

PLEASURE SMOTHER CHRISTIANS' GROWTH

Rev. U. S. A. Bridge Calls Popular Amusements Dangerous Acids.

"Carbonic and sulphuric acids of our popular amusements asphyxiate many Christian lives and prevent them from expanding," said the Rev. U. S. A. Bridge at the Grace Methodist church Sunday morning, comparing the expansion of the Christian life to the growth of a seed. The Rev. Mr. Bridge mentioned the amusements as one of the unfavorable conditions in the environment which would stunt life.

With each succeeding temptation overcome, the attractions of the world become less alluring, he said. To illustrate this he described the gradual fading of the horizon as the big steamer leaving a harbor pulls farther to sea, away from the contamination near the shore to the pure air and water far out in the ocean.

The twentieth anniversary of Hokendauqua tribe of Red Men was celebrated, Saturday night entirely in a social way, members and their families numbering about 150 persons enjoying the affair.

The Hokendauqua orchestra played while the members entered the lodge and club rooms. After several numbers, refreshments were served and dancing and card playing started.

The new club rooms of the lodge are on the second floor of the Odd Fellows building where the Central Union Telephone company was located. The rooms are prettily furnished. The lodge rooms are on the third floor over the club rooms.

makes one wonder why physical comfort did not force them to adopt boots ages ago.

Clocks don't go here any more than they did in Przemysl. Beds are also made two feet too short. The same style of bedclothes, a sheet buttoned over a short unwarmed comforter, is all. The bridge was destroyed between these two towns, but a new low bridge on iron boats allows one line of passage at a time.

"We were to go over to see the demolished town. It was raining, muddy, cold. Same old story. I only repeat lest you forget and think it lets up here sometimes. We were to walk. Not I. Couldn't if I wanted to. Wouldn't if I could. I remembered the advice of my best friend, that there is no glory in the death of a non-combatant on a battlefield. It does not earn decorations. So I asked and obtained permission to hire at my expense an ancient victoria, reminiscent of Paris before the day of the indispensable taxi.

Her Stuffed Driver. Everybody deserted me. They said everything was taken by the military. I could get nothing. I sent a soldier. He came back instantly with a sad horse and stuffed driver.

I arrived at the bridge to find my party standing in the rain, waiting for the draw to close. They were wet and muddy and not overly pleased. I felt very comfortable in my carriage. I was less comfortable when I tried to pass the sentry. He stopped me and demanded a pass. I had none. No one had said one was necessary. Finally, by signs after a long parley, I was motioned admittance. The carriage went with a rush down this side and climbed laboriously up the other.

Some fifty small houses, totally wrecked by shot, lined the shore road. That was the Serbian town of Mitrovica. On the banks were good trenches, built by the Serbs for their unsuccessful battle. A few wrecked bits of furniture and one empty bird cage is all that remained.

Into the rain, at a beastly hour, we leave in the morning for the firing line, where there is neither house nor habitation of any kind, only soldiers in muddy, wet trenches. We expect

RUSS TAKES TABRIZ FROM TURKISH ARMY

Porte's Soldiers Take $10,000,000 Booty From Kerbela Sanctuaries.

[BY LEASED WIRE.] PETROGRAD, Feb. 1.—Official announcement was made here today of the occupation of Tabriz, Persia, by Russian troops. The following details were given:

"After the battle at Sofia the Turks, who had suffered heavily, retired toward Tabriz, while the Russians re-occupied about mid-day Saturday. The Turks and their Kurd allies fled in the direction of Maranah. The Russian consul general at Tabriz, who fled from that city when the Turks entered it, is returning. Among the spoils seized by the Russians in Sofia was a holy war flag."

It is reported from Ispahan that the Turkish army of invasion in Persia looted sanctuaries at Kerbela, seizing $10,000,000 worth of treasures.

If we reach them to see something of the horrors of real war.

Already we are having deserters. Many reported sick at supper and begged to be excused from going. They have been. I am sick. I am afraid to say so, because I want to go. Then—what?

RENEW DANUBE FIGHT

[BY LEASED WIRE.] SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 1.—Heavy firing was heard all day Sunday in the Danube valley, east of the Iron Gate, indicating a renewal of hostilities in eastern Serbia. It is believed that the Austrians reinforced by German troops are preparing to begin a new attack.

PUT GODS WILL FIRST

Stovall Tells How to Grow Spirituality.

"You cannot say 'No' to God and retain his favor," said Rev. W. O. Stovall, pastor of the First Baptist church last night. The Rev. Mr. Stovall based his sermon on the extent of Christian service, and said, "We must be willing to submit our every wish to God and be willing to trust his judgment in all things if we expect to serve him. There are many who express a desire to follow Him and work in His service, who bring up short against some obstacle that thwarts their own desire. This is the test of the true Christian. If the will of the Lord is denied just once, all that has gone before is lost."

FLOODED BASEMENT SINKS HOUSE WALL

Centerville Family Carries Goods to Safety After Stove Falls to Floor.

CENTERVILLE, Ind., Feb. 1.—When water filled the basement of the Ted Ireton's home the foundation was undermined causing the east walls to collapse late yesterday evening. The first warning the family had was the overturning of the baseburner which set fire to the carpet. The fire was put out and the furniture carried out as the walls sank gradually. The loss is estimated at $700, as Mr. Ireton will practically have to rebuild his home.

Mr. Ireton has been putting in a new basement and foundation, but had been prevented from completing the work by the severe cold weather. The thaw and the rain yesterday caused the temporary foundation to give way.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Adv.

plaint asks for judgment on a note which was given in payment for oil, gasoline and other supplies.

Keep the Children Bright and Happy

Happy youngsters must be healthy. The digestive organs of children get out of order as readily as do those of their elders, and the result is equally distressing. When the bowels are clogged with an accumulation of refuse from the stomach the child naturally becomes cross and fretful from the discomfort, and it often punished for temper when medical attention is really what is needed.

The next time your child is cross and unhappy, without apparent reason, try giving it a mild laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild, pleasant tasting combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, and is especially recommended for children because of its freedom from opiate or narcotic drugs and its gentle action. It is sold in drug stores everywhere. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.
