The Youth of Today.

Dr. J. G. Hibben, president of Princeton university, holds to the opinion that too much luxury, even too much comfort, is a bad thing for the youth of the country. He is not alone in that belief. Others have expressed it—others as prominent in a national sense as he. But a little more significance attaches to it, perhaps, when it comes from a man who makes it his business, as Dr. Hibben does, or, for that matter, as the president of any great university does, to study the needs and requirements and problems of the young men of the nation.

"The great danger lies in the fact," says he, "that our young men should have on all sides of them comforts and pleasures which make them consider themselves alone. Many of our youths are indifferent to everything under heaven."

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TO-NIGHT

Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate, New York.

Frank was a little lame boy. He was not only lame, but his back was injured in such a manner that he could not walk and had to be wheeled about in a chair.

One morning in the winter Frank sat in his chair by the window looking out at the snow piled high about the house and walks, an' he was thinking of all the good times the well boys were having, when he saw a shadow on the snow, and in another second a squirrel sat on the window sill outside.

Frank tapped on the window pane, but even that did not drive away the squirrel.

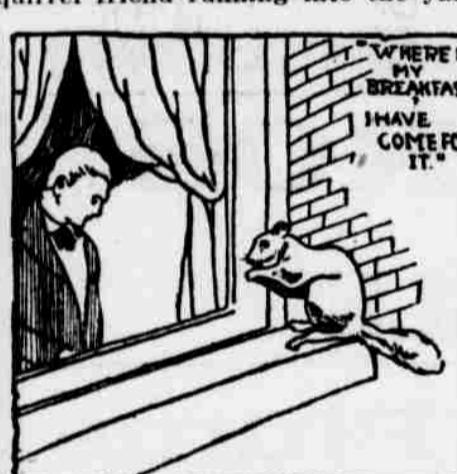

"I believe he is hungry," said Frank's mother, who had come to see his strange guest. "I will get him something to eat."

"Here is the very thing," said Frank reaching for a dish of nuts that stood on a table beside him. "I expect we will frighten him away if we open the window."

Frank's mother raised the window very softly, and while the squirrel kept his eyes fixed upon Frank and his mother, he did not run, and when the nuts were placed outside he began eating them as though the food had been a scarce article with him that winter.

After he had eaten all the nuts he put his paws on the window pane as though looking for more, but when the nuts were put out this time he filled his cheeks until he looked as if he had the mumps, and away he ran over the snow and into the woods.

The next morning Frank saw his squirrel friend running into the yard.

EVERY THREE MINUTES
ONE DIES IN THE U. S.

The Anti-Tuberculosis Society illustrates the frightful toll of consumption by extinguishing a light every three minutes, and shows that it is the man or woman, girl or boy, who neglects colds, whose blood is impure, who feels weak and languid, who is the very one to contract tuberculosis—and none are immune.

During changing seasons, or after sickness, blood-quality is most important, and if you and your family will take Scott's Emulsion after meals it will charge your blood with health-sustaining richness, quicken circulation, and strengthen both lungs and throat.

Scott's is free from alcohol—easy to take—it cannot harm. Get a bottle to-day. Scott & Bowe, Bloomfield, N. J.

except how they can maintain their comfort and convenience. They have done or experienced nothing that would make them ready for service and sacrifice." Naturally such a statement as this invites, if it does not command, comparison between the conditions surrounding the young man of today and the young man of yesterday. "It would be difficult," some one remarked recently, "to imagine young men of our own time sacrificing themselves on the altar of principle as so many young men, north and south, did in the days of the civil war."

There is nothing in this utterance to indicate that today's youth would be found wanting in the hour of trial. It says merely what Dr. Hibben says—that our young men seem to be less sturdy and robust in character. Our forefathers did not find life easy. Existence for them was a struggle. They were acquainted with hardship; they touched elbows with privation. Experience tempered them. "There must be an awakening of the old spirit of our fathers and our fathers' fathers," says Dr. Hibben, "who did not have all the luxury which we have, but who had an integrity of spirit which we do not have. Military preparedness will be of no avail in time of danger unless we have this spirit of consecration." Here are criticism and counsel, hand in hand. Both might be pondered to advantage by parents who, in mistaken affection, make life too easy for their sons, who, in narrow selfishness, are thus saved from inconvenience and discomfort.—Indianapolis News.

THE UNHEEDED CALL.
Get up, get up, you sleepy head, 'tis time you were away;
Can you afford to wait till noon before you start the day?
You give no heed to wifey's call, nor the alarm clock's ring—
A charge of dynamite for you, we think, would be the thing.
Find his wife.

Some days they would stay around the house all day, running in and out the cage and spinning around in the wheels, for the cage had two wheels and there were no waiting turns for Brave and his wife.

Some of Frank's friends asked him why he did not close the door when both squirrels were inside, and so keep them all the time, but Frank said: "No, I'd rather see them running about. I could not enjoy them at all if they were locked in."
