

K. OF C. TO INTEREST MEMBERS IN SPEAKING AT LODGE MEETINGS

Educational meetings will be inaugurated by the Knights of Columbus next when the organization holds its next regular meeting, according to a plan announced at last night's meeting by the lecturer, James Harrington, Jr.

The purpose is to interest the younger men in taking the floor. Mr. Harrington's plan is to have one or two young men speak at every meeting on interesting subjects they meet with in their work and daily life. The first lecturer, he said, will be George Zwicker, whose topic will be "The Art of Bread Making." Talks dealing with electrical work will follow.

Father Roell of St. Andrew's church and Father Duffy of St. Mary's church made short talks, commenting favorably on the plan to depart from routine in meetings and begin educational work. Father Cronin, who was on the program, had been called away before the meeting.

LYNN MAN ARRESTED CHARGED WITH THEFT

A man who gave his name as Forrest Davis, Lynn, Ind., was arrested late this afternoon and is charged with having attempted to steal an automobile. The owner, a man named Parks, of Fairhaven, O., saw Davis cranking the machine. He caught him and turned him over to Patrolman Fee. It was a new machine.

MUNCIE MAY SELL COAL TO CITIZENS

MUNCIE, Ind., Nov. 22.—Mayor Rollin H. Bunch and a special committee of the city council today are investigating the question whether the city legally may establish and maintain a municipal coal yard. The committee was appointed last night at a special meeting of the council. Local dealers, it was said, laid in enormous quantities of coal last summer at a low price, but have been raising prices the same as in cities where the supply has been reduced. The mayor and committee, if they find they can do so, expect to open a municipal yard and sell coal at cost, using the city's equipment to deliver the fuel.

WRECK KILLS TWO

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The head-on collision between an excursion train and a work train on the Western Maryland Railway near Knobmount, W. Va., resulting in two deaths and the injury of thirty others, last October, was caused by misunderstanding of orders, the Interstate Commerce commission reported today. The report characterized as deplorable the lack of precautions and safeguards. It charges bad operating practices.

Cahoot Turkey Dinners Adopted as Latest Fad

"Cahoot turkey dinners." Are you wise? If not, get on, because the "cahoot turkey dinner" is as important a fad in Richmond today as the Grizzly Bear was on the dance floor a few years ago.

The influence of the "cahoot" part of the big Turkey day celebration this year in the eating line will be widespread and will descend into hut and ascend to manse. The number of Richmond residents who eat "cahoot" dinners will be large, from current reports.

The plan is simple. It all hinges on the word "cahoot," which has found its way into the latest dictionaries as slang for partnership. This explains the "cahoot turkey dinner" plan.

In other words, families will "go in cahoots" (a dictionary phrase) in buying turkey dinners and in consuming them Thursday, Nov. 30. The plan works best with two families where the expenses can be met "fifty-fifty"—"fifty-fifty" on the expense and "fifty-fifty" on the distribution of food calories to the respective members of the families.

It is another concerted combative effort to thwart the advancing tide of prices for food stuffs and particularly for the little odds and ends which go for garnishes with the Thanksgiving dinner.

SEE SMALL RELIEF IN COAL SHORTAGE

To secure first hand information relative to the coal situation and to ascertain whether there was prospect of relief from the present shortage in the near future Raymond Mather of the Mather Brothers Coal company went to the West Virginia fields a few days ago, returning today far from satisfied with the reports he received.

"I found the mines operating only about two days a week because of the car shortage," Mather said. "Another trouble the operators are confronted with is the scarcity of labor. During the summer and fall a number of colored miners from the south were imported, but many of these are returning to their homes in the south. I do not believe there is much prospect for relief from existing conditions in the near future. With labor as scarce as it is I do not believe the operators would benefit much if they received the normal supply of cars."

Local coal dealers state that the coal shortage in Richmond still exists and that they are still experiencing great difficulty in replenishing their supplies.

DIPLOMATS TO LEAVE ATHENS TOMORROW

ATHENS, Nov. 21, 5:56 p. m. (via London), Nov. 22.—All of the diplomatic representatives of the Central powers and Turkey will leave Athens quietly tomorrow morning in accordance with the demand made by Admiral DuFournet, commander of the allied fleet. Admiral DuFournet today refused to extend the time limit for the departure of the diplomats. The Turkish minister is having his luggage dismantled and the furniture packed.

POLICE HOLD LOST HORSE

The police are caring for a horse found straying in the north end of the city several days ago and were brought in the Ripley county circuit court.

It will mean that the second trial will have to be tried in the court which jurisdiction over Ripley county, interested attorneys said today.

STRAYER GETS COMMISSION

Frank Strayer, prosecuting attorney-elect, was sworn in by County Clerk Michael Kelly in circuit court today.

Strayer received his commission from the governor, yesterday. He furnished $5,000 bond. The commission becomes effective, Jan. 1, 1917.

The 1,866,019,560 eggs New Yorkers eat in a year, laid end to end, would reach more than twice around the world, and the annual egg bill is $50,000,000.

HELEN WARE MAY COME

Helen Ware, a noted violinist who is making her second American tour, may be brought to Richmond for a concert, should members of the Teachers' Federation decide to back the project.

The organization will discuss the proposition at a meeting tomorrow afternoon. Miss Ware is an interpreter of Slavonian music. Rev. J. J. Rae will speak at the meeting.

POTATOES SELL $6 A BUSHEL; DID YOU GET IN YOUR ORDER?

With potatoes quoted at $2.25 a bushel in the local market the world went around today that a man employed at the Richmond Municipal plant was taking orders for Kentucky potatoes, grown on a farm owned by a member of his family, at a price ranging between 90 cents and $1 a bushel. It is needless to say that this man had a busy time taking orders over the telephone today.

The failure of housewives to do their usual amount of canning of early garden produce and fruits is assigned as one of the local wholesale grocery concerns.

EXPLAINS FRUIT SHORTAGE.

"In the spring the price of sugar was above normal and there had been quite a little increase in the price of tin cans consequently many women failed to can early garden produce and fruits," this buyer stated. "The principal canned staples are corn and tomatoes. It will be remembered what the long period of hot and rainy weather did to the corn crop—practically ruined it. There was an excellent prospect for a big tomato crop in the summer but along came the early September frost and cut this crop down to about 40 per cent of normal.

EXPORT TRADE HEAVY.

In addition to crop failures there has been an unprecedented foreign demand for foodstuffs and the American supply is insufficient to meet domestic demands not to mention the unusual foreign demand. There is a corresponding shortage in practically every other line of canned foodstuffs and at the present time it is almost impossible for jobbers to increase their stocks. There was a big Michigan crop of navy beans but the shortage in other lines of vegetables has made an exceedingly large demand for beans, plus the foreign demand for this staple and as a result the consumer is paying the highest price for beans since the Civil war."

LABOR SHORTAGE LIFTED ON PENNSYLVANIA WORK

The Pennsylvania railroad commissioners camp has begun operations with the establishment of sleeping quarters and a dining room near the construction work in the east yards. Thirty-five or forty laborers are living in the camp and more are coming daily from Chicago. The number of laborers desired is 200 who will be given steady work for almost two years.
