

G. O. P. HURLS BIG SPEAKERS INTO COUNTRY

The Wayne County Republican committee probably will secure some of the most noted Republican members of Congress to speak here during this fall's campaign. Wayne county is favorably looked up by the Indiana speakers' bureau, County Chairman L. S. Bowman said today.

The Indiana Republican committee has been fortunate in securing more big speakers than any other states will have during this year's campaign. Among the United States senators who have promised they will speak in Indiana are Harding, of Ohio; Borah, of Idaho; Norris, of Nebraska; Cummins, of Iowa; Curtis, of Kansas; Sherman, of Illinois and Wadsworth, of New York. The list of members of the house is headed by "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and includes Representatives Fess of Ohio; Foss of Illinois; Campbell of Kansas; Dowell of Iowa; Rodenburg, of Illinois; Meeker, of Missouri; Sweet, of Iowa, and many others.

"Wayne county can get whoever she pleases from this list," county chairman Bowman said today.

NUSBAUM TO FATHER ELEPHANT'S PURCHASE

Although nothing definite was done today purchasing an elephant for Glen Miller park at the meeting of the Boytown council last night, all members of the council expressed their opinion that such a project would be a good thing for the city in a conversation before the meeting was called to order.

Most of the councilmen are in favor of a fund being established so that children of the city as well as older people can donate small sums toward the purchase price of a jungle monster. Floyd Nusbaum made known that he would bring the proposition before the council of Boytown at the next meeting. Paul Lichtenfels, J. Glenn Kempton, Roland W. Farwig, Clem Roberts and Harry Steinbrink will vote in favor of the purchase.

Although William Warren Elliott would not declare himself on such short notice, he said that the proposal sounded good to him. Joseph Swearingner will assist Councilman Nusbaum in fighting any opposition. He will be backed up by Byron Wettig, Raymond Williams and Charles Yager.

WILL SOME MOTHERLY SOUL GIVE THIS MAN A GOOD MEAL? HIS WIFE IS VISITING

"Wanted, a cure for dyspepsia. Wife is away on her vacation. My stomach don't agree with my own cooking. Please send by return mail the formula for unburned German fried and ham and eggs," thus reads the first paragraph of a letter received today from a man who terms himself a "Vacation Victim."

"I'm tired of three-minute eggs and coffee and coffee and three-minute eggs, with an occasional slice of burned toast."

"Now, really, I don't want the formula. There are plenty of them in my wife's cook books. I merely want to call attention to the need of a society in Richmond for the prevention of dyspeptic stomachs by giving classes for husbands on how to fry potatoes or on how to keep wives from going away from home in the summer time."

"My only solace is the three-minute egg washed down with tepid water floating in coffee grounds. Consider how many men in this town must be living, yet starving, on three minute eggs during vacation period, then, dear editor, get busy and help me establish the anti-dyspeptic league."
