Tells of Gold Seekers

By M. M. LACEY

One Man Trundles Possessions on Wheelbarrow.

What is believed to be an authentic account of the party of gold seekers which went from Wayne county, is related by Major M. M. Lacey of Fountain City. Major Lacey differs from Prof. J. B. Unthank in many details of the story which Prof. Unthank wrote some time ago. Mr. Lacey's story follows:

These gold seekers were not forty-niners. They left old Newport (now Fountain City) on Saturday morning, March 30, 1850. Six four-horse wagons contained their outfit, and sixteen extra horses were led. The party consisted of twenty-seven men, nearly all of whom were from New Garden and Franklin townships.

One member of the party, John Unthank, did not cross the Mississippi river, but sold his outfit to a wild Irishman and returned to his home, Joseph Unthank, a brother of John, was also a member of the party, and was a brother-in-law of Linden Osborn, one of the two survivors of the party.

Nixon Goes Survivor.

Dr. Nixon was not one of this company, but went a little earlier from Wilmington, O. Neither was Charles Comfort a member of this colony, but was a party unto himself. He left old Newport early in the fall of '49 with his outfit loaded on a wheelbarrow, and started to trundle it across the plains to California. Some of the members of the Newport party saw him on the plains, and that was the last ever known or heard of him by any one here until Willie Collins, a banker of Douglas, Wyo., inquired about him. The mention of his name by Mr. Collins is the first news ever received by Fountain City people.

Four of the old Newport company died on the plains before reaching California. Albertson Lamb was the first. He died Sunday, June 16, 1850, and Joseph Lautner died the next day, June 17. Some years ago I saw an item taken from the Rocky Mountain News, stating that two headstones had been found by some cowboys far out on the plains, giving the initials of these men and the dates of death, and asking for any information as to who they were. I answered this article, giving the information.

Alva H. Unthank was the third member of the party to die—July 2, 1850—and it is the grave that Mr. Collins asks information about.

Helps Dig Grave.

Mr. brother-in-law, Linden Osborn, says he helped to dig the grave and bury Mr. Unthank; that he and another member of the party planted cactus on the grave and placed flat stones around to prevent wild animals from digging for the body.

Mr. Collins says that within fifty yards of this grave passes the Yellowstone highway, which runs from the Lincoln highway at Cheyenne, Wyo., to Yellowstone Park, and is twenty-two miles west of Douglas. Sol Woody, one of the party, an artist of some note in oil and water-colors, also an engraver, cut the name of Mr. Unthank on the headstone, and he told me many times he cut the names on the headstones of all the men who died. The last member of the company to die was Samuel Curtis, who died about twenty or thirty days after the death of Mr. Unthank.

SALTS IF KIDNEYS OR BLADDER BOTHER

Harmless to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids—Splendid for System.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

FARMER'S WIFE HAD HEAP TO DO

Mrs. Shepherd Was in Bad Shape When She Could Not Stand on Her Feet.

Durham, N. C.—"I am a farmer's wife," writes Mrs. J. M. Shepherd, of this city, "and have a heap to do."

"Four months ago I could not stand on my feet, to do anything much, but at this time I do the most of my work. I took Cardui and it did me more good than all the doctors."

"You don't know half how I thank you for the Cardui Home Treatment. I wish that all women who suffer from womanly trouble would treat themselves as I have."

Ladies can easily treat themselves at home, with Cardui, the woman's tonic. It is easy to take, and so gentle in its action, that it cannot do anything but good.

Being composed exclusively of vegetable ingredients, Cardui cannot lay up trouble in your system, as mineral drugs often do. Its ingredients having no harsh, medicinal effects, and being non-poisonous and perfectly harmless, Cardui is absolutely safe for young and old.

Ask your druggist. He will tell you to try Cardui.

When you build your home

you will have many things to think of, things of which you have heretofore thought vaguely, but of which you must now think definitely and closely. You will be forced to rely upon specialists in the various building trades for advice in selection and arrangement. The mason, the carpenter, the heating contractor, etc., will all be glad to help you and you will need their help, for each is a specialist in his own line and knows things about it which the average man does not know.

Above all, you will need the help of the architect, for he is the Master Specialist of home building. Years of study and years of practice have made him a specialist not only in design and construction, but in the multitude of practical details that enter into every building. He sees them as a complete whole as no other person connected with the building can. Each of the tradesmen can advise you in the problems of his own trade, but the architect can advise you in the intricate correlation of all of these—to the end you so ardently desire, the creation of an artistic home—beautiful because practical and harmonious.

The trained architect sees the home as a whole, complete and occupied. He places the furniture in his mind's eye on the plans. He foresees the effects of decoration and furnishings, and plans for those effects. He foresees the necessities of housekeeping and provides for them. He can with the most modest priced materials obtain for his clients' needs a building most appropriate and with enduring charm. He knows not only what heating is best to use for your building construction and exposure—where the piping can and must go—what kind, size and shape of radiator for each room, hall, etc.,—but where it can best be placed to exert greatest heating efficiency with the most artistic and unobtrusive effect.

The leading feature of any home is comfort

There is one feature of a building which more than any other, all architects now, unitedly and strenuously, strive to have adopted. Every architect knows that no matter how clever the plan, no matter how harmonious or in good taste are the completed structure, trim and decorations, when the days arrive of cutting winds and sudden temperature drops there will be trouble for his client and for him if the heating outfit fails to respond. The finer the furnishings, the greater will be the contrast and emphasis on any lack of heating comfort. Every one of the million outfits of IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators now in use in both Americas, Europe, Australia and Japan is giving topmost satisfaction and the fuel savings have already repaid or are fast repaying the original cost—everyone is a paying-investment, not an expense. Further, each outfit will give ideal results as long as the building endures in which it is placed!

Always consult an architect—even before you buy a lot

When you build your home, your first step—even before you buy your lot—should be to employ the trained architect, for he can help you choose the correct setting for the kind of building you want to erect, as well as to assist you in putting heart into your home by selecting and placing your radiator heating outfit to do best work with the least amount of fuel and care-taking. Ask your architect—ask any architect what heating he would use if he were building his own home. His answer will be: "IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are the best that money can buy, yet cost no more. They are fully guaranteed." Whether your building is a store, office, school, church, flat, farm or city house, etc., ask to-day for free book: "Ideal Heating," full of big facts you ought to know. Puts you under no obligation to buy.

Ask also for catalog of the stationary, genuine, unfailing ARCO WAND Vacuum Cleaners—at $150 up.
