PITTSBURG YARDS ORDERED CLOSED

300 Head Shot as Inflicted With the Hoof and Mouth Disease.

[BY LEASED WIRE.]

PITTSBURG, Feb. 9.—The Pittsburg stock yards closed completely at noon today because of a serious outbreak of foot and mouth disease discovered there this morning. This will prevent the shipment of cattle to this city except for immediate slaughter. The work of emptying the yard of stock on hand was started late yesterday afternoon, when intimations were given out that the yards would be completely shut down today. At that time there were 18,000 head of live stock in the pens, and this morning there remained but one thousand. All of the stock remaining is being inspected, and any infected with the disease will be killed. Three hundred head were shot yesterday and this morning.

Fame For Wilson's Baby

Astrologer Predicts Wealth and Political Rise for the White House Baby.

[BY LEASED WIRE.]

HOBOKEN, N. J., Feb. 9.—Wealth, fame and political rise are in store for Francis Sayre, President Wilson's grandson. This horoscope of the White House baby is revealed by Professor Gustave Meyers the astrologer.

Here is what he says: "I find that this child was born under the zodiacal sign of Cancer, in the ascendant, and as the moon is the ruling planet of this sign, it therefore follows and signifies that the moon is the ruling planet of the child for life. 'The moon, in conjunction with and befriended by the unfortunate planet Jupiter, signifies that the child is born of great wealth, fame and success, but most of the wealth will be through legacies, wills and goods of the child's ancestors.'

"The four cardinal signs of the zodiac—Aries, Cancer, Libra and Capricorn—posted in the four angles of the heavens, signify that the child is bound to lead an eventful, checkered and romantic life, and will rise to the top of the ladder of fame and success and become quite a factor in political matters."

A Child Actress In a Leading Role

HELEN BADGLEY, THE THANDROUSER KIDLET.

Helen Badgley, the "most famous child in the world" as she has been described, is playing an important part in many episodes of Thanhouser's new serial "Zudora."

Little Miss Badgley, and she insists upon the "Miss," is the first child actress to be given a really important dramatic role in a great serial. That her selection for the part was a wise one is evidenced by her performance in the scenes in which she has the lead.

Technical observers declared her work remarkable for one of her years, and they have marveled at the ease with which the diminutive star registered even the most subtle points, accomplishing the director's desire oftentimes with an immediate perception of what was wanted quite in contrast to some of the coworkers many years her senior.

One scene shows Helen locked in a caboose upon a lonely siding. It would be plain by her acting how she got there even if the introductory scenes were not illustrative of her plight. The big blue eyes which shine out of the childish countenance, seemingly too large for their setting, reveal tiny tears starting on their journey as though back of them a child's heart really was breaking.

There is an immediate appeal which none can deny and later, when the situation turns out happily as all such situations must, when the tears are gone and the doll face is wreathed in smiles, one feels like reaching right up and lifting her out from the screen and giving her the cuddling she deserves.

INSPECTS FURNACE BURNING GARBAGE

Building Inspector Hodgkin went to Iron Mountain, Mich., today to inspect a crematory recently installed by Mr. Wagoner of Huntington, Ind. From what the board knows of the Wagoner incineration system it is greatly impressed with it, and if the Iron Mountain crematory proves satisfactory to Hodgkin the board will probably contract with Wagoner to install three of his incinerators in the crematory building.
