

MAN UNDER ARREST SAYS HIS PARTNER BEAT HIM IN DEAL

Archie Kightlinger of New Castle, can not understand why he is under arrest.

According to his story he bought an interest in a motion picture film, paid for the privilege of buying it, then found out that the man who had sold him a share of the picture had purchased it for less than he paid for his half interest. Now his partner, a New Castle man whose name is unknown to the police, has had Kightlinger placed under arrest and returned to New Castle for attempting to abscond with the film.

When arrested at a local theatre where he was to have exhibited the picture Sunday night Kightlinger told his story to the police.

He said his New Castle partner had interested him in a film which he said could be purchased of a man by the name of Rosenblum at Muncie for $500. After some negotiations the price was reduced to $400. Of this amount Kightlinger said he paid $100. His New Castle partner, he says, paid the other $300 and promised him a weekly wage of $15 for managing and booking the production. At the end of the year he was to make payments and become half owner of the picture.

The film was an old one and did not secure any engagements. Kightlinger suspecting something went to Muncie to call on Rosenblum as a prospective purchaser of the picture. He was informed that the reels had already been sold to a New Castle man for $75. Realizing that he had been beaten Kightlinger took complete charge of the picture, he says. His arrest followed.

RECOVER BODY.

QUEENSTOWN, July 13.—The body of Linden Bates, Jr., of New York, one of the victims of the Lusitania disaster, has been washed ashore on the Merick coast. Wesley Frost, the American consul, word that a gold watch and cigarette case marked with Mr. Bates' monogram were found on the body.

OLD TRAILS WORKERS TO CO-OPERATE WITH COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY IN CELEBRATING STATE'S CENTENARY

Active participation in the efforts of the Wayne County Historical Society to celebrate the state centenary is promised by the Wayne County Old Trails Association in a statement issued today:

"The Wayne County Old Trails Road Association, composed of the different township associations, is undoubtedly the best workable organization this county has ever had. Its end will continue to be of great value to the country, not only in the matter of promoting the claims of the old National road, but in all things pertaining to the social, moral, material and personal welfare of the citizens of township and county. Great good will come to individuals and communities who strive together in an unselfish and non-partisan way for the common welfare. In order to make clear all the purposes of this organization, it is well to re-state Article 2, Section 1 of the constitution:

"The object of this association is the advancement of the cause of the National Old Trail road as well as roads in general, and shall include such work as the collection and distribution of all data and information of interest thereto; aiding the establishment, betterment and interest, and the maintenance of roads in the township, encouraging wise legislation, assisting in the creation and development of a permanent road sentiment, hindering county and city together through lectures, joint meetings and every way increasing the good fellowship that should exist between country and city, co-operating and assisting the county and state in the betterment of roads."

"As the old National road is one of the greatest monuments that not only Wayne county possesses, but the state as well, and around which gathers a great deal of the early history of the state, we believe this organization should be very active in assisting the county and state in arousing a proper spirit of enthusiasm among her citizens. This organization, among other standing committees, has appointed a committee in each township on history made up of men especially qualified for the task of gathering together and preparing the history of the important events, places and persons of the township."

"The township president and secretary, together with as many members of the historical committee, are urgently requested to meet at the Commercial club rooms on Wednesday, August 4, at 1 o'clock for a conference, preparatory to attending the meeting of the Wayne County Historical Society that meets at the library building at 2:30 the same day, that we may be prepared to co-operate with them in matters pertaining to the proper celebration of Indiana's centennial next year. The township secretary is requested to notify each member of said committee."

RENNENKAMPF SUFFERS IN JAIL CZAR PUNISHES FAMOUS GENERAL

BERLIN, July 19.—According to the newspaper Tageblatt, the Russian General Rennenkampf, who led the Muscovites in the defeat at Tannenberg, has been for some time a prisoner in the fort of St. Peter and St. Paul in Petrograd, and is suffering great hardship there.

This information has been brought to Berlin by Herr Paul Scheinpfug, musical director of the Bluthner orchestra of Berlin. Herr Scheinpfug states that he went to Russia in June, 1914, to conduct a series of symphony concerts in Riga. He was courteously received, he says, and the concerts were enthusiastically attended.

However, in July a coldness appeared to develop and when the war was declared with such suddenness he and the members of his orchestra were made prisoners. Through the kindness of some of his friends in Riga, Herr Scheinpfug received a passport.

