

CHANGE CELEBRATION ON FOURTH OF JULY FROM JACKSON PARK

At the request of numerous interested citizens, the committee having in charge the arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration, and the majority of the county executive committee, with a number of other persons, went over to Jackson Park and Centerville to look over the situation. It was the unanimous opinion of all of the party, that on account of the narrowness of the road, the inconvenient way of entering the park, the insufficient room for parking machines, the inadequate supply of water, and the lack of accommodations in case of rain, that there should be a reconsideration by the townships in reference to the place of meeting, and Centerville was unanimously chosen as the better place by all of the parties.

You are requested to forward, at once, to the county secretary, Prof. Elise, at Centerville, by telephone or letter, the decision of your township. This information must be in by Monday the 21st inst., if possible.

HONOR DUDLEY FOULKE

William Dudley Foulke of this city is a prominent factor in the conference being held in Philadelphia to promote the creation of a league to lessen possibilities of armed conflict. He was chosen as one of the permanent vice-presidents on the list of representative American citizens. Ex-president Taft was chosen president. The organization has been named, "League to Enforce Peace, American branch."

Mr. Foulke offered to the first article of the proposed league an amendment which in effect would leave to the nations in the league the option to place in the treaties they sign, the specific things they declare shall be justifiable or nonjustifiable. The first article of the league as it stands Mr. Foulke said, would give to the judicial tribunal jurisdiction to decide such questions. He did not believe an international tribunal should decide the internal affairs of any nation, such as naturalization or immigration questions.

AUSTRALIAN BAYONETS
FIVE TURKS IN TRENCH
CAIRO, June 18.—According to wounded men brought here from the Gallipoli and Peninsula, an Australian, who is renowned for his height and great strength, jumped into a Turkish trench, and bayoneted five men in quick succession, hurling each man out of the trench on the end of his bayonet. He did it as easily and coolly as if he had been tossing hay, and it is said, it occasioned him no more fatigue than if he had actually been engaged in the latter occupation.

The sunflower is cultivated rather extensively in the south of Russia. It furnishes oil, fodder and potash.

FRENCH WRITE WILLS BEFORE ENGAGEMENT

PARIS, June 18.—A young French sub-lieutenant writes home as follows: "The other evening just before the attack on Notre Dame de Lorette, on May 9, we had the greatest bit of fun. The colonel and the captain and all of us subalterns were sitting around a table and we all took our pen, ink and paper, and started writing."

"Each looked at the other and asked what he was doing. One said apologetically, 'Well, I am writing my will.' Then it turned out that we were all writing our wills."
