pleasure by casting baleful glances in the direction of the express car. Several gruffly informed the expressman to "shut up." The interruption was taken good naturedly by the president. He smiled at the man who had shouted for Hughes.

Train Bumps People

A tragedy was narrowly averted while the president was in Richmond. When his train stopped there was a rush to the rear end of his car, people shoving their way through the small police and secret service guard in their eagerness to grasp Mr. Wilson's hand. Then the train started to back and actually did bump into a number of people standing on the tracks.

"Get those people away," President Wilson shouted anxiously, leaning over the railing and helping to assist one man onto the trained platform. Police and secret service men instantly cleared the track.

"I am mighty glad to see you kind people and it is fine of you to give me such a reception," said the president after he had shaken hands with all who could get near him. "I am a hard working man myself and I enjoy these trips."

Heads Off Tourists.

"Three hundred automobiles are taking people from here to Indianapolis today to see you," shouted one man.

"That is interesting," Mr. Wilson replied. "I'll get there ahead of them and head them off."

Borrowing a term of one of his predecessors, the president looked and apparently felt "bully." He told the crowd that this was "some weather," and the crowd informed him that it had no kick to register against the weather man. Then the president wanted to know how late his train

SOLDIERS GET RELIEF FROM SORENESS

Boys on the Border Relieve Their Pains and Aches With Sloan's Liniment.

Once upon a time Norman Jones, serving in the National Guard at El Paso, returned to camp after a strenuous 15-mile hike, foot-sore and leg-weary. He had not been long in active service and his shoulders, back and limbs felt the after-effects of marching.

Remembering Sloan's Liniment, Jones applied it to the sore spots and went to bed. He writes: "I arose the next morning feeling fine; in fact I had entirely forgotten about the hike and went out for a four-hour drill in the sun as spry as ever."

Private Jones passed the experience along, and many a boy on the border relieved the agony of sprains, strains, bruises, insect bites, cramped muscles, rheumatic twinges, etc., by the use of Sloan's Liniment.

Easily applied without rubbing. At all druggists, 25c, 50c and $1.00.

Narcissus Embroidery club members met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Howard Longfellow. Mrs. Longfellow's mother was a guest. A delicious luncheon in courses was served after the needlework for the afternoon. In two weeks Mrs. Edward Sharpe, North Nineteenth street, enters the club.

Mother-Made Quick Acting Cough Syrup
Should Be Kept Handy in Every Home—Easily Prepared and Costs Little.

Mothers, you'll never know what you are missing until you make up this inexpensive quick-acting cough syrup and try it. Children love its pleasant taste and nothing else will loosen a cough or chest cold and heal the inflamed or swollen throat membranes with such ease and promptness. It's equally as good for grown-ups as for children.

This splendid cough syrup is made by pouring 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), into a pint bottle and filling the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for $2.50—a clear saving of $2.

The moment it touches the inflamed, cold-congested membranes that line the throat and air passages, the healing begins, the phlegm loosens, soreness leaves, cough spasms lessen and soon disappear altogether, thus ending a cough quicker than you ever thought possible. Hoarseness and ordinary coughs are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Excellent for bronchitis, whooping cough, spasmodic cough, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with galacol and is famous the world over for its quick healing effect on the membranes.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggists for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded.
