenses. The American Seeding Machine company has already made up a team and another business firm on Main street has signified its willingness and desire to place a team in the league. This will be an amateur league in the beginning, but should it get the proper support the old Western Polo league will be re-organized. It is planned to start the league not later than November 15.

After playing for awhile an all-star team will be picked and games played with Indianapolis, Muncie, Elwood and a trip taken to Racine, Wis.

Distinctively Individual

WHAT SISTER SAYS!
Bill James, famous Boston Braves pitcher, is a hero in the eyes of the public at large, but not with his sister, Miss Gwendolyn James, who is visiting friends at Laurel, Md. When asked what she thought of the sensational work of her brother in the world's series, she said that she thought his time might be much better occupied. "William is a fine fellow, and I admire him. But baseball is not a profession—it's a sport. I would admire him much more if he succeeded at some profession."

FOUR "BONES" COST C. MACK WORLD'S TITLE

Fans Believe Crafty Manager Lost Series by Own Errors in Judgment at Critical Times.

Bush Breaks Under Strain—Schang Slugs Poorly—Mackmen Get Orders to "Kill the Ball."

BY FRANK G. MENKE.
NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Connie Mack went into the 1914 world's series with fandom hailing him as the craftiest, brainiest man in baseball. He emerged with the fans wondering if the balls were justified, for Connie, in the four battles against the Braves, made four bones that hurt his team's chances—probably killed their chances.

In the opinion of the fans who saw the third game, in Boston, Connie's worst bone was made in the tenth inning of that game when he permitted Joe Bush to remain in the box after the Athletics in their half of that inning had broken the deadlock by scoring two runs.

Connie certainly must have known that the crowd would get after Bush as no crowd ever got after a pitcher. And the crowd did get after the Athletic pitcher.

Bush Goes Down.
Bush tried to ignore the hoots and howls. Bush, steady and sure up to that moment, crumpled—and the Braves tied the score and eventually won a game that seemed hopelessly lost when they went to bat in the tenth.

Had Connie Mack taken out Bush and put in Chief Bender the chances are 10 to 1 that the Indians would have held the Braves in check and won the game for the Athletics. Times without number in his big league career Bender has lived through situations similar to that which Bush faced in the last half of the tenth, and Bender, old in pitching experience, old in standing up under the most terrific bombardment of hostile fans, would have faced the enemy's fire and withstood it.

Those who saw the four games cannot understand why Connie sent his men to the plate with orders to "kill the ball." These orders more than anything else sent the Mackmen to their world's series death. Instead of waiting out the Boston pitchers they swung at nearly everything that was offered. Result—instead of getting free walks to first or a chance to hit the good ones, they fanned or got themselves into holes from which they couldn't emerge.

Stakes Game on Kid.
With the count 3 to 0 against him, Connie sent Shawkey to the box in the final game—Shawkey who never before had pitched in a world series bat-

FANS FROM AWAY COME TO WITNESS LOCAL FIGHT CARD

Dayton, Cincinnati and Columbus Send Sportsmen—Ray Jeffries Enters Fray With Catheline for Honors.

TONIGHT'S FIGHT CARD.

Preliminary—Kid Williams vs. Jim Oakley.
Semi-Final—Phil Catheline vs. Ray Jeffries.
Final—Kid Clarke vs. Billy Stein.
Referee—Sam Vigran.
Time—8:30 o'clock.

What promises to be the best boxing card ever offered to the boxing fans of this city will be presented by Billy Benson tonight at the Coliseum. One eight-round bout and two ten-round bouts will be staged. The participants have all worked faithfully for this fight, as not one of them figures on having a cinch. The main go of the evening will be the last on the card, which will bring Kid Clarke of Columbus, O., and Billy Stein of Cleveland, together. These boys are middleweights. As each respects the fighting ability of the other and as both are shifty on their feet, a fast and slashing bout is looked for.

Ray Jeffries, the best boxer ever out of Richmond, will go on with Phil Catheline, the speedy and hard-hitting youngster from Columbus, O. If Jeff can put up the kind of fight that he displayed in the last bout, it will take all Catheline has to shade him. Jeff will have to extend himself to the limit if he expects a decision over Phil. The preliminary brings Jim Oakley, who was Ray Bussen's opponent in the September fight, and Kid Williams, a local boy, together. Oakley is a fighter who fears nothing and wades right in ready to give and take. Williams has had more experience than Bussen.

A number of persons from Cincinnati, Columbus, Dayton and other cities will come to see the card. Manager Benson has instructed all the fighters stalling means no pay.

He staked the Athletics' chances on a kid—and the kid lost.

Why didn't Connie use Bender in that final game? Bender was the logical selection. He was ready and he was wild for another chance at the Braves. True, the Braves hammered him out of the box in the opening game, but the chances of their repeating were remote.

Another prize bone of Connie's was to leave Schang behind the bat. Schang's work at bat and in the field was miserable. His throwing was off color from the start. The slow-footed Braves stole eight bases on him and Schang caught only one man pilfering. Jack Lapp is one of the best catchers in the game. And he's a hitter. Lapp, blindfolded, couldn't have done much worse than Schang.

KONETCHY GOES OVER TO FEDERAL LEAGUE

[BY LEASED WIRE.]
LaCrosse, Wis., Oct. 19.—Eddie Konetchy today confirmed the story that he had jumped from the Pittsburgh Pirates to the Federal league club of that city, announcing for the first time that he had signed contract with the new league for three years. Konetchy said that a large number of other National leaguers had jumped, but refused to give their names.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.
Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 27 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.
No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action. If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.
Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.
