SEABOARD BUYING FORCES WHEAT UP AT SHARP ADVANCE

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, March 3.—Active buying on the part of houses with a seaboard connection carried wheat prices today sharply higher. Improvement in railway traffic conditions gave encouragement to the bulls, and so too did prospects that the arrival of American ships would soon provide a greater outlet for the export trade.

Only a transient setback in values resulted from reports of heavy snow falls in Kansas. Opening quotations, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 1/4c higher with May at $1.84 1/2 to $1.85 1/2 and July at $1.56 1/2 to $1.58 1/2, were followed by a moderate sag and then a substantial advance all around.

New high record prices quickly appeared in the corn crowd. Fresh advances in the hog market were reported. After opening 1/4 to 1/2c up the market dipped on account of profit taking, but rallied in short order.

Oats ascended with other grain. Trade showed much more volume than of late has been the rule.

Provisions mounted to an unprecedented level. Urgency of foreign needs received special notice and there was a continuance of the hog shortage.

EXPOSE OF INTRIGUE EXPLAINS CHANGED FRONT BY GERMANY

(By Associated Press)
COPENHAGEN, (via London), March 3.—The startling revelation regarding Germany's intrigues in Mexico which come, as the National Tidende says, like a bomb explosion in the international political situation, have recalled attention to the attitude of a certain section of the German press during the last few weeks or even months. The wrathful tone of all references to Japan after the seizure of Kian Chau has long since given way to less hostile references and, from the moment when the entry of the U. S. into the war became a possibility because of the submarine issue, the idea of an attack by Japan on America was taken up by several German newspapers.

Child-Bride Divorces Second Mate; Court Refuses to Prohibit Third Step

Georgia Jones, 17, was granted a divorce from Bessel Jones in circuit court today. This represents the close of a pretty girl's second venture on the seas of matrimony.

January 25, 1913, the marriage of the same girl to Benjamin F. Hensley was annulled in Wayne circuit court after it had been shown that the bride was only 12 years old. At that time she was known as Georgianna Doyle.

Deputy Prosecutor Walter Lewis asked Judge Fox during the progress of the trial this morning to restrict both parties of the divorce suit from getting married for two years. The child wife testified that her husband is twenty or twenty-one years old, and that they were married two years ago. Cruel treatment was the charge on which the suit was brought.

Lewis Pleads for Restriction.
"I am informed that both want the divorce so that they can get married again," said Lewis. "The girl could wait a couple of years and still be young enough to marry again."

Judge Fox in keeping with his long established policy refused to add the restriction.

"It's no use," said the judge of twenty-one years' experience. "Restrictions only add unnecessary complications. If they want to get married, they will despite all a court could do. The parties could go to other states and get married just the same and it would be perfectly legal."

Great interest was manifested at the time the marriage of the twelve-year old girl was annulled in 1913. This action of the court came after a special grand jury investigation of the case.

The Valley Grove cemetery association will receive $1,000 and ten acres of ground under the provision of the will.

Mr. Ferguson was a bachelor. The will provides that his estate outside of the special bequest go to his brother Casburn Ferguson, who is dead, and who left a will leaving all his estate to the late John W. Ferguson. After the cemetery association receives its share of the estate as provided in the will, the remainder will be divided according to law between many relatives.

Dr. Smelser, in a Written Platform, Says He Wants to Build a Bigger and Better City!

"In presenting myself as a candidate at the coming primary election for the office of mayor, I deem it fair to the public that my position be definitely stated. In asking for the highest office within the gift of the citizens of Richmond, I am conscious of the importance of the undertaking, and the very exceptional honor which the position confers; but I am actuated by the desire to be a contributor to Richmond's inevitable future development. Although it is oftentimes regarded that the declarations of a candidate are idly made and adroitly expressed so as to gain support from opposite classes, I want it distinctly understood that each and every statement comes from my honest conviction and the same will be fully and faithfully carried into execution if I am selected to serve you.

"One of my principal efforts will be to act co-operatively with every agency within or without the city to make a bigger and better Richmond.

"The question of health is of paramount importance, and my purpose will be to promote, in every possible way, good health conditions by improved methods of sanitation, and by demanding all city ordinances and state laws regulating the same to be fully complied with.

"I pledge myself to require and demand a strict observance of the law and will fearlessly impose penalties for violation thereof, without fear, favor or partiality.

"True economy will be practiced in every department of the city government, and the highest possible state of efficiency maintained.

"In promoting public improvements all waste incidental to the attempted repairs of our streets will be eliminated.

"A system of street improvement should be carried on in accordance with a definite plan, so that each year's work will, so far as possible, consecutively supplement that which has preceded.

"Richmond stands in need, and I pledge my efforts to secure, an adequate and judicious extension of our sewer system, with such additional units of relief sewers as will alleviate the present congested condition, and serve as a preventative to future flooded basements and insure proper sanitation for the protection of public health.

How Public Funds Would Be Administered

"To guard the finances of the city against possible leaks, I shall install the practice of (a) strict accounting; (b), preparing a budget on the basis of actual survey of departmental needs; (c), maintain a unit cost record of every phase of the city's activities; and (d), a strict check on expenditures, compared to monthly proportion of annual appropriations.

"I pledge myself to require and demand a strict observance of the law and will fearlessly impose penalties for violation thereof, without fear, favor or partiality.

"The annual revenue of the city will be lessened approximately $14,000.00, beginning with the effectiveness of the prohibition law. This loss of revenue should, and can be safely met by the practice of strict economy and by carefully systematizing the expenditures, until such time as will insure an automatic readjustment of economic conditions. I am convinced this can be done without an increase in the tax rate and still maintain a high standard of efficiency and carry on each year a reasonable amount of permanent improvements.

"Appointments will be made only on the basis of efficiency for the position, supplemented by a good general character.

"I propose to maintain, if elected, stated office hours at the city hall.

"I am not the candidate of any class; and I intend to conform to the last letter of my oath to office and to give the full measure of my ability at all times to the public service."—Adv.

We Don't Believe in Special Sales

No, we don't believe in those special sales that repeat themselves week after week, and we never will believe in them until we see them underselling US, which is not yet.

All furniture dealers have to pay the same price for the same lines. Therefore it is absurd for any one dealer to claim that he can sell furniture for half as much as others can. Prices vary at the different stores, but they don't vary much. The difference is in the quality.

Here we have a combination of advantages that no other store can claim. We are an old established house. We have hundreds of regular customers. We have the largest exclusive furniture store in the city. We pay less rent than any similar house—about one-tenth as much as some of them, in fact. And we spend nothing in preparation and advertising for special sales.

All in all we save you 10% to as much as 20%, and we do it NOT by increasing—but by DECREASING—the cost of selling.

We Prepay the Freight on Out-of-Town Shipments.
