CHILDREN KEEP WOMEN YOUNG

MRS. AMELIA BARR

Mrs. Amelia Barr, the famous novelist, who, at the age of 86, is writing her sixty-eighth novel, stopped long enough in her literary work at her home in Jamaica, L. I., to give a few views on women in general.

"America is likely to develop a race of prematurely old women," said Mrs. Barr. "Business women grow old in mind quickly, and it shows in their faces. Women are not built for business, primarily, and when they enter it, they are likely to become masculine, more coarse in their manner and feelings."

Mrs. Barr deprecates the lack of Christian faith among the modern women. "It is appalling," she said. "Men may do without God, but women can not."

Her crowning remark was, "Women can not keep young without children. It is the children that keep a woman ever youthful and make her retain her interest in youth."

Mrs. Barr had fifteen children, nine of whom are still living.

CONSTIPATION

WINONA CONFERENCE JUSTIFIES EXISTENCE

WINONA LAKE, Ind., July 30.—A discussion of the question "What is the Justification for the Existence of the Society of Friends" in the open forum of the Winona conference of the Young Friends of America here yesterday brought out the expression that the Society of Friends has a special contribution to make among the denominations of today, and that, although the Friends recognize the mission of other denominations, and that all are working together more today than ever before, still the special mission of Friends in standing for a closer spiritual communion of the individual with his God was freely presented as the main one of the society.

The bearing of silence in meetings for worship upon this mission proved one of the most interesting phases of the discussion. The broad representation of Friends from all over the United States gave this added meaning as silence in meetings is used by Friends in varying degrees. The final expression in regard to the question was that silence has been one of the distinguishing marks of the society, and that the idea of silence in meetings is the perfect form of united prayer, but that it is effectual only as long as it is backed by the living spirit of worship and strengthened by vocal exhortation and prayer.

Henry Gadbury of Philadelphia, one of the leaders in the denomination of Friends is here, and is taking a prominent part in the affairs of the conference. A deep earnestness pervades all the sessions, and the delegates are taking extensive notes of the proceedings.

THOMPSON BETTER.

Dan Thompson, South Fifteenth street, who was painfully injured yesterday at the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool, when he attempted to dive from the rail and his feet slipped, was improving today. A physician's services were necessary to treat his injury.

WELL DRILLING PUMPS
Bertsch Brothers
Centerville

Do you know why it is that you sometimes buy a suit which seems to fit beautifully yet some day, after you get caught in a shower, it wrinkles into hollows, hills and valleys—ridges all over?

Then you send the suit to the nearest tailor. He presses it and sends it home. After a few hours of wearing, all the puckers come back—and no amount of ironing or pressing will ever coax that suit into permanent shape again.

The reason—the fabric was improperly shrunk and, most likely, not all wool. There is only one certain process, one sure way to take every hair's-breadth of "shrink" out of that is, the London cold-water process.

FUND STARTED TO PUT BATHS IN WHITE WATER BUILDING FOR STUDENTS

WHITEWATER FUND.

Palladium $5.00

Who wants to head the list and help D. D. Ramsey, superintendent of the Whitewater Social Center, in his effort to alleviate the sufferings of the poor of Richmond during the hot summer months and to assist in caring for their comfort during the winter?

Mr. Ramsey wants to raise twenty-five dollars for the purpose of installing showers baths in the Whitewater school where the poor children of the neighborhood can cool off during the warm spell and where they can find a place to bathe and keep clean during the winter months.

Think what that will mean to nearly 200 little ones whose parents cannot afford the luxury of a bath. Just twenty-five dollars will keep these children free from many ills that might befall them and will certainly prove in the long run to be of inestimable benefit to the city.

Believing this to be a worthy cause and one that deserves the support of every citizen in the city The Palladium is undertaking the task of raising this money for the Whitewater Social Center and to have those shower baths installed and will start the fun with a donation of five dollars. Now who is the next one?

Send your donation to the Palladium office or directly to Mr. Ramsey and acknowledgement of its receipt will be made through these columns.

Mr. Ramsey today said: "The greatest need, as I see it for the Whitewater Social center and school is adequate provision for bathing. We need accommodations for at least 150 children. There are that many who do not know the meaning of regular bathing or any bathing outside of the river. The fumes and odors from their bodies become stifling in the school rooms, so that in the coldest weather we are compelled to keep the windows open almost constantly during the school session. Last spring one boy was so offensive that I sent him to the Y. M. C. A. to be "boiled." When he returned to his room his teacher did not know him. For a moment she thought she was getting a new pupil such a transformation had taken place.

"Such transformations can be wrought daily in Whitewater if we had shower baths. These can be put in, if done this summer, at a cost not to exceed twenty-five dollars. We are transforming the children through the work of our sewing teacher. The children through her instruction have made nearly seventy-five new dresses and skirts themselves. Now if we can put clean bodies within these new dresses how much will it mean?"

The shower baths for which Mr. Ramsey is asking are not a luxury but a necessity to make the children clean and healthy.

In England brewers are said to be experimenting with a view to manufacturing a non-alcoholic beer of good quality.

Tanlac is Fine Says O. L. Vore

Popular Engineer's Tribute to Master Medicine.

"I shall always be thankful that I tried your medicine," said O. L. Vore, well-known engineer of the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction company's power house, in connection with a statement on Tanlac, the celebrated preparation which is bringing happiness into so many Richmond homes.

"My work is not at all conducive to good health," he continued, and it gradually wore me out. I know I had either to quit work or rebuild my shattered health. My kidneys and liver were in a dangerous condition, and I believe my whole system suffered from catarrhal trouble. Restless sleep had added immeasurably to my troubles, and my appetite became impaired; work became a drag.

"When a clerk at Thistlethwaite's drug store, Sixth and Main streets, recommended Tanlac I recalled the many words of praise that had been spoken in favor of the medicine, and decided to try it. Today I can hardly believe I am the same man. I feel fine. My kidneys, liver, in fact my whole system acts freely and my catarrhal trouble is disappearing. I intend to continue this Tanlac treatment until completely restored."

Mr. Vore, who is a member of F. A. M., 667, and Indiana, No. 13, N. A. S. E., in concluding said to the Tanlac man: "I have told several friends of my experience with Tanlac, and some of them intend to try it."

Tanlac is sold exclusively in Richmond at Thistlethwaite's drug store, Sixth and Main, where the Tanlac Man is meeting the public daily.—Adv.
