WHEAT REACTS ON CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Wheat reacted violently after an early bulge due mainly to the buying of $1,500,000 bushels of May by a few commission houses in a market bare of selling orders. Minneapolis was conspicuously weak due to the sales of over one million bushels of cash wheat by farmers, and selling in Minneapolis against purchases at Winnipeg. Closing trades were at net losses of 1/4 to 1 1/2c, May leading. Shorts in December corn were persistent buyers, and despite the weakness in wheat the close was 1/4 higher, while May was unchanged. Oats closed 1/4 to 3/4c lower. Provisions were firm on a continuation of good export demand. Pork closed 17 1/2 to 32 1/2c higher. Lard was unchanged to 2 1/2c lower, and ribs were 5c to 7 1/2c higher.

STAR CHAMBER BOARD SESSION TAKES UP RATE

An executive session of the board of public works was held today attended by Mayor Robbins and R. K. Shiveley, special city attorney. It was first announced the meeting proposed to discuss the action of the Richmond City Water Works company in petitioning for a rate increase. Following the meeting, however, one of the officials said this question had not been considered. He said it would be inadvisable to discuss what had transpired.

City officials said if the state utility commission authorizes what the water works company has petitioned for, it would impose an unjust burden upon the patrons.

It is understood that the city will oppose any plan to increase rates. They believe the company is entitled to a moderate increase in its plant valuation because of necessary and permanent improvements made during the past year, but they assert a twenty percent rate increase based upon any fair increase in plant valuation is out of the question.

City officials also contend the company is not justified in asking a seven percent, instead of a six percent, return upon its investment. They assert the commission in the majority of cases has only permitted utilities a six percent return.

Certain city officials are speculating whether the company's officers in figuring the company's alleged $10,000 deficit for the year ending September 1, including a considerable shrinkage in business due to the abnormal rainfall during the summer months, a season of the year when the water works company usually enjoys its best business. City officials have been informed that the company's business last summer was below standard.

more indirect methods. The Dutch are not noted for "diplomacy" but for honesty and integrity and, unfortunately, for their bluntness or lack of tact. If I am to be fired for this reason, as you suggest, and the governing board of the social service bureau concurs therein, I am ready to take my medicine.

Now let us turn to the incident that is responsible, you would have us believe, for your effusion on a tactless man and a ticklish job. We understood that we were invited to appear before the council Monday night to offer our services for the Xmas Tree Celebration. We were led to believe that we attended the council meeting by special request. In other words, we considered ourselves to be the guests, so to speak, of the council and to be entitled to the treatment of guests conducting themselves with proper decorum. What happened?

Called On For Plan. In the first place, the matter seemed to come before council as a complete surprise, notwithstanding previous publicity. (See article "All Classes Share in Municipal Tree," Palladium, Sept. 9, 1915.) With scarcely a word of explanation, we were called upon to present our offer of co-operation, and the president of the Penny Club who had been decided upon by the committee to act as spokesman, was by the abrupt manner in which the matter was introduced to our surprise for the moment for utterance.

However, she presented the matter as best she could under the circumstances in two or three brief sentences, and sat down. A motion to refer the matter to a committee prevailed. I had not said a word, acting merely in the capacity of an innocent bystander with the usual result. Council adjourned, and we rose to leave the chambers without any of us having broken any of the rules of councilmanic etiquette.

Failed To Dodge. Then I noticed Councilman White rushing from his desk to some of the ladies and starting an animated discussion. I was conversing with one of the ladies and did not hear the conversation between Mr. White and the other group of ladies, except a remark by one of the ladies which led me to believe I was not only the bone of contention but the object of scurrilous attack from mine host, Council.

COUGHS THAT ARE STOPPED. Careful people see that they are stopped. Dr. King's New Discovery is a remedy of tried merit. It has held its own on the market for 46 years. Youth and old age testify to its soothing and healing qualities. Pneumonia and lung troubles are often caused by delay of treatment. man White. Now it might have been tactful of me to hide behind the lady's skirt, but Dutchmen are not built on that order. Presumably that's just the proper thing to do for a tactful paid secretary of a charitable organization, leaving the inference that no Dutchman should hold such a position; hence, your logical conclusion.

Explains His Action. I walked up to the gentleman and asked him what his complaint against me was, and he blurted out excitedly, "I want to know who'd get the money; where the money'd go to." I asked then whether he meant by that that if these ladies handled the Xmas Tree arrangements, there would be any graft in it for somebody.

"Well, you are getting yours, ain't ye," he bellowed at me and walked away. At this point, of course, a tactful charitable secretary should have permitted a sad expression to flit across his angelic countenance and with a gentle shake of the head at the perversity of human nature should have quietly wended his weary way to the chambers' exit. That's exactly what you would have done under the circumstances, of course, for the good of the cause and for the sake of holding on to your job. But I didn't.

Men Exchange Words. I made up my mind that I was going to let this public servant of ours know that I understood the motive underlying his attacks upon me. My investigation of Wayne County children upon public support uncovered the fact that at the request of Councilman White his two little grandchildren were being maintained at the taxpayers' expense at White's institute and had been brought back from that institution with a number of other children; hence, his animosity against me and his purpose to get even somehow. He did not permit me however to state more than that he had sent his grandchildren to White's institute by shouting "You're a d— liar, you're a d— liar, you can't prove it, there are other Whites in this city, I never came to you for help, you're a d— liar." I shouted back that he did, and that I would prove it, and left.

