Honoring the Old Soldiers

The Indiana branch of the Grand Army of Republic is holding its annual meeting at Marion. The coming together of the rapidly thinning ranks of the men who fought for the preservation of the Union calls attention to a form of patriotism we so easily overlook. Respect to the old soldiers ought to be a national trait, but its observance, alas, too often is overlooked or forgotten in the stress of business and other interests.

Indiana cities that have entertained the G. A. R. temporarily have been aroused to their patriotic duty, but shortly after the old veterans have returned to their homes, the inspiration to patriotic duty they engendered is forgotten and we go on in supine indifference to their work in preserving the Union.

These soldiers fought for a principle and a cause. They were not engaged in a war for territorial gains; they did not fight merely to bring military renown to their nation, but they endured hardships and faced death to liberate men and to prove that the United States really was a land for the free.

Their achievements deserve to be recognized by the American nation. Every citizen ought to feel his patriotism aroused anew every time he sees a G. A. R. man; every school child ought to be taught the lesson of showing courtesy and respect to the old men in blue. They earned the right to distinction.

RELIGIOUS LEADERS CONVEENE IN EATON

EATON, O., May 28.—With interest augmented by the presence of Ohio's leading church and Sunday school workers, the annual convention of the Preble County Sunday School association opened today in the First Presbyterian church. The attendance probably will be exceptionally large and the meeting will be recorded as the greatest in the history of the organization.

One of the features of the morning session was an address by M. G. Bailey of Columbus, superintendent of the secondary department of the Sunday School association. Dr. Bailey is also the originator of the congress idea for boys and girls. Another address of interest was delivered by H. C. Criddle of Dayton, president of the Montgomery County Sunday School association, whose subject was "The Rights of the Pupil." The morning devotional services were conducted by Prof. C. R. Coblenz of Campbelltown.

play, students and business men, in such degree as to prove detrimental to the work and influence of the college." After having taken the oral and written evidence of more than sixty persons, including members of the faculty, employees of the college, business men and citizens of Richmond, the board unanimously found as follows:

"After a thorough and careful investigation the board finds the evidence not sufficient to substantiate the charges. Some conditions in Bunday hall and other matters of administration have not been satisfactory, but measures have been inaugurated to correct them."

Get Hearsay Evidence.
After discussion at great length it was unanimously decided to receive the evidence under conditions satisfactory to all witnesses. Quite a number of witnesses were unable to make any direct testimony, but some of them testified that the information which they had expected to give was hearsay, all of which the board ruled out. In order to satisfy the board as to the hearsay evidence, one witness was permitted to give all of such evidence he had, and upon investigation of said hearsay evidence the board was unable to find anything that in any way would materially substantiate them, including the charge against the integrity of the administration. The board has used every means at its command to make this investigation thorough and complete. In order to ally to some extent at least, some of the rumors which are in existence relative to the administration's desire to rid itself at various times of popular professors, the board desires to give below letters from two professors, whose names have in nearly every instance been mentioned:

"Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y., April 29, 1915.
"My Dear Mr. Hollowell—If I am not mistaken, I have never replied to a much prized communication from you giving me the kind words and good wishes of the board of trustees of Earlham college. Mrs. Chase and I find our affection for Earlham college and our belief in her increasing as the years go by. I have often, since leaving, and I wish here again now to do it, expressed my appreciation of the sincere, unselfish and honest and the splendid quality of the college we both love. I have never had the apologetic attitude toward Earlham, which some Quakers of my acquaintance have not been able entirely to get away from. Earlham has no need to apologize either for her ideals or for the distinguished success with which she has achieved much with comparatively slender means."

Pays Kelly Tribute.
"Here you must allow me to pay a personal tribute to the man who has been most of all responsible for the success to which I have referred. One can not work for nine years in close contact with another man, especially a college president, and not know whether he is a square man or a man capable of big things and generous things. I can say all this very sincerely of Robert Kelly. Under his administration Earlham has been able to maintain as fine an ideal of a denominational college as I know anything about. There is no stronger breath of life in the denominational institutions of this country than that which is being breathed by Earlham. The general tuition for the present year demonstrates the fact that the college has the largest enrollment of students in the regular courses in the liberal arts and sciences of any year in its history, while the number of deposits for rooms in the dormitory for next year compares favorably with any previous year."
Signed by direction and on behalf of the board,
AMOS K. HOLLOWELL, President.
MARY A. STUBBS, Secretary.

Richmond, Ind., May 26, 1915.
To the Palladium:
From the laboring man's standpoint the buying of the L. H. & P. Co's plant means the reduction of his taxes in the near future.

