

Wayne Farmers Will Gather at School Communities

PURDUE AGRICULTURALIST TO SPEAK AT ABINGTON, BOSTON EAST GERMANTOWN, THIS WEEK

Wednesday and Thursday will be Farmers' day in three of the county school communities when Prof. Z. M. Smith, of Purdue, head of the state agricultural department, will be in the county to deliver addresses at Abington, Boston and East Germantown. Special arrangements are in the hands of committees in the various communities and in addition to the talks of Prof. Z. M. Smith, who is an expert along agricultural lines, local speakers have been placed on the program.

The programs at Abington and Boston will be given on Wednesday; the one at Abington at 9:30 in the morning and 1:30 in the afternoon, while the program at Boston will begin at 7:30 in the evening. The programs have been arranged by Miss Grace King, domestic science supervisor, who initiated the movement in the county. The program at East Germantown will be given Thursday, Jan. 27.

At East Germantown the committee in charge of local arrangements have offered prizes for the best products grown by children in the schools.

List of Prizes.
The prize list is as follows:
For the best ears of corn: First, $3; second, $2, and third, $1.
For the best layer cake, $2.
For the best peck of Irish potatoes, $2; second, $1.
Best peck of apples, $1.
For the best half dozen eggs, $1.
The entries are now in the hands of the committee.

At Abington the farmers and their families will enjoy a basket dinner. Prizes will also be offered at Abington by the township trustee, E. J. Wright, for the best ten ears of corn entered by any boy in the schools of Abington township. Unusual interest is being shown in the contest.

Unable to Work—Kidney Trouble Overcome

This is to certify that I, Jerome H. McCormack, of 317 Ivy Street, Johnson City, Tenn., suffered from Congestion of the Kidneys, so that at times I was obliged to move about the house with the aid of a chair and unable to work until I used three bottles of your Swamp-Root. I keep Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root in my house at all times, as I know from experience that it is the best Kidney medicine I can use.

Very truly yours,
J. H. McCORMACK,
Johnson City, Tenn.
Sworn and subscribed to before me a Notary Public, this March 31st, 1914.

TRI-COUNTY FARMERS INSTITUTE AT BOSTON TO BE HELD FEB. 3-4

Tentative plans for the annual meeting of the Tri-County Farmers' Institute, which will be held February 3 and 4, have been arranged by S. H. Goble, secretary of the organization. The meeting will be held in the high school building in Boston. The program includes lectures and contests in corn, culinary and needlework. Two sessions will be held each day.

Contestants may inquire of departmental superintendents for instructions. Z. H. Stanley has been selected to have general supervision. Isaac P. Moore will have charge of the corn exhibit, Mrs. Isaac Moore, the culinary exhibit, and Mrs. Clara Beard, the needlework exhibit. Z. H. Stanley will give instructions in regard to the surveyors' system of numbering sections, townships and ranges at 10 o'clock the first day. R. G. Leeds will deliver an address on "Taxation" at 11 o'clock. The latter lecture will be discussed by Mrs. Z. H. Stanley. Committee will be appointed at the close of this session.

C. G. Starr of Purdue university will show stereopticon views of diseased swine during the afternoon session. Four lectures will be given on Friday, the second day. The speakers are Mrs. Morton W. Fordice, who will speak on "Doors and Girls," R. A. Ogg of Greencastle, who will speak on "The Story of a Plant," and "Solving Farm Problems."

Prizes will be awarded to the best exhibitors of bread, cakes and fancy needlework. Class A will be open to all women, and Class B will be open to girls under 20 years of age. The same prizes will be given to winners in both classes.

Any woman will be eligible to compete in the contest for the prize for the best exhibit of butter and pies, and girls under 20 years will be eligible to enter the contest for the nicest cook apron.

Ten dollars will be distributed in prizes for best exhibits of corn. More than $25 will be given this year in premiums.

Walter Parks is president; S. H. Goble, secretary, and W. S. Miller, treasurer of the organization. Four hundred people are expected to attend the institute.

WERE IT POSSIBLE to see all the money one spends needlessly, the amount would be appalling. This is a true, but startling statement. Nevertheless the money is spent and gone so far as you are concerned.

Some of it bought amusement, and some only experience, but it's gone, and someone else banked it.

Try the Children's Medicine.

Many parents are inclined to believe that medicine used for children is not suitable for themselves. While it is true that larger doses are required, it is unreasonable to suppose that a disease in an adult should be treated any differently than the same ailment in a child. Mrs. Earl Jennings, Lima, Ohio, writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a splendid medicine for children. I have used it myself for colds and it has always given me the desired relief." Obtainable everywhere.—adv.

The Misses Overbeck in East Cambridge City are instructing a large class in pottery. Fred Wright, Albert Ohmit, Karl Ingerman, Walter Beyer and Charles Daisy saw "High Jinks" at Richmond Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Adam Bertach were guests of Richmond friends Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Griff Cooney of Milton spent Sunday with their son William and family. Mrs. H. D. Bond is visiting friends in Indianapolis. Mrs. Mary Riche will return from Dayton, Ohio, Saturday, where she is the guest of her son, Wilbur Riche.
