

PERSHING LAYS WREATH ON TOMB OF LAFAYETTE

Marquis De Chambrun Returns Thanks to American for His Act.

PARIS, June 18.—The Marquis De Chambrun, the descendant of the Marquis De Lafayette, was chosen to return formal thanks today when General Pershing laid a wreath on the grave of the famous revolutionary general in the Picpus cemetery. The Marquis De Chambrun said:

"There is no place so appropriate as this tomb at which to salute the new allies to our cause—the United States. In your person, general, I bow before the sword which America casts into the scale for liberty, civilization and humanity."

"We may fairly say that the bonds uniting our two countries are in no way the result of skilled diplomacy. They are united by the principles of liberty, justice and independence, principles which hitherto have formed the strength of our two democracies and which will certainly bring about victory."

Republics are invincible. "We know that our two great countries are invincible. They have already proved it and it rejoices us to think that a new victory is about to consecrate these same principles. General, in placing these flowers on this tomb, you have touched the hearts of all Frenchmen as you have touched the heart of Lafayette's great grandson."

General Pershing replied: "It is a great pleasure for all us Americans to have had this opportunity of visiting the grave of a man who did so much for America. We are happy thus to pay our tribute and seal more closely the bond which has always existed between our two nations."

General Pershing will lunch tomorrow with General Petain at grand headquarters and will probably attend a special performance at the Opera Comique in the evening.

A talk on Registration and the special election was given by Miss Esther Griffin White to the young women employees of the Richmond Underwear factory, this noon.

"You cannot vote unless you register," said Miss White. "While the election on September 18 may not seem as interesting locally as the municipal election in November, it is more vital. If woman suffrage is not written in to the new constitution our present voting right will no doubt be taken away from us by some future legislature."

"In November, however, the fun will begin. We will all feel like getting out and whooping for one mayor and one councilman."

Patriotic Selections ON

Emerson Records

Taking the body of American national music as a whole, it is the most stirring, most powerful patriotic music in the world. There are many reasons why this is so. There is no forced praise of king or czar in our songs. Blind faith and superstition find no place in our patriotism. Even the loyalty which is based on the sentimental love of one's birthplace or the land of one's fathers plays a very small part.

The appeal is to much higher, nobler emotions. America stands for ideals—liberty, equality, freedom, from despotism, from fanaticism. God's greatest country is a land of opportunity and hope, a land which allows scope to live, to develop, to grow. Our patriotic music reflects all this. It sings of our history—the righteous wars we have fought. It tells of our defiance of unjust taxation, of our struggle against British tyranny on the high seas, of the terrible battle for union, and finally of our fight against Spain in the cause of humanity. Washington, Tyler, Jackson, Perry, Lincoln, Lee, Farragut, John Brown, Grant, Roosevelt and Dewey are some of the heroes it glorifies.

The stars and stripes, and all that the red, white and blue stand for—words cannot express the depth of the American's devotion. It is only through music—the music which has accompanied the flag through shot and shell, over all obstacles, past all dangers, on to glorious victory; the ballads of the soldiers; the songs of those at home; the marches of the regimental bands; and the hymns of joy when right finally triumphed over wrong, and peace crowned all—only through such music can the American nature be understood and expressed. The list below contains America's most popular, patriotic selections. Whether sung, played by band, or by other combinations of instruments, they will be found to measure up in every respect to the high standards which always govern the production of Emerson Records.