When he reached Petrograd the passport was confiscated and he was placed in the city prison. He was incarcerated for two weeks with Chinese Tartars, and Russians, and he says, he was not permitted to communicate with the outside world. Then he, with other Germans, was transported to Wologda, in the Ural mountains. The journey over the steppes, he says, was a nightmare. Without money or food, the sufferings of the prisoners were intense. Made insane by their hardships, eighteen of the prisoners who were members of his symphony orchestra, committed suicide by drowning in the Volga.

The life in Wologda brought no end to his sufferings. Food was scarce, and the Russian officials made no attempt to relieve the three thousand hungry German prisoners, he declares, but just when starvation threatened to put an end to their misery the United States ambassador in Petrograd, who had heard of their plight, came to their relief with money and food. The Russian peasants, too, took pity on their condition and smuggled food to the prisoners at night.

Herr Scheinpfug states that Frau v. Aurich, correspondent for a Berlin newspaper, was suspected of being a spy. Although married to a Russian she was at once shot.

General Rennenkampf, who was defeated by Field Marshal von Hindenburg at Tannenberg, was arrested on his return to Petrograd and placed in solitary confinement in the famous fortress. Herr Scheinpfug declares, and adds that little mercy is shown to the defeated general, and he is suffering untold hardship.

Herr Scheinpfug returned to Germany after a trying trip of more than two weeks by way of Sweden.

FUND REACHES $540

Collections taken yesterday at the Second English Lutheran church brought the amount of money in the Jeholada chest up to approximately $540. The collection Sunday was $25. A congregational meeting ratified the recommendation of the building committee that a new heating plant be installed and that a basement 30x40 feet be placed under the building. The improvement will be paid for from the funds in the Jeholada chest.

Pastors Cause Police Trouble

Who would ever have thought that the police would ever have trouble with ministers?

Yet, George Staubach, patrolman, declares that some of them are constantly violating the law.

The other day a clergyman who was unconcerned cutting across the corner of Eighth and Main where Staubach presides as traffic patrolman was halted by the officer.

"Say, parson, if you don't quit cutting this corner, I'll have to arrest you."

"Say, don't do it today," pleaded the minister, Rev. Harry Harman, "our Sunday school is having a picnic and I want to attend."

Rev. Conrad Huber has also received reprimands from Staubach. Mr. Huber in response instructed Patrolman and other members of the department to be equally vigilant in other work of the department.

Prominent Indiana City Editors

GEORGE HARRISON.

M. F. SULLIVAN.

G. T. JEWETT.

Worries of the local room were completely obliterated Saturday afternoon and evening when city editors who had been attending the two-day session of the Indiana city editors' association at Indianapolis were the guests of the Pen and Pencil club and the Woman's Press club for an automobile ride and a chicken dinner at the Canoe club.

For once the so-called demon of the local room who is generally cursed by the people, the reporters and the owner of the paper was an honored guest.

He assumed the air of a real personage for whose amusement the Indianapolis organizations could not do enough. They lolled in luxurious touring cars which spend round the motor speedway a la Ralph de Palma, posed for pictures, ate fried chicken and danced. They were also entertained by Thomas Wynn president of the Indianapolis L. H. & P. company, whose 40,000 horsepower plant they inspected. The visit to the speedway and to the Canoe club followed an inspection during the early part of the afternoon of the Indianapolis newspaper plants and a luncheon at the Hotel Washington.

Hassall T. Sullivan, city editor of the Palladium and president of the state association will have charge of the movement which has been launched to organize associations in other states and to perfect a national organization. This work will be conducted from Richmond.

Dale J. Crittenger, auditor of state and owner of the Anderson Bulletin, urged the city editors to maintain their association, which he said should become a potent factor for the improvement of the profession. The success of the newspaper from the standpoint of circulation and advertising depends on the news, he said. Print the news and serve it in readable form and the profits will take care of themselves.

Fred Bates Johnson, formerly of this city, delivered an address on libel, a menace to the finances of the paper which continually hovers over the city desk.

CHIROPRACTIC

Chiropractic is the knowledge and philosophy of the cause of disease. The science of knowing how and the art of being able to adjust it. The brain is the dynamo of life current. The spinal cord and nerves carry this current to all parts of the body and health is the result.

Disease is the result of obstructing the transmission of this current, creating abnormal conditions, and is due to varying degrees of pressure upon nerves at their exit between the vertebrae of the spinal column.

A chiropractor is one who knows how to remove such pressure or cause, and enables nature to restore health. If you are sick or affected, inquiry, no doubt will convince you that Chiropractic is right and result is restoration of your health. I do not TREAT or CURE—I remove the Cause, NATURE CURES.
