

ENGLAND RISES TO GREAT NEED OF MORE MEN

Self-Confident Nation Is Aroused Into Unheard of Activity Begins to Comprehend Extent of War.

CITIZENS RESPONDING

Abandons Idea of Getting Professional Soldiers to Fight and Thousands Volunteer for Service.

BY HERBERT TEMPLE.

LONDON, July 12.—A most wonderful change has come over London, or rather all England, during the last month. An easy going, phlegmatic, self-confident nation, used to seeing its battles fought by its professional soldiers, has suddenly been awakened and aroused into unheard of activity by the earnest appeals of minister of munitions, Lloyd-George, whose addresses have rung out from one end of the country to the other, setting in vibration responsive chords in the hearts of high and low alike, and the irresistible eloquence of Ben Tillett, the labor leader, who came back from the trenches, his great heart filled with wonder and admiration of what he had seen.

Whole Nation Helps.

The whole English nation is at last "doing its bit," and the change that has become apparent even to those who live in the very midst of things, is, of course, even more noticeable to a visitor who returns after an interval of months. A high military officer, member of the general staff of one of the Scandinavian countries, who had spent some two weeks here as the guest of a British general, said to me: "I am greatly impressed with what I have seen here this time. When I was here in November last I was amazed at the general apathy shown by the public, and it was my honest conviction that nothing but general conscription and military dictatorship could make this country turn out the armies and munitions which France was counting on. When reading in the papers at home of strikes and petty squabbles of all kinds among the people here, my conviction was greatly strengthened. Now, as if by magic, I find everything changed.

"Every opportunity has been given me by the military authorities to form my own opinion, and I am willing to assert before any one that the English army today is well above the two million mark, and not only this, it is equipped as no army I ever saw was equipped. What has been accomplished here during the seven months since I was here last, could not be done in any other country in the world."

BEN TILLET OUT FOR LONG FIGHT

BEN TILLET

Ben Tillett, radical English labor leader, has killed an attempt to have the Federation of Trade Unionists extend sympathy to the Trade Unionists of Germany "on account of their peculiar position in which their government has placed them." Tillett turned all the biting sarcasm for which he is famous, on the labor leaders who supported and introduced the resolution at a meeting of the English Federation in London. "I am amazed at such rigamarole," shouted Tillett. "Why, men, don't you know that before the war the workmen of Germany boasted in their cafes that they would crush France and then turn around and crush England?" This scrap must be a fight to the finish. Whoever heard of two prize fighters stopping to kiss each other? Let's have no more of this sentimental bosh." The resolution was promptly voted down. Tillett is one of the hardest workers in the huge recruiting campaign.

Artesian well drillers recently discovered a rich deposit of copper in a region in Argentina, where none was known to exist.

A BIT OF PHILOSOPHY FROM WET WEATHER TALK
JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

It hain't no use to grumble and complaine;
It's jest as cheap and easy to rejoice.
When God sorts out the weather and sends rain.
W'y, rain's my choice.

Men ginerly, to all intents—
Although they're apt to grumble some—
Puts most theyr trust in Providence,
And takes things as they come.

In this existence, dry and wet
Will overtake the best of men—
Some little skift o' clouds'll shet
The sun off now and then.—

And mayby, whilse you're wundern who You've fool-like lent your umbrrell to,
And want it—out'll pop the sun,
And you'll be glad you hain't got none!

HELMES STATES MEANS TO KILL WHEAT FLIES

J. S. Helms, government monthly reporter, has received from the United States department of agriculture the weekly news letter containing rules for farmers to following to bring about the extermination of the Hessian fly. The following is taken from the letter: "The loss in the 1915 wheat crop from the ravages of the Hessian fly in some sections will be the greatest in several years. From June to October, 1914, the department issued repeated warnings and advisory statements telling of the impending danger of a serious outbreak of the pest during the year 1915. It is too late to do anything toward lessening the devastations of the Hessian fly in this year's crop. Now is the time, however, to begin the work of saving from the fly the millions of acres of wheat which will be planted on the present infested area within the new few months.

Fly Causes Losses.
"In order to understand the situation fully, it is necessary to know what the fly is like, how it is capable of causing such enormous losses, and how it transforms from the egg to the fully developed insect. Comparatively few farmers are able to recognize this pest excepting in what is known as the flag-seed stage, which even then is often mistaken for the egg.

