"Weeds Used in Medicine"

Is the title of a very interesting pamphlet recently circulated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It illustrates and describes the medicinal qualities of roots, leaves and flowers of our most common weeds, which are nature's remedies for disease. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. ## BANKS CRITICISE FEDERAL SYSTEM

Five thousand three hundred and forty-five banking institutions in the United States express their opinion of the new Federal Reserve system of banking in a pamphlet entitled: "What the Banks of the United States Think of the Federal Reserve Act," just issued by the Guaranty Trust company of New York.

It probably will not be very comforting to the Federal Reserve Board and the sponsors of the Act to learn, as they will from a perusal of the results of the questionnaire, that banks maintaining a critical attitude toward the law slightly outnumber those more favorably disposed, while those that are non-committal on the subject exceed in number either of the other two classes.

Replies were received from 5,344 banking institutions, of which 2,709 were National or member banks, and 2,635 State banks and trust companies. Banks from all over the country responded, and it is safe to assume that a summary of the replies indicates quite accurately the general sentiment among all the banks in the United States regarding this new law.

FOR OVER ONE HOUR PEOPLE PASSED BY BODIES OF POLICE OFFICERS

Although all the 4,000 people who gathered at the East Main street Friends church yesterday afternoon during the funeral services of Officers George M. Little and Elmer Stephenson could not get in the church, all were given a chance to view the bodies.

Following the services, the caskets were taken to the vestibule and opened. All those inside viewed the bodies as they passed out and then the doors were opened to those on the outside. For one hour and fifteen minutes the procession, two, three and four deep, passed. The undertakers in charge, Doan & Klute and Jordan,

McManus, Hunt and Waltersman kept the people moving.

"This is not only the largest and most impressive funeral that Richmond has ever had but this is also the greatest funeral procession that the city has ever witnessed," said Walter J. Doan, funeral director, as the double column funeral cortege moved slowly between the thousands of people crowded along Main street. Doan & Klute recently purchased a full equipment of automobile touring cars to use in connection with their automobile hearse. This was put into use yesterday.

It has been estimated that at least

10,000 people were along Main street when the cortege passed.
