FILM ATTEMPTS TO TEACH MORAL ON BIRTH CONTROL

"Where Are My Children?" at the Washington next Friday, a current release of the Universal Company, written by Lucy Payton and Franklin Hall, has for its foundation the theory of birth control and based on the famous trial of Margaret Sanger, which received so much publicity recently. The picture has been rejected by the National Board of Review, and the Universal Company is endeavoring to feel the public pulse without this body's sanction.

It is a moral appeal for the betterment of shallow society and calls attention to the cancerous sin that is undermining the foundation of public welfare.

"SHIELDING SHADOW" A MYSTERY SERIAL

Characterized by a greater mystery than the mystery of the Laughing Mask in "The Iron Claw," a greater love interest than that of "The Red Circle," and greater thrills than those of "The Perils of Pauline" and "The Exploits of Elaine," "The Shielding Shadow," based upon a scientific fact and a remarkable discovery will be presented at the Arcade Sunday.

MAE MURRAY PLAYS IN LASKY PICTURE

Mae Murray, the beautiful Lasky star who recently created such a success in the photodramatic version of the famous novel "To Have and To Hold," will be seen at the Murrette on Sunday in the Jesse L. Lasky production of David Belasco's famous play, "Sweet Kitty Bellairs," taken from the popular novel, "The Bath Comedy," by Agnes and Edgerton Castle.

Since her appearance in "To Have and To Hold," Miss Murray has been hailed as one of the foremost photodramatic stars of the country. Her appealing personality, grace, youth and beauty, which made her so popular on the stage, have been transferred in their entirety to the screen.

Norway has put an embargo on the export of raw copper, but releases for shipment to England as great an amount of copper as it receives from the United States.

An Unqualified Success

That is the verdict handed down by every purchaser of the new Milburn Brougham—by everyone who has ever ridden in it.

It is a success in that it combines beauty with efficiency—safety with power—comfort with economy.

No other electric can give you anything more worth while at any price, yet the Milburn Brougham costs only $1685.

It is the lowest priced electric in the world.

Let us prove to you why it is the greatest.

Plan for Decorating

Elaborate decorating of principal streets and buildings to be started Monday, will inaugurate the gala atmosphere of coming events. Extra lights will be strung across and along the streets and special illuminating effect as well as beautifully decorated arches will be some of the novel features.

A brief outline of a few of the many fascinating displays and alluring performances will give citizens an idea of the surprises that will be unfolded at the centennial exposition. There will be a big and comprehensive automobile showing with up-to-the-minute accessories of every description.

There will be a modern farm household appliance show, a machinery section, a pure food exhibit, furniture, textiles, millinery, and a garment fashion show. Fully one hundred and twenty-five displays by Richmond business interests will be shown in separate booths.

The midway extending from Seventh to Eighth on North A street, will be lined on both sides with fun-creating devices of every character and description. The program of circus and hippodrome features which will be presented at various vantage points in the exposition enclosure, is said to be of an unusually edifying and thrilling nature.
