

ENGLAND CONCEALS TURKEY'S ACTIVITY FROM INDIAN MEN

British Officers Fear Mutiny if Mohammedan Troops of Soldiers Learn of Holy Edict.

[BY LEASED WIRE.]
ROME, Nov. 11.—Berlin telegram received here by way of Vienna, says that the British military authorities have adopted the most rigid precautions to prevent news of Turkey's entrance into the war from reaching Mohammedan Indian soldiers who are fighting with the allies in northern France and Belgium. The dispatch following the British secretary of war, has issued an order to his generals on the continent to prevent the Mohammedan Indian soldiers from learning of Turkey's advent into the war for fear of a mutiny. General Joffre, the French commander in chief, has issued a similar order to the French generals. This task is made easier by the fact that few of the Indians understand the English language; their orders being translated into their native tongue by officers who can speak both English and Hindoo.

Indian prisoners taken during the last few days' fighting in West Flanders, were engaged to learn of the trick played upon them by the English military authorities. It is believed that if the Mohammedans in the English army on the continent learn of the call for a "holy war" by the Sheik-ul-Islam in Constantinople, they will at once desert the allied army.

"Bill" evidently worked in the same offices with Neely. The letters warned Mrs. Neely against being seen in her husband's company. The couple were well dressed and wore handsome jewelry. A card found in Neely's suit case established his identity as G. H. Neely, manager for the Petroleum Iron Works company of Sharon, Pa., at Cushing, Okla. Telegrams indicate he is engaged in large operations in the oil fields. Other messages indicated he had gone to 125 South Twelfth street, Richmond, Ind., to see his wife.

The letters signed "Bill" and addressed to Mrs. Neely were dated last Wednesday and Friday. Each began with endearments, and were profuse with expressions of love. They referred to a long distance message between the writer and Mrs. Neely from Bartlesville, Oklahoma, to Richmond, Ind.

They returned to the Terminal at 5:30 o'clock yesterday and were in good spirits, according to J. R. Parcell, manager. Beer was sent up to their room and they were not seen again after six o'clock yesterday evening. Their bodies were removed to the morgue.

Excerpts from a letter "Bill" to Estelle, follow:
"Sweetheart Dear—I am so anxious to know what you are doing, so I may understand fully just what position I may assume in the future. Let your brother know our real intentions. You see, he will be bound to know, as all will know, of the divorce and our marriage, and we do not want him to feel that we have imposed on his confidence."
"Now, darling, when he (the husband) realizes that you will not come to him, he will come to you. You must hold steadfast to our plans; and above all things on earth, sweetheart, dear girl, do not be alone forever."

Advise Divorce.
"This is most vital, indeed, because he may raise trouble when he realizes that you are to have your freedom and it is most essential that you have proofs that you were never his wife after he drove you away. This he will understand to be the one way to prevent your divorce, and he will do all in his power, I am sure, to prevent your escaping him entirely."
"I presume that he will be in a bad humor when I get back and may claim that I had something to do with your change of mind. But I shall hold my head and keep cool. I act just as usual at the office, go along the hall by his office, whistling the same old tunes and keep my office door always open when I am in and closed when I am out, just the same as I always did."

Letter to Husband.
A letter from Mrs. Neely to her husband in Cushing, dated Tuesday, November 4, read in part:
"Dear George—I had had two messages from Fox advising my return. I take it that he does not understand, and that you have not requested him to send for me. I am sure, George, that I can only reiterate all I have said before you left, because you compelled me to do so, and surely you could not want my return after your shameful conduct, within hearing distance of I do not know how many."
"I repeat—you were wrong."
"I am sure you have forgotten yourself. I have not deserved your abuse. Surely you could not mean all that you said."

"My heart is broken. I am grieved beyond expression of words. Never could I endure your shameful accusations. I have given you no cause."