The laboring man pays all the taxes, for it is added to the cost of everything he buys. The purchase of this plant means the most to these men. They are the ones in majority who are to go security for this debt, but as to increasing their taxes, it is to laugh. To do this, the plant will have to pay all the indebtedness in five years from its earnings.

To my mind and the minds of the majority of workmen I represent, the idea of waiting seems ridiculous. We have lost too much by waiting. If the city had carried out all the improvements it contemplated doing the taxes would sure have gone out of sight. It was the laboring people of Richmond who voted to install an electric light plant of their own, when they found out the exorbitant price they were paying the L. H. & P. Co. for electric current. I don't think they have ever regretted it.

The reduction from 15 cents per K. W. to 6 cents per K. W. speaks for itself, and if the city buys the other plant in five years it can be reduced to 4 cents per K. W.

The freezing out process makes me laugh. The people of Richmond are not fighting the L. H. & P. Co. They are up against a thirty million dollar corporation with its main office in New York and have plants all over the United States.

Richmond is the only city that has forced this corporation to reduce its rates. I think I am perfectly safe in saying that in no other city where this corporation is furnishing electric current, the price is not less than twelve cents per K. W. and don't forget it used to be fifteen cents before we got our municipal plant.
We working men want to know if the L. H. & P. Co. are selling current at the rate that was rescinded by the State Utility Commission. It is rumored that a few favored ones are getting that lower rate. If it is so, why does the corporation discriminate?
Lastly, if the city of Richmond has contracted to buy the L. H. & P. Co's plant and cannot get out of it, let's wait till the Commission puts a price on it and buy it.
Yours sincerely,
Wm. A. Fahlsing,

WHEN DINNER COMES

One Ought to Have a Good Appetite.

A good appetite is the best sauce. It goes a long way toward helping in the digestive process, and that is absolutely essential to health and strength.

Many persons have found that Grape-Nuts food is not only nourishing but is a great appetizer, and children like the taste of it and grow strong and rosy from its use.

It is especially the food to make a weak stomach strong and create an appetite for dinner.

"I am 57 years old," writes a Tenn. grandmother, "and have had a weak stomach from childhood. By great care as to my diet I enjoyed a reasonable degree of health, but never found anything to equal Grape-Nuts as a standby."

"When I have no appetite for breakfast and just eat to keep up my Grape-Nuts with good rich milk, and when dinner comes I am hungry. While if I go without any breakfast I never feel like eating dinner. Grape-Nuts for breakfast seems to make a healthy appetite for dinner."

"My little grandson was sick with stomach trouble during the past summer, and finally we put him on Grape-Nuts. Now he is growing plump and well. When asked if he wants his nurse or Grape-Nuts, he brightens up and points to the cupboard. He was no trouble to wean at all—thank to Grape-Nuts."

DASHING RUNAWAY MISSES BABY CAB

CAMBRIDGE CITY, Ind., May 28.—While delivering some hay at the Wheelan building Thursday morning, Orle Graver left his horse standing hitched. Just as he came from the building the horse became frightened at the 10:37 east bound car and ran east toward the Graver grocery. In attempting to run into the alley-way at the store, the horse ran against a cluster light pole and fell, breaking both the front and rear wheels on the right side of the wagon and narrowly escaped striking Mrs. Lenna Castetter of Centerville, who was passing along the street, pushing a baby cab.

orchestra was given before the regular program opened at 8 o'clock.

The graduates occupied tiers of seats behind the platform. The entire class of girls wore dresses of white and many carried bouquets of red roses.

At the foot of the platform were ferns, palms and green plants which lent a pleasing color to the scene while American flags and pieces of bunting were in evidence everywhere in the hall.

As the orchestra played, the graduates marched in twos from the rear of the Coliseum to their seats. The entire audience spontaneously applauded as the young men and women entered and then stood and remained standing with the students until the close of the orchestra number, "The Star Spangled Banner."

Besides the music by the orchestra and speeches, a violin solo by Miss Hilda Kirkman and two piano solos by Miss Marjorie Beck won much applause.

In presenting the class to Superintendent Giles for the awarding of the diplomas, Principal Pickell referred to the seniors as "one hundred and ten jewels who have not done a single thing to break their ranks during the last year."

Mr. Giles pointed out to the students the high standard of citizenship which was expected of them and the service they were expected to give their country, state and city.

Rev. H. C. Harman, pastor of the First M. E. church delivered the invocation and benediction.
