

MELPOLDER TELLS CHARITY DIRECTORS DETAILS OF OFFICE

Calls Bureau Meeting to Explain Records Kept and Merits of Three-Check Account Plan.

An important meeting of the central charity bureau was held this afternoon, Secretary Melpolder exhibiting and explaining his record and files systems which he has devised and completed in the past six weeks. For the first time, the members of the board as a body, had the triple checking system of each of the departments. In order Mr. Melpolder made the following explanations: Publicity department, mailing list, catalogues and newspapers.

Newspaper stories published free for the board since Mr. Melpolder's arrival would be valued by merchants at $500, he said. The co-operative file contains list of agencies and individuals who can be called upon to do special work in emergency cases. Daily statement sheets have a record of all money received and expended and of other detailed work for every day similar to the journal kept by a bank.

Identification slips are the first records of any case handled by the bureau.

Cards Give Detail. Registration cards contain a more detailed report.

Treatment cards are those which show in detail any of the 900 possibilities for assistance rendered. Case record forms are a filing system which assists in keeping in closer touch with the various cases.

Detailed records, are the stories of each case, a new paragraph being added to the story at each new treatment, visit or call.

The file for homeless men is a record of men who are given aid once and probably will not appear for help again.

The three check financial system automatically brings out errors at once if any are made and prevents any possibility of an error passing for more than a week. Arrangements have been made with the banks by which the secretary deposits the receipts in the sums received, crediting each person on the bank book.

The three check purchasing system gives the merchant, charity organization and central board countersigned records of every purchase itemized.

The store room cards and tags form a perfect system to keep account of the material on hand and to whom dispensed. Township trustee coal slips are newly printed to carry out the system of having all coal orders handled by one officer.

Supply order blanks for school principals represent a system which will enable teachers to furnish pupils with the necessities they require to attend school, such as books or shoes. Orders are made by principals, examined by the trustee officer and made final by the charity secretary.

Tuberculosis records which have accumulated by the work of Earlham students and others will furnish information to take preventative measures against the spread and continuation of the disease.

PLAGUE OF MOTHS INFESTS STATION

Millions of frogs and locusts were sent to plague Pharaoh, ruler of Egypt thousands of years ago, but the kind had incurred divine wrath. Today a plague of gray moths has invaded the Pennsylvania station to torment Stationmaster Mayhew, who has tried to keep the station clean. Thousands of dead insects are scattered over the floor of the train sheds, where they have fallen after flying against the globes of the arc lights. In many places the floor is slippery with them. With the great strain of being cheerful to the hundreds of persons who pass in and out of the station daily, Mayhew can not understand why this additional burden had been thrust upon him.

PRINCE FELLE BY AUSTRIAN BULLET

Crown Prince Alexander of Serbia who, according to a report from London, had been dangerously wounded while leading his troops against the Austrian forces. The Crown Prince is 26 years old and became heir apparent to the Serbian throne when his older brother, Prince George, who is one year his senior, renounced his rights to succeed in 1909. Prince George had killed his servant and was believed he had developed homicidal mania.

Turco Aiding Wounded Foe

Much has been printed regarding the Turcos, or French Algerian troops, now fighting with the allies. The photograph shows the "other side" of one of the "black" troopers, having been taken as he was ministering to a wounded German at the close of a recent engagement.

CHARITIES TO HEED APPEAL FOR WORK

The conference of Secretary Melpolder and Mayor Robbins Saturday relative to securing employment for applicants at the Central Bureau of Charities, resulted in the calling of another conference for Wednesday of Mr. Melpolder, Mayor Robbins, Alfred Davis and C. W. Jordan. Mr. Melpolder has several plans for action. The employment agency, should one be established, will be free to men who have lost their positions through no fault of their own. It is possible that the city will help by appropriating money to do special work, thus giving employment to a number of men.

There are no statistics as to the number of men who are not working. Because there is no clamor for work, some persons say that families in Richmond are not worrying over the period of slack employment. Others say it would be impossible for a free agency to supply all applicants with work in this city.

NEW CIVIC SOCIETY WORKS FOR BRIDGE

At the regular meeting of the South-west Richmond Improvement Association tonight, a committee of three members will be appointed to act with a similar committee appointed at the West Side Improvement Association last Friday night to work toward securing the South E street location for the proposed bridge.

Other organizations of the city will be invited to appoint members to the committee and make it a city committee in favor of the E street location. Members of the two West Richmond civic societies feel that almost a county-wide sentiment has been aroused against placing the bridge at L street. Feeling among persons directly affected by the proposed bridge is intense.

Later it is probable that the South-west Richmond Improvement Association will hold meetings only once a month instead of every week.

Australia plans to spend $25,000,000 in three years for extending its telephone and telegraph systems.
