Get this better habit--Buy Butter-Krust Bread

(Fresh Every Day)

HOME BAKED BREAD IS A RELIC of primitive days in this country, when there were no public bakeries--when people had to bake their bread and spin and weave their own clothes. We have progressed in many ways--we let the mills spin and weave for us; why should we insist upon still laboring at the hot oven and the kneading board? In the old country, where customs are longer established, home-baked bread is almost unknown. Everyone has bread from the baker fresh every day. Why should not you? Bread-baking at home means hard work and the best part of a day's time, once or twice a week, for someone. It also means stale bread to "work up" before the batch is gone. Use your bread-making time for something else and enjoy BUTTER-KRUST Bread fresh every day, in the clean, wrapped package.
