

Pithy Sentences from the Vigorous Gospel Preached in Richmond Pulpits Sunday

ILLUSTRATES SERMON WITH CANDLE LIGHTS

"Candles That Shine" was the subject of an illustrated lecture given by the Rev. U. S. A. Bridge at the morning service at Grace M. E. church Sunday. It was given especially for children and students of the Sunday school who attended in a body. "Ye are the light of the world." With the use of candles, the truth of the text was illustrated. Small candles represented children, and a large one a prominent person. The point brought out by this was that children as well as adults shine for Jesus.

HINKLE DEPLORES LIVES OF BARRENNESS

Necessity of contributing something to the world was emphasized by the Rev. Milo Hinkle yesterday at the East Main Street Friends' church. In part, he said: "All of Jesus' miracles were miracles of healing and reconstruction; the miracle of the withered fig tree is the only one of judgment. It was not an act of anger to destroy a helpless tree, when He had expected to find fruit on a tree that naturally promised it. "A fruit-bearing tree is useless unless it bears fruit, and this is typical of the lives of men and women of today. Fruit-bearing is the only object for planting; shade is a poor substitute for apples or grain. "It is poor comfort to say to a man who is cold or hungry or naked, 'Be thou clothed and fed,' and then go on our way. Fruit-bearing from the Christian standpoint is the proof of Christian experience."

I Want the Best Bed Of Its Kind!

A woman customer told us that the other day. "I can't afford an expensive bed," she said, "and I won't have a cheap imitation of a high-priced style. Whatever I do get must be the best of its own kind—something in good taste with plain, simple lines and at a moderate price."

Our salesman showed her a Simmons—one of the new light weight kind made from cold-rolled burnished steel. He told her about the lightness and how it lessens the tendency to mar polished floors and injure rugs.

He explained how the foot and head rods were electrically welded into place and gave the bed great rigidity.

He showed her the possibilities of finish on smooth, burnished steel as against the rough, scaly, pitted gas pipe that is commonly used. He told her why this new bed had a better finish than was ever before possible, even on the highest priced hand-rubbed beds.

And he drew her attention to the absence of heavy metal chills or castings on the foot posts, to the steel-wheeled leg-mount casters, to the perfect corner bends—as true and even as on the highest-priced brass beds. She bought!

We have realized that there are many of our customers who feel as this woman did. It is with our usual endeavor to give real service that we are the first to offer this bed which is revolutionizing the bed business.

We would like to show the Simmons Line to you. We would like to explain to you the features of this new Simmons Steel Bed, the great demand for which has already built a six acre addition to the largest bed factory in the whole world.