This is the exact sum and substance of what occurred. I ask those interested to compare this statement of facts with the article in Tuesday's issue of The Palladium, headed "Melpolder Attacks Councilman White."

JOHN MELPOLDER.

Although Prosecutor Reller will ask the jury to sentence Gaetoneo Camarco, the Italian who is being tried in circuit court for first degree murder, to life imprisonment, the testimony of Patsy Delauro, a nephew of the accused man, was not the same testimony as he presented to the grand jury last March.

Delauro was one of the chief witnesses before the grand jury and at threats had been made against Camarco by Lapenna, the murdered man. He testified this morning that Lapenna threatened to shoot Camarco and for this reason, Camarco armed himself when he returned to the house on North Thirteenth street.

Inability to understand the interpreter when he testified before the grand jury is given as the reason that Delauro's testimony was different from that presented in court this morning. Prosecutor Reller, however, believes that Delauro has changed his story of the murder after visiting Camarco in jail several times during the past three months.

HOG CHOLERA RULES TO PREVENT MALADY FROM ENTERING HERD

Hog cholera is most prevalent at this season of the year, and the department of agriculture offers the following suggestions to those who are interested in combating the disease:

1. Locate your hog lots and pastures away from streams and public highways, and do not allow the hogs to run free range.

2. Do not visit your neighbor or allow him to visit you, if either of you have hog cholera on your premises.

3. Do not drive into hog lots when returning from market or after driving on public highways.

4. Do not use hog lots for yarding wagons and farm implements.

5. Do not place newly purchased stock, stock secured or loaned for breeding purposes, or stock exhibited at county fairs with your herd. Keep such stock quarantined at least two weeks, and use care to prevent carrying infection from these to other pens in feeding and attending stock.

6. Burn to ashes or cover with quicklime and bury under 4 feet of earth all dead animals and the viscera removed from animals at butchering time. They attract the attention of buzzards, dogs, etc., which are liable to carry hog cholera infection.

7. Confine your dogs and do not keep pigeons unless you confine them.

If Hog Cholera Appears. Treat your hogs immediately with anti-hog cholera, after which they should be kept on a light diet and pure drinking water and confined to limited quarters that may be cleaned daily and sprayed three times a week with 1 part of compound cresol solution to 30 parts of water until the disease has abated in the herd. To obtain the best results the serum must be administered before the disease has progressed in the herd.

To Rid the Premises. Remove all manure and saturate with quicklime.

Burn all litter, rubbish and old hog troughs.

After the premises are thoroughly cleaned, spray walls, floors and other surfaces with disinfectant (1 part compound cresol solution to 30 parts water). Where hog houses are small, turn them over, exposing interior to sunlight.

Wallow holes and cesspools should be filled in, drained, or fenced off.

All run-down, underweight buildings should be cleaned and disinfected and then boarded up.

Destroy hogs that do not fully recover, as they may be carriers of cholera infection.

SEIDEL TELLS HIS PURPOSES IN LIGHT CASE

George E. Seidel, former president of the Commercial club and a member of its public utilities committee today said that city officials had misinterpreted his unsuccessful efforts to ascertain from officials of the United Gas & Electric company, owning the Richmond Light, Heat & Power company, whether they would consider a proposal to join with the city in petitioning the state utilities commission for a withdrawal of the city's petition for a local electric plant of the company.

"The only purpose of this action on my part," Mr. Seidel said, "was to pave the way for the city to drop its condemnation proceedings if the city desired to do so. If the company had given assurance of its willingness our committee would have notified the board of public works and would have interested itself no further in the matter, except, perhaps, to recommend the withdrawal of the proceedings. No thought was given to attempt to usurp the authority of the city government in this matter."

"We were of the opinion that the board might desire to know what the United Gas and Electric company's attitude in this matter was, in the event the city found it inconvenient to finance its purchase project. As a recently pointed out, the company of

Simple Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.—adv.

Why Eyesight Fails

By a Specialist. Poor sight and bad teeth are due to the same cause—neglect. We neglect our teeth and they decay; we neglect our eyes and our sight grows dim. Most people know how to preserve their teeth but few know what to do for their eyes. Some who carefully clean their teeth do nothing to help their eyes carry the awful strain put upon them by modern life.

Our eyes need care and if we refuse to give it to them we pay the penalty in suffering and poor eyesight. A soothing, cleansing, healing lotion for the eyes, that ninety-nine out of a hundred should use twice a day or oftener is made after this prescription: Dissolve five grains of opium in two ounces of water; use as an eye bath. It sharpens the vision, relieves irritation, allays inflammation, makes the eyes feel smooth and fine as if well lubricated.

Many who use it find to their great surprise that they do not need glasses. They regain perfect sight and eye comfort. Used early in the morning it makes the eyes feel fresh and smooth, used at night it brings comfort and a soothing sense of sweet relief from strain. After an automobile ride or a picture show, a day of close, hard work or an hour's reading that tires the eyes, an application of this solution soothes, comforts and rests the eyes.

A. G. Luken & Co., or any other druggist can fill this prescription. Any physician familiar with the formula, even if he has never prescribed it, will tell you that it is perfectly harmless.—Adv.