There are two generations of the Hessian fly each year, one in the fall and one in the following spring, the latter being the children of the former. Therefore, if there were no flies to lay eggs in the fall, it stands to reason that there could be none to lay eggs in the spring.

Rules for Extermination.
"The Hessian fly, being in the flag-seed stage in wheat stubble and in unharvested wheat from June till September, or even in the south, can be destroyed by carrying out the following method of control.

Burn where possible and safe all stubble and ruined wheat. Disk all stubble and ruined wheat immediately after harvest, when burning is impracticable.

Plow under deeply all stubble and ruined wheat fields before August 15, harrow the ground, and roll if necessary.

Harrow, disk, pasture or otherwise effectually destroy all volunteer wheat.

"As a measure preparatory to sowing, plow as early and deeply as existing conditions will permit; disk, harrow and roll until a thoroughly pulverized, compact seed bed is formed. "Do not sow wheat until after fly-free date. Rotate crops if possible."

CONTINUE SERVICES

Attendance at the evening services of the Grace Methodist church continues so good this summer that arrangements will not be made to discontinue these services during July and August. This announcement was made by the pastor, the Rev. U. S. A. Bridge, today. Dr. Bridge said, however, it was probable that these services would be dismissed two Sunday evenings while the Chautauqua is in session. No official action has been taken, however.

SWEEPING OVER CITY WIND UPROOTS TREES IN DIAGONAL COURSE

Rain and wind which swept over the city for fifteen minutes late Saturday afternoon uprooted trees and covered the sidewalk with broken limbs. The storm was over in less than half an hour, apparently traveling in a diagonal line across the city from the southwest to the northeast.

A large tree was uprooted on South Eighth street below C street. Side-walks on South Ninth street were strewn with broken branches. A large tree was felled across South A street between Eleventh and Twelfth streets. In front of the Charles Newman home on North Sixteenth street, between Main and A streets, two trees were blown across a fence, demolishing it. Other trees in the same vicinity were uprooted.

Outside of the destruction of trees little damage in the city has been reported as the result of the storm.

Many places over the county in the lowlands and along the creeks acres of corn still remain partly submerged by the heavy rain which fell Saturday, following the deluge of last Wednesday.

A large tree on the west side of South Eighth street, between C and D streets, was uprooted and in falling brought down the trolley wire and considerably wrecked the cornices on the roof of the residence of Frank Taylor, cashier of the First National bank. The veranda was also damaged somewhat.

A tree at the corner of South

Eighth and E streets was also blown down, falling directly in front of a street car, almost causing a panic among the passengers. With two sections of the trolley wire down on South Eighth street residents took prompt action to warn people walking along the street and in vehicles of the danger.

The glass in a large door of a residence at the corner of South Tenth and E streets was blown out and other slight damage done to the house.

4 INCHES OF WATER FALL DURING WEEK

With 2.94 inches of rainfall during the heavy storm of last Wednesday the total precipitation for the week was raised to 3.63 inches. Showers and thunderstorms threatened during the entire week, only two days being clear. The maximum temperature was reached Saturday before the second storm when heat of 82 degrees was recorded. The minimum was 48 degrees reached on Sunday and Tuesday.

The report of the co-operative observer follows:

	Max.	Min.
Sunday	80	48
Monday	70	53
Tuesday	78	48
Wednesday	78	59
Thursday	72	53
Friday	78	51
Saturday	82	60

John C. BOCKMAN, Chiropractor
Over Knollenberg's Annex, South 8th St. Phone 1868

Chiropractic is the knowledge and philosophy of the cause of disease. The science of knowing how and the art of being able to adjust it. The brain is the dynamo of life current. The spinal cord and nerves carry this current to all parts of the body and health is the result.

Disease is the result of obstructing the transmission of this current, creating abnormal conditions, and is due to varying degrees of pressure upon nerves at their exit between the vertebrae of the spinal column.

A chiropractor is one who knows how to remove such pressure or cause, and enables nature to restore health. If you are sick or affected, inquiry, no doubt will convince you that Chiropractic is right and result is restoration of your health. I do not TREAT OR CURE—I remove the Cause, NATURE CURES.
