

HOME TROUBLE CAUSES KIZER TO FIRE SHOT

James Kizer, living west of Greensfork, greatly excited over domestic troubles, shot at Charles Heath while in Greensfork, Saturday evening. The bullet went wild, however, and Heath finally succeeded in taking the revolver away from Kizer.

Because of extenuating circumstances Kizer was only charged with a misdemeanor, carrying a concealed weapon, when he was arraigned in City court today. He received a fine of $25 and costs. His attorney, Frank Strayer, entered a plea of guilty.

Never in Court Before.

"I never before had trouble with any person; never was arrested nor was I ever on the witness stand, but because of troubles at home I felt like I had been crushed to earth," Kizer told Mayor Robbins.

Attorney Strayer explained that Kizer had imagined Heath had been responsible for some of his domestic trouble. Saturday morning he came to Richmond and informed Strayer that he believed his wife had left him and had taken the nine-year-old son with her to New Castle. He said Kizer deeply attached to his son was almost heart-broken. He advised Kizer to go to New Castle and secure possession of the child.

Returns With Her Son.

Early Saturday evening Mrs. Kizer and the boy returned to Greensfork and were met by Kizer. As Heath passed along the street he spoke to Kizer, who cursed him and told him he did not want him to speak to him. When Heath started to demand an explanation Kizer drew a revolver. Heath ran and Kizer shot at him. After throwing a rock at his assailant Heath grappled with him and secured the revolver. Marshal Brown of Greensfork, Heath says, at first refused to arrest Kizer but finally took him into custody.

Heath said that after Kizer's arrest he told him he did not know why he had acted as he had unless it was the result of some booze he had taken. Today Kizer flatly refused to discuss his family troubles. He said, however, that he did not want Heath to speak to him any more. Kizer assured the mayor he would never again carry a revolver.

SAYS LIQUOR TRADE CAN BE ELIMINATED

"The liquor traffic can and will be dislodged and crushed," declared Rev. U. S. A. Bridge, at the Grace Methodist church yesterday evening, speaking on "Greatest Obstacles Overcome."

"No evil is so deeply and securely entrenched that it cannot be driven out. Some who are familiar with the means of defense of the liquor traffic fear that it cannot be destroyed, but it can and will be driven out."

"I've done it now. It is the last time he will annoy me. One bad man is dead, and now my children can grow up self-respecting. For their sake I am ready to face all that the next few months will bring me." This was the statement of Mrs. Christopher Beutinger in defense of killing her husband, a wealthy coal dealer of New York, and father of her five children. The murder was committed at their home in Caldwell, N. J., on the evening of July 11.

The following letter of appreciation has been submitted by the committee in charge of the "orphans" picnic at Beulaville park yesterday afternoon:

"In behalf of the Richmond Maennerchor, we wish to express our most appreciative thanks to the persons and organizations which helped to make the outing a success in every way. To the Rev. Father Roell, Rev. Father Schoets and Rev. A. J. Feeger we wish to extend thanks, also the business men of Richmond who contributed so liberally the stock of good things which helped gladden the hearts of hundreds of orphans yesterday.

That he can produce one horse power for each pound his engine weighs is the assertion of the French inventor of a motor depending upon explosive force of gunpowder for power.

FIVE NEW MEMBERS RECEIVED IN CHURCH

Five new members were taken into the Central Christian church yesterday, at the morning and evening services.

The evening service included an address by Rev. Thomas H. Adams, on "Noted Hymns, Their Authors and Origin." The history of several well known hymns was given and the hymns were sung by a chorus under the direction of Dr. G. C. Wilcox.

Evening services will be continued throughout July and August.

"I do not see the least bit of sense in the Progressives nominating a state ticket. There is absolutely no show for its election," Hodgin said.

Asked if he was still affiliated with the Progressive party Hodgin replied that he was an "independent voter."

He has received a letter from Ed Toner of Anderson, formerly an active Progressive leader, urging him to follow the lead of Col. Roosevelt and give his support to the Republican ticket next fall.

DIAMONDS WHOM SHALL I TRUST?

Every prospective purchaser of a Diamond asks himself this question. Life is largely a matter of belief. Whom shall we believe? The answer is a reliable firm.

For over 66 yrs this firm has dealt in Diamonds. We have made QUALITY the first consideration—always. We have left the handling of cheap, inferior Diamonds to others.

Our extended experience has enabled us to know how and where to secure the best stones. We exercise more care in selecting them than you do. Only Diamonds cut to give brilliancy, of proper color and high grade material are bought.

Our patronage, now the largest in Richmond, gives us a prestige which may well answer your question: Whom Shall I Trust?

Aren't the People Entitled to Know All the Facts?

To the People:

In passing the appropriation of $11,000,000 for a Government armor plant, the House of Representatives rejected an amendment offered by Congressman Butler, as follows:

That expert chartered accountants shall be employed to open a set of books which shall exhibit every item of expense, direct and collateral, which may be charged against the preparation of the plans, the selection and purchase of a site, the construction and equipment of the proposed plant and the cost per ton of the output for each month of the operation of the plant.

Refusal to institute an adequate cost accounting scheme means that the people will never know what Government-made armor costs.

The importance of knowing what things cost:

Vice-Chairman Edward N. Hurley, of the Federal Trade Commission, speaking at New York,

May 26, before the American Iron and Steel Institute, said:

"Perhaps foremost among these [important questions of business policy] is the importance of knowing definitely your true costs of manufacture and of distribution."

"General demoralization in a large number of industries has been caused by firms who cut prices, not knowing what their goods actually cost to manufacture."

If that is true in private industry, isn't it true in Government industry?

Is it fair to an industry—is it fair to the public, for the Government to smother a private enterprise presumably to get a cheaper product, and then refuse to know what the article actually does cost? That question is now before the Senate.
